J. S. M'WHINNEY, Chief Engineer of the laqua, comes from the land of Burns and has sailed the seven seas, but says Coos Bay is equal to any port the wide world over.
J. H. HAAS, of Seattle, an inspector of the Western Union, came in via Myrtle Point and will go out via the old Coos Bay wagon road to see the "shoe string."

He says his company will build a fine line in here along the route of the Coos Bay-Eugene railroad when the latter is completed.
WALTER BUTLER and Miss Alice Butler expect to leave Sunday for Colfax, Cal., where they will visit their father, W. J. Butler, and with other relatives.
MR. CURTIS, who has been scaler for the Smith-Powers Company at Coaledo, left yesterday for Missouri where he has taken a position in the Government service.

T. C. RUSSELL, Superintendent of the Beaver Hill mine, is a Marshfield visitor today. He is pleased with the rapid work that Contractor Telander is doing on his new building. One man remarked today that "Telander is breaking the speed limit" on it.

who will use them on the auto line out of there. Mr. Tucker has purchased a car that Chas. Bonebrake formerly had.
Rumor Heldup.—It was reported today that Chas. Thompson, a driver of the Gorst King line, had been held up while returning from Empire last night. However, it seems that he saw a couple of men along the road who acted strangely, but he swerved around them and did not stop. Some think it was only a joke.
Warrant Is Issued.—Dewey Scotsman has filed charges before Recorder Derbyshire, of North Bend, charging R. L. Thomas with hitting him over the head with the butt of a revolver. The trouble occurred day before yesterday near the stove mill. Thomas had not been arrested this morning.
For Marshfield Saloon.—A Portland paper says the grocery saloon license of S. Brunn, on Alder street in Portland was revoked because Brunn only had two cans of Salmon in his grocery stock and was selling liquor over the bar instead of sending it out in packages. One of the men arrested as a witness claimed he had just been sampling Brunn's wet goods with a view to buying a stock for a Marshfield saloon, but he didn't give his name.
Threatens Suit.—Mrs. Maggie Murphy is threatening suit against Robert Marsden, Sr., C. I. Reigard and Dorsey Kretzer, as a result of negotiations for the sale of a lot at the corner of South Second street and Golden. Mr. Marsden bought the lot from Mrs. Murphy, C. I. Reigard, who had made one payment of $400 on it having given up his purchase on condition that his money be refunded. Dorsey Kretzer held the deed as security for a loan. Mrs. Murphy claims that Marsden was loaning her the money, but the other parties insist that it was a purchase and that Mrs. Murphy authorized Mr. Reigard to change the deed Mrs. Murphy had given from Mr. Reigard to Robert Marsden. It is a peculiar mixup and will probably be heard at the next term of court.
Railroad Echo.—An echo of the old Coos Bay and Boise Railroad came up this week in Myrtle Point when an action of Thomas Guerlin to collect $160 from Chief Engineer F. A. Haines was tried in Justice Court. Guerlin, who was formerly proprietor of the Myrtle Point hotel wanted to force Haines to pay for board and supplies furnished the engineering crew but the court held that the company, and not Haines, was responsible. The Coos Bay and Boise has no funds and so Guerlin will probably be out. R. O. Graves stated that J. M. Blake, formerly of Marshfield, was interested in a revival of the Coos Bay and
