Coos Bay Summer Winds

THERE is a quality of wonderful richness in the mere air of mid-summer. The touch of a July breeze has often something almost of magic in its fragrant passing. There is a balm and bracing in the Coos Bay breeze that is distinctive and delightful. The summer breeze on Coos Bay never bears the dry parched air of drouth or the humid stir of heavy afternoons, but in it always is a breath of sweetness, the salt tang of the ocean and the fragrance of the forest. Across thousands of miles of tossing billows or through vast forests of fir and hemlock it is the sweet ingratiating breeze of midsummer; the wind that freshens what it reaches; the grateful ingratiating presence that fills one with a rare and lofty ecstasy.

It comes with the witchery of a world of ripened scents. It carries in its melody something of the charm of myriad sounds. It laughs and sighs and ripples with a gentle rhythm or a bounding vigor or a soft, gracious luxury of caresses. The clean odor of the ocean, the fragrance of firs and forest, the passion of wild red lilies, the cool grace of sheltered gardens—they are all in the heart of the winds of July.

And it is a kind, wholesome spirit sense that we may learn to know in the airs of summer. They revive a little the old memories that are most tender; they awaken aspirations for which we are better whether or not they are unattainable; they help us believe more and doubt less, with their gentle calm or stimulating assurance. Something of the joy of childhood that looks and wonders, something of the fire and hope and zeal of youth that dares and triumphs, something of the peace of age that dreams without question—it is all there, in the deep magic of the summer winds passing.

HORSE SENSE

IF YOU work for a man, in heaven's name work for him. If he pays wages that supply you your bread and butter, work for him, speak well of him, think well of him, stand by him, and stand by the institution he represents. I think if I worked for a man, I would work for him. I would not work for him a part of his time, but all of his time. I would give an undivided service or none. If put to a pinch, an ounce of loyalty is worth a pound of cleverness. If you must vilify, condemn and eternally disparage, why, resign your position, and when you are outside, damn to your heart's content. But, I pray you, so long as you are a part of an institution, do not condemn it. Not that you will injure the institution—not that—but when you disparage the concern of which you are a part, you disparage yourself.

—Elbert Hubbard.

WITH THE TOAST AND THE TEA

GOOD EVENING

Heat and animosity, contest and conflict, may sharpen the wits, although they rarely do, they never strengthen the understanding, clear the perspicacity, guide the judgement or improve the heart.—Landon.

KINDNESS AND COURAGE.

Question not, but live and labor Till your goal be won. Helping every feeble neighbor, Seeking help from none. Life is mostly froth and bubble; Two things stand like stone— Kindness in another's trouble, Courage in your own.

The purse-proud man does not object to putting his pride in his pocket.

The self-made man is not infrequently like other amateur productions.

The female is boneless, yet it can strike harder than the flat.

Some Coos Bay people indulge in the pastime of spitting hairs until they haven't any left.

Some Coos Bay people are almost as stuck up as though they had been tarred and feathered.

If it were really true that man wants but little here below we should all get what we want.

A CENTENNIAL MEMORY. This is the day on which one recalls that pathetic little ditty: "Said a great Congregational preacher To a hen: 'O, you beautiful creature!'"

And the hen, just for that, Laid two eggs in his hat— And thus did the hen reward Beecher."

A SUMMER FAVORITE. The crocus and the daffodil Have had their little day. The green pea now is on the bill; And it's a winner, hey?

The man who does the right thing without being told, stands out head and shoulders above the ordinary.

Any time is a good time to do a good thing.

Go forward; don't stand still.

GAGE OPPOSES LEACH RETURN

Coos County Sheriff Writes Hot Letter to Salem Socialists—West Will Not Act.

SALEM, Or., July 31.—The local Socialists have taken up the matter of the deportation of Dr. Bailey Leach from Bandon, with the state executive committee of their organization and it was announced yesterday that the county officers involved in the case will be prosecuted individually for deporting an American citizen and destroying his property. It was said that the Socialists are not satisfied with the attitude of Governor West in the matter; that they sent word to the Sheriff of Coos County asking him to protect Leach upon his return to Bandon and received a reply couched in the bitterest terms, giving them little satisfaction.

DAILY RIDDLES.

Questions.

1. Why is a loaf of bread on the top of Eiffel tower like a race horse?
2. Why is an acquitted prisoner like a gun?
3. When was beef the highest?
4. How may a man lose half his understanding and yet retain his wits?
5. When is the best time to buy cider?

Answers.

1. Because it is a high-bred.
2. Because it is charged, taken up and then let off.
3. When the cow jumped over the moon.
4. Any having a leg cut off.
5. When it is not very clear; as it will settle itself.

LUMBER NEWS OF NORTHWEST

The Timberman of Portland says: "The San Francisco wholesale prices are much lower than a month ago, freights having dropped to $3.25 for San Francisco, and $4 for Southern California, while mill prices are also lower. Some decline in freights was hardly to be avoided in view of the great increase in the lumber-carrying fleet, but under present conditions some vessels can hardly afford to operate. While a few months ago every old wind jammer was pressed into service, now there are about half a dozen steam schooners laid up in Oakland creek, and the number may increase within the next few weeks. Two new steamers have just gone into commission, and several more are to be launched shortly, tending still further to reduce the rates, and unless the demand improves it is hard to see how they can all find cargoes."

