FAIR WAGES.

FATHER VAUGHAN, of England, after 30,000 miles of travel through the United States and Canada, tells his people that "he knows no land where in exchange for an honest day's work you get a fairer wage" than in America.

THOUGHTS FOR THE DAY.

The wife either makes or brakes the home.

Some Coos Bay men work one day during the week, rest six and then wonder why they feel tired.

A Pooria butcher advertises "chickens alive and dressed." They must be uncommonly tough. Now Frank Parsons would be pleased with this as his objection to Dave Stafford's chickens is that they are alive and undressed.

Some Coos Bay men even go to church for a change.

POTATOES GLUT MARKET.

Carlton Sales at Kansas City Are Made at Ten Cents a Bushel. KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 19.—Potatoes of last year's crop sold as low as ten cents a bushel in carload lots here today. With several large shipments to smaller cities the biggest potato "glut" ever known here was relieved slightly. The yards were turned into auction pits. Several grocers bought carloads and offered a bushel of potatoes as a premium with grocery orders.

PERSONAL OVERFLOW.

S. C. SMALL left today for Myrtle Point on business. CARL WALKER AND WIFE have returned here after a few months' stay at the Seelye & Anderson logging camp at Bear Creek where Mr. Walker was employed. H. J. VAUGHAN AND G. A. GRISWOLD are expected home tonight from a trip to Gardiner and will leave tomorrow on a trip down the coast, going to Brookings before their return. For Baseball.—Cal Langworthy is getting enthusiastic over baseball and is planning to organize a business men's team to take North Bend and other corners on for a few games. L. F. DENNING, whom Cell Ireland now terms "The Original Tickle Grass Kid," and wife, arrived home today from Roseburg where they have been visiting relatives. Will Move.—The A. B. Daly Company will move its office from the Alliance warehouse room into the building on South Broadway recently vacated by Barnard & Langworthy, where they will have more commodious quarters.

LOST.—German silver nurse with initial "E." On Front street. Leave at Times office.

M. F. PLANT WRECK.

No Hope of Saving Vessel on Alaska Coast Now. The following Seattle dispatch of June 18th will be of interest here as the Yukon was formerly the M. F. Plant, which was for years on the Coos Bay and San Francisco run.

Wireless information received today by the Alaska Coast Company from Archie McKay, at Enalaska, gives the first details of the stranding of the steamship Yukon on the reefs of Sannak Island, while bound from Good News Bay, Bering Sea, for Seattle, and advises the company that there is no hope of saving the vessel.

"The Yukon struck June 11, at high tide, in a thick fog, and immediately began to leak badly. The vessel is exposed and is expected to break up with the first high wind. From the first, when her engine-room filled, all hope of floating her was abandoned. Four men are standing by the wreck."

Katherine L. Norton, New Bedford, Mass., says: "I had a terrible pain across my back, with a burning and scalding feeling. I took Foley Kidney Pills as advised, with results certain and sure. Paris, the Incomparable

"LEARN ONE THING EVERY DAY"

No. 4. NOTRE DAME.

Copyright, 1913, by The Associated Newspaper School, Inc.

W HEN Julius Caesar led his conquering Romans into what is now France, he found a tribe called the Parisii, whose chief settlement was upon an island in the Seine. It is recorded that they were brave fighters and resisted the invaders till the last man of them was killed. The island of the Parisii, the site of their ancient capital, is now called "La Cite" and was for centuries the principal part of the city of Paris and the home of the Roman emperors on their visits here.

It is on this island that the Cathedral of Notre Dame of Paris stands. It was founded in 1163 on the site of a former church that was built in the fourth century. The foundation stone of the present church was laid by Pope Alexander III, then a refugee in France, and the edifice was completed in the thirteenth century.

The three deep entrances at the front are adorned with carvings, and the ironwork of the doors is fine. Above is a beautiful rose window, whose stained glass throws a soft glow over a large part of the interior. At the time of the Revolution in 1793, Notre Dame was converted into a Temple of Reason. Its sculptures were mutilated. The statue of the virgin was replaced by that of Liberty. A Greek temple of philosophy was erected within the church, and a ballet dancer represented the enthroned figure of Reason, receiving in state the worship of her votaries. The wild orgies that took place in the ancient edifice led to its being closed and it was not until 1795 that it was again opened. It was restored in 1845. Its facade is said to be one of the finest, as well as the earliest, of its kind in existence, and has served as the model of many other cathedrals in Northern France. Among its noticeable features are the weird and grotesque carvings of animals and monsters that encircle the building high above the third story. For more than 700 years Notre Dame has been a place of worship. It has seen royal christenings, weddings and coronations; it has seen dynasties come and go, and with the fall of the monarchy it suffered in common with the palaces at the hands of the mob. Today it is one of the show places of Paris, where the traditions of centuries have been preserved.

LOCAL OVERFLOW.

Pay Fines.—Claud Tucker and Will Erickson pleaded guilty this morning to speeding and paid $15 apiece. D. L. Foote and Miles Richardson pleaded not guilty and their hearing was set for next Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Two Drunks.—Two drunks were arraigned before Recorder Butler this morning and neither having $5, both were sentenced to two and a half days in jail. They gave their names as Epps and Jones. Both have been in before. J. W. Johnson, a painter who was in the employ of Addison Cook for some time and who left the Bay the last of February, is in a hospital in San Diego critically ill, the doctors having given up hope. He is suffering from lead poisoning.
