Two Pay Fines.—Antone Rocca and Tom Moran paid $5 fines in City Recorder Butler's court today, each being charged with intoxication.

Special Mass.—A Requiem Anniversary mass will be celebrated Thursday morning at St. Monica's church for Mrs. A. E. Gagnon.

Passes Examination.—L. R. Dean of the Winkler pharmacy received word today that he had successfully passed the Oregon State pharmaceutical examination.

Name Building.—The new Chandler building at the corner of Central and Broadway will be named The Irving block in honor of Mrs. W. S. Chandler's parents.

Firm Dissolves.—Gust Rosberg has sold his interest in the store at Bunker Hill to his partner, T. Lindberg, who will continue the business. Mr. Rosberg will go to California to reside.

Eight-hour Day.—The new Oregon law providing for an eight-hour day on public work is now being put into effect here and will result in contractors bidding higher on street and municipal improvements.

Brings Suit on Note.—Captain C. E. Edwards, of Marshfield, has commenced suit against A. N. Denny to collect a note for $85, interest and attorney's fees. Williams & Bean are his attorneys.—Eugene Register.

Picnic Party.—Mrs. William Sullivan, Mrs. E. W. Sullivan, Mrs. James Kellond, Mrs. Mary Nichols, Esther Sullivan, William Sullivan, Mable Brouette and Edna Kellond formed a picnic party going to Eastside this morning.

Badly Hurt.—E. J. Pickett, while working on his new house at the corner of Eighth and Ingersoll this morning stepped on a loose board and fell nine feet to the floor below. He sustained a badly shattered shoulder and hip. He was taken to Mercy hospital for treatment.

Forfeits Bail.—T. West, the South Marshfield camper who was arrested the other night for causing a disturbance, did not put in appearance today when City Recorder Butler called his case for trial and his $10 cash bail was declared forfeited. The case of Elmer Groul who caused a disturbance at the Palace Restaurant was adjusted out of court.

Meet Monday.—The Port of Coos Bay Commission will hold a regular meeting next Monday. A number of routine matters are to come up in addition to further preparations for the dredging of the channel. Considerable bulkheading will have to be done in advance of the dredging and definite arrangements made soon as to the disposal of the dredgings.

Captured at Gettysburg.—Major tower, of Empire, was one of the Northern soldiers who was taken prisoner at Gettysburg and was one of the 129 who escaped from Libby prison. He was recaptured and taken back. This was recalled today by some of the older residents and veterans who have been following the accounts of the reunion marking the 50th anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg.

North Bend Boy.—W. N. Ekblad says that Mr. Shaler, who won the motorcycle race between North Bend and Empire is not a professional racer, as was reported by some of the defeated entries in the contest. Mr. Shaler formerly lived in Marshfield and was employed at the Smith mill for a time, but later moved to North Bend, where he is employed by the Oregon Power Company. He did not intend to enter the race until he was urged, and was unfamiliar with the course.

No Kinney News.—No word has been received from Portland relative to the Kinney-Wilsey deal. Judge Bronough was expected to reach Portland today on his return from London if he came direct.

Sister Dead.—Word was received yesterday of the death of Mrs. Cynthia Parker at Middle Granville, N. Y., July 6th, of apoplexy. The deceased was a sister of Mrs. Marian Yoakam of Marshfield and Amnon and Stephen Rogers of South Coos river.

Found Sweater.—A Times want ad last night quickly located a red sweater which was taken by mistake from the North Bend dance by Mrs. Geo. Roberts, who as soon as she discovered the error, turned it over to W. H. Chapelle in charge of a refreshment booth, who in turn left it at the Harbor office in North Bend. The sweater was the property of Miss Annie Wickman, who can testify as to the promptness of results from Times want ads. That's because everybody reads 'em.

BIG INCREASE AT LIBRARY

More Patrons and Large Number of Books Circulated—Appeal to Carnegie.

At a meeting of the Marshfield Library Board last evening, Mr. Topping, the librarian reported that the circulation of the library showed a large gain over last year. During the past month, 65 additional patrons have taken out cards.

Between $30 and $40 was received from the Fortnightly Club as the proceeds of the recent benefit ball. Most of this will be spent in purchasing new books for children.

A copy of another letter to Andrew Carnegie urging him to give $18,000 for the public library in Marshfield was read. In this the Polk director population estimate, the assessed value of the city and a letter from Mayor Straw were included. Mr. Carnegie had balked on giving Marshfield more than $12,500, saying that the population here did not justify a greater one.

Miss Topping has secured the use of three traveling libraries from the state librarian, one being on music one on botany and sciences and the other has not been determined.

A renewal of the application to the Marshfield school board to pay for an assistant librarian to care for the school children's books, etc., will be made.