Personal Gossip.

The C. A. Smith Lumber Co.'s mill at Minneapolis is being wrecked and the machinery is offered for sale by Victor L. Johnson, long-time superintendent of the plant. The box factory, which operated through the winter, finally shut down in June, and A. W. Pingor, who has been in charge of the box department, has gone west to visit the Smith mills, with the prospect of deciding to locate on the Coast.

J. Lafon, of Victoria, of the Forestry Branch of the Land Department of British Columbia, made a Portland trip during the month. Mr. Lafon states that conditions in British Columbia surrounding the lumber industry parallel that the Pacific states.

R. A. Jonsson one of the well-known lumbermen of the Middle West and West, has charge of the entire interests of the Klamath Development Co. at Klamath Falls and vicinity. Mr. Johnson was for a good many years associated with the C. A. Smith Lumber Co., of Minneapolis, and later at Bay Point, Cal. The extensive interests of the Klamath Development Co. cover a wide range requiring a broad-gauge man for their successful management, and in Mr. Johnson all these essentials are found.

Corporation Changes.

Fahy Road Co., Bullards, Or. Capital stock, $5000. Incorporators, E. W. Fahy, Mollie E. Fahy and C. G. Fahy. To operate and maintain logging roads, etc.

Umpqua Lumber Co., Elkton, Or., have filed articles of dissolution.

Logging Prices.

The feature of the log situation on the Columbia river is the fairly strong demand for red fir. Camps operating largely in this quality of timber are logging up to capacity. The yellow fir camps are practically all closed and will not resume operations before August first. Red fir is fairly strong at $9 to $10. Yellow fir, or No. 1 logs, are plentiful with demand light. Spruce is bringing $7.50 to $10; cedar $9 to $10; hemlock $6 to $7.

In regard to the log market, Grays Harbor has no surplus whatever. The prices remain the same as heretofore. Spruce being about $10 or $12, according to quality, cedar about $11. Fir is selling for about $7, $10 and $12.

LUMBER SCHOONERS IDLE

Low Charter Rates Cause Boats to Be Withdrawn.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—It is announced that 18 steam lumber schooners are idle, and that more are to be withdrawn from their runs as a result of the present low charter rates from the lumber ports on the north coast.

A year ago, sufficient bottoms could not be secured to meet the demands of the market and the rates were from $4.75 to $5 per thousand to this city and $5 to Los Angeles. This has declined to the present rate of $3.50 to $4 with a possibility of further reduction.

WILL BUILD NEARLY MILE OF GOOD ROAD

Reynold's Development Co to Commence Planking Southwestern Boulevard—Other Improvements There.

The Reynolds Development Co. will soon commence the planking of South Tenth Street between the city limits and Southwest Boulevard and of Southwest Boulevard from Tenth street to Montana Avenue, near the center of First Addition to Marshfield. This will give a continuous planked roadway into First Addition almost one mile in length. This improvement will form an extension of the work now being done by the city from Ingersoll avenue south to the city limits.

The new route to First Addition will be afforded by the improvements on Johnson street westward from the south end of the Fifth street pavement, and of South Tenth street as above described, will be considerably shorter and in other ways better than the present route past the race track and along the county road.

The fine new home that O. M. Johnson is building on South Tenth street in First Addition is progressing finely and will set a standard for district of homes.

TEN "SEPTEMBER MORNS" WENT HOME IN BARRELS

CHICAGO, Ill., July 30.—Barrels are being worn very straight and tight this summer along the banks of Big Walnut Creek at Brazil, Ind. There is no drapery whatever and the hoops are on the outside.

The mid-summer styles in barrels made their appearance suddenly along Big Walnut creek last week. They were first shown the day following a bathing party in which ten of the prettiest young social queens of Brazil participated.

Big Walnut creek is filled with willow clumps. The party, prior to bathing, filled the willows with lingerie and incidental clothes. While the girls filled the water, the neighborhood filled with unknown who took the shoes and hats and the skirts and the hats—yes, and everything the girls left on the bank.

When the girls came out of the water they didn't come out carefully black. Then they came like a heavy drizzle of "September Morns." Next day fair bathers received a noble barrel with the compliments of a person. The present possession of the clothes and things are still in their windows, although some of the bathers' suspicions.

PRIZES FOR COOS COUNTY FLOWERS

FOR the two-fold purpose of showing visitors and strangers other sections the brilliancy and beauty of the roses and flowers of Coos Bay and to encourage and develop their culture, residents at home, we have determined to offer as prizes some vases for the three best displays of roses or flowers to "The Busy Corner" before 9 o'clock p. m.,

SATURDAY, AUGUST 2ND

This contest is not to be hampered by any hard and fast regulations. It requires no entrance fee. It is not open to our customers or patrons, but is open to any person in Coos Bay.

Arrange your flowers or roses into displays and bring them to Lockhart & Parsons' Drug Store before 9 o'clock, Saturday. Here the name of each individual will be entered in a book and a number. The number only will be attached to the display. The judges will not know to whom the flowers belong until the decision. All flowers will be displayed in our windows Saturday evening. The prizes are as follows:

First prize, a $17.50 hand-painted vase.

Second prize, a $10.00 hand painted vase.

Third prize, a $5.50 Austrian vase.

These three prizes may now be seen in our window. Bring on your flowers.
