SHIP LUMBER TO PANAMA NOW

San Ramon, Built on Coos Bay, Will Take Cargo From Portland Soon.

PORTLAND, Or., July 10.—For the first time this year lumber will be shipped out of Portland to the Panama Canal, when the steam schooner San Ramon leaves the Portland Lumber Company's dock this week with 210,000 feet of Douglas fir worth $5554.50. The San Ramon is a passenger and freight vessel and will make California ports on his way to the canal.

That Puget Sound, although much farther away has been supplying lumber for the Panama Canal to a much greater extent than shippers from this city was the statement made by the United States Engineers' office today.

"It seems that Portland lumber men have simply allowed the Puget Sound people to walk all around and over them in this lumber deal," said one of the engineers. "This is the first shipment of lumber from this port to the Panama Canal this year, although 1913 is half gone. Puget Sound lumber men have been busy putting in bids and nearly every steamer making that port for lumber sailing in the direction of the Panama Canal carries a big shipment to the big ditch."

One of the largest incubators in use for hatching chicks is to be found in New Orleans. It is operated by electricity and the heat is automatically controlled.

G. A. R. PICNIC PLANNED NOW

Baker Post to Have Annual Celebration August 13, and Probably at Cooston.

At a meeting of Baker Post, G. A. R., yesterday, Simeon Miller and E. W. Shrock were appointed a committee to arrange for the annual picnic of the members, their wives and friends, to be held August 13. The picnic will probably be held at Cooston, but the fixing of the place remains in the hands of the committee.

Commander S. B. Cathcart and a few of the veterans met yesterday. The ranks of the G. A. R. are being rapidly weeded out by death and some of them are no longer able to actively participate, but it is hoped to have them all out for the picnic.

A fine basket dinner will be provided and a campfire and informal program arranged and a good time assured for all who attend.

CREATES AUTO SENSATION

Cadillac Announcement Causes Much Interest Among Car Owners.

The announcement by the Cadillac Motor Car Company and their Coos County representative, Geo. Goodrum of a forthcoming development in automobiles that will mark a fourth epoch in the progression of that industry, created much interest and comment on Coos Bay yesterday. The announcement was made in large advertisements in the Saturday Evening Post, the Coos Bay Times and special circulars.

There was much speculation as to the special improvement that is contemplated but no one would even hazard a guess. Mr. Goodrum says he is as much in the dark as anyone, but is convinced of its importance because of the extensive manner in which the Cadillac people are making the announcement. The next announcement will be eagerly watched for by automobile owners everywhere.

Five hundred marriage licenses were issued in one day in Philadelphia recently. On the same day 60 divorces were granted.

REGISTERING OF VOTERS DELAY

Justice Pennock Writes to Attorney General for Explanation of Law.

Justice C. L. Pennock has written to Attorney General Crawford for an explanation of the new registration laws of Oregon. Mr. Pennock was appointed registrar for the Central Marshfield precinct and has been unable to find out from County Clerk Watson whether he can also register persons living in other precincts. He has had many applications, but has rejected them temporarily until he can get explicit instructions. Under the old law, a registrar could register any voter in the county.

So far, it has not been ascertained who was appointed registrar for the other Marshfield precincts. Under the new law, the registrars have to give bond for the faithful performance of their duty. They get ten cents for each voter they register.

There is also a question about separate registrations for the county and state elections and for the city election. Had it not been for the special state election to be held in November, the County Clerk would have redistricted the county voting precincts to make them conform with the city precincts. However, they found that they could not do this until after the November election, so now it is believed that a double registration, one for the city and one for the county, will be required. City Recorder Butler is now investigating.

Owing to the small pay in it, some of the registrars appointed in some precincts are refusing to qualify. Mayor Jordan was appointed in tasteless, but he has not time to bother with it and sent back his appointment and a new one will have to be named there.

LIBRARY BUILDING ASSURED.

La Grande Gets $12,500 From Carnegie Commission.

LA GRANDE, Or., July 10.—Construction of a public library building in this city during the next 30 days became an assured fact today, when the Andrew Carnegie Library Commission informed the local Library Association that $12,500 of Carnegie funds are now available to draw on.

The Carnegie gift has been a subject of negotiation for a long time and a 1-mill tax on city property has been accumulating funds and buying books for a library temporarily housed in Honan Hall for a year or more. The city contributes the site. The Carnegie Commission has approved the plans and the building is expected to be ready for occupancy in October.

WATER SYSTEM FOR NEW MILL

Porter Brothers Provide for Supply for Plant at Florence—Other Siuslaw News.

FLORENCE, Or., July 10.—The Pilot says:

MAY MEET WATSON.

If Anderson Recovers Rapidly Will Try Again in August.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.—If Watson and Bud Anderson probably will be Jim Coffroth's card partner this month, if Anderson recovers sufficiently from his appendicitis operation.

Writing from Los Angeles, he instructed Gregory Mitchell to get in touch with Al Young, Watson's manager, regarding a 20-round fight in August.

Coffroth went south with an avowed intention of doing business with Dick Donald, Anderson's manager, and it is believed he has terms with him for a fight with Watson.

A Watson-Anderson bout should prove a good one to look at, both are slashing mixers.

Watson is rounding to form his four-round go with Kid Frazier at Pavilion Rink on Friday night and is so confident that he can win that he wants to take the $1000 that Teddy Plagg's manager, wants to bet on his boy. Young has found sufficient money to cover the result of $500.

$50 REWARD

We will pay the above reward for the names of the party or parties who are circulating a Bando or other I. W. W. literature in this city or for information and positive proof as to their identity. CITIZENS' COMMITTEE.
