CONTRIBUTOR asks us A there are many survivors of the Mexican War in Coos know: but County. We do not know; but in view of the fact that it began in County the year 1846, 67 years ago, there Isthmus Slough, offers a case in point. In answer to a request conreeming his age at that time, he said that he lacked three months of be-ing 17 years old at the hombard-ment of Vera Cruz, in March, 1847. The Mexican War has been re-marded as an univer war. No doubt with old General Santa Anna as a factor on the other or Mexican side the injustice was divided.

San Francisco would today States, be a Mexican city, and a large part of the Phelfic Coast would be in-der the same flag. The great state of Texas would be foreign soil, and New Mexico and Arizona would not have been perplexed with the question of separate or joint statehood in the American Union. It therefore appears that if the

The district attorney's office is as far at sea as ever as to where La France obtained the body which was substituted for his own on the upper reaches of the Clackamas river. He has told several of what District At-torney Evans calls "wild-goose sto-ries," but all have contained loop-holes through which their uncruth was established. For instance, La France identified two undertakers' assistants employed in a West Side Trance identified two indertakers assistants employed in a West Side worgue and stated that he knew the corpse had been secured from that es-tablishment, though where it came from originally he did not know.
