MILL SLOUGH CLOSING DELAY

Senator Chamberlain Says Wrangle Here Prevent Action— Dr. White Coming

That the closing of Mill Slough is still blocked by opposition is announced in the following dispatch from Washington:

"Senator Chamberlain has sent a letter to Marshfield citizens that his bill authorizing the filling and closing of mill slough is tied up on account of a serious controversy which apparently exists among the citizens. He has requested the City Attorney of Marshfield to submit a plan satisfactory to the entire community in order to proceed with the bill."

Just who is opposing the closing of the slough is not known but it is understood that a number of people here who are advocating the slough as a possible site for a public market, a ferry landing, etc., have written Senator Chamberlain and others opposing the enactment of the bill permitting the closing of the stream. F. M. Friedberg and Chas. Hickox and Dave Holden are also said to be opposing it. L. M. Noble, who was opposing it, has withdrawn his objections, it is said.

DR. WHITE COMING.

Secretary of Oregon State Board of Health to Condemn Mill Slough.

Dr. Calvin S. White, secretary of the Oregon State Board of Health, will arrive on the next Breakwater to inspect Mill Slough. Word to this effect was received this morning by J. W. Bennett, who appealed to Dr. White to take this action to secure the closing of Mill Slough. Mr. Bennett, Henry Sengstacken and C. R. Peck took the matter up with the State Board of Health last spring. City Physician Mingo has already condemned the slough as a menace to the public health and if Dr. White does the same it is expected that congressional action may be secured.

It is said that unless arrangements are now made to close Mill Slough, it will be difficult to ever fill it because when the present dredging project is complete, it will be hard to secure dredgings for the purpose.

MANDOT BEATEN BY ANDERSON

Mandot back several feet. They rally fiercely in the center of the ring, but Mandot is no match for Bud in the exchange of wallops. Bud's round.

Round 6.

They both wait for opening. Bud lands left to stomach and hard right to body and left to jaw. Mandot lands a light left to the head and left to stomach and they clinch. Bud puts right to body and left to head. Mandot is unable to guard left side from Bud's tremendous rights. Mandot lands right to head and gets a light left to nose in return. Anderson puts right to the mid-section and a left hook to the head. Anderson's round by a big margin.

Round 7.

Bud with the determination of a bull rushed at his opponent and gives him a dose of rights and lefts and rushes him to the ropes. Mandot tries a left at the head but Bud was not there. Bud lands hard right to the body and blocks Anderson's uppercuts with right in clinch. Bud ducks left for the head and they clinch. It was Anderson's round.

Round 8.

Anderson looked as fresh as a daisy when he came up and Mandot the reverse. Bud caught him with a right on the point of the chin that shook him from toe to head. Mandot lands left to head and Bud lands hard right to jaw. Joe went down for two seconds from a right to the head. Anderson lands hard right stab and gets a hard clip on the chin, but he smiled.

Round 9.

Anderson landed repeatedly on Mandot's jaw and did this without a return. Anderson again planted a hard one to the wind and another to the jaw. This was Anderson's round by a mile.

Round 10.

Anderson had things all his own way and it is doubtful if Rivers could beat him from the showing he has made in the fight so far. Anderson landed time and time again on Mandot's jaw and kidneys. All Anderson's.

Round 11.

Mandot was in dire straits and Anderson was determined to finish him in a short time. He started out by reaching Mandot's jaw with terrific rights and left and had the South-erner reeling. As the gong ended this round Mandot was nearly out.

Round 12.

Mandot was hardly able to come out of his corner and Anderson took the advantage of this by landing any number of telling blows on the Frenchman's jaw. Referee Eyton stopped the fight here when Mandot was unable to fight back.

HUMAN OSTRICH STEALS KNIFE

John Durga Swallows Pocket- knife Belonging to Stranger and is Sought by Police

John Durga, known here as the "Human ostrich," glass-eater, etc., is being sought this afternoon by Marshal Carter to make amends to J. C. Hutchison, who arrived here recently from Illinois. Hutchison was showing a fine $2 pearl handled knife, which he had purchased for his wife when Durgan came along. He reached over for the knife and Hutchison thought he wanted to look at it and he gave it to him. Durga gave it a little flip into his mouth and down it went. Hutchison and Kruger and others of his friends thought Durga was a sleight of hand artist and appealed to Marshal Carter. The latter told them that a good emetic would probably produce better results than an officer and they proceeded to a drug store. In the deal, Durga skipped.

Durga had been lost sight of since his operation at Mercy hospital a few years ago, when several jackknives, horse-shoe nails, fish hooks, three nickels, ten dimes and other junk were removed by Dr. Bartle and others. Durga had been performing ostrich stunts around saloons for years, a familiar trick being to eat a glass after he had drunk the contents, munching the pieces and swallowing them.

Recently he has been employed at the Smith-Powers camp on South Coos River.

HITS LABOR UNIONS.

National Manufacturers Association President Makes Report.

(By Associated Press to Coast Bay Times.)

DETROIT, May 20.—Charging that organized labor has failed to clear itself of the "stain which violence and lawlessness has cast upon it," John Kirby, Jr., of Dayton, Ohio, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, in his annual report today, went on at length to present industrial and legislative tendency and their effects upon the manufacturers and employers. He referred in detail to the treatment of the great corporations and railroads and the attitude of manufacturers toward the tariff.

Referring to the Industrial Workers of the World as being supplemental to the American Federation of Labor, Kirby said "against these forces, all evil, domestic and alien, we must stand flint-like in our resolve that the government is and must be a government of law."

START Y. M. C. A. FOR LOGGERS

Employees of Camp at Rainer- son, Oregon, and Company Arrange for One There

PORTLAND, Ore., May 20.—Arrangements have just been completed for the organization of a Logging Camp Young Men's Christian Association in the Portland Lumber Company's camp near Rainier, Oregon. This will be the seventh Industrial Branch of the Association in the lumber industry in the Northwest, and the first one of its kind in Oregon.

In accordance with the plan of the Y. M. C. A., the men in the camp are raising money among themselves for the furnishings, amounting to a total of $500. Mr. L. J. Wentworth, manager, and Mr. J. P. Van Orsdel, Wood Superintendent, of the Portland Lumber Company, have agreed to erect a suitable building for the purpose when the boys have secured one-third of the amount required for the equipment. In less than two days the loggers had pledged $225, which breaks the record set by any of the other logging camps where the Y. M. C. A. has been established.

Mr. Van Orsdel authorized the erection of the building. The company agreed to join with the men in the support of the work which will provide a trained Y. M. C. A. secretary to direct the activities in the building. These include the regular three-fold work of the Association—educational, religious, athletic and social.

The educational equipment includes one dozen magazines, six daily papers, state traveling library, stereopticon, free stationery, etc.

The physical equipment consists of boxing gloves, lung tester, punching bag, bats, balls and other apparatus.

There will also be a large phonograph, small games, musical instruments, etc.

There is at the present time in the Northwest fifteen branches of the Industrial Department, under the supervision of John A. Goodell, Industrial Secretary for the Northwest. Seven of the branches are among the lumbermen. They are supported jointly by the employers and employees, and a trained secretary directs the work of the organization. In addition to this work the secretary frequently acts as banker, missionary, doctor, nurse, and general friend of the men.

These centers of wholesome recreation very often act as an inspiring factor for an entire community, the women and children frequently enjoying the privileges of the "Y."

Along the Waterfront.

The Brooklyn and Oregon sailed from Bandon today or San Francisco.

According to Portland papers arriving today, the Fort Canby life-savers aided in rescuing the gasoline schooner Randolph from her perilous position on the south spit of the Columbia bar early Sunday morning and the tug Wallula towed her from Peacock spit back up to Portland. It is not thought that serious damage was done except the loss of her rudder. Tom Golden, of Marshfield, is engineer on the Randolph.

In her incoming cargo this trip, the Homer brought several hundred tons of powder for local firms, in addition to the general merchandise. Purser McCollum had not been informed that the Washington was due here this week to take lumber south, although Manager Pierce of the Coquille mill was here Monday to look after the shipment.

AMONG THE SICK.

Mrs. Chas. McCullough, of Marshfield, underwent an operation at Mercy Hospital and is reported to be getting along nicely.

Alton Kardell, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kardell, of Marshfield, who sustained a broken arm while wrestling with a mate, underwent an operation at Mercy Hospital this morning to reduce the fracture. The leg just above the elbow joint and hand one, but it is hoped to get any stiffness of the arm.

Fred Larsen, captain of the ven dredge, now at Alsea, is to town this morning to get medical treatment, in consequence of which the dredge is not working.
