

LOTS of men who don't call themselves "young men" like the smart, snappy styles that are called young men's styles; their own sons maybe wear the kind of clothes they like to wear themselves.

Hart Schaffner & Marx have made some very attractive models for these dressy middle-aged men; and we show in our illustration one of these models.

You see how very smart it looks; a 32-inch single breasted, two-button coat, with long lapels; the waistcoat has six buttons.

Ferry Traffic.—Capt. Alex Hall, of the ferry Transit, reports that during August the Transit carried 7475 passengers, 259 double teams, 347 single teams, 246 head of stock and 128 autos between Marshfield and Eastside.

Autos on Commercial.—Wm. Ledward says that the residents of West Commercial have about as much grievance as any part of the city concerning night autos. They keep up the running and noise, he says, until 3 a. m.

Breakwater Late.—Owing to the storm that has been prevailing along the coast yesterday and last night, the Breakwater is late today and will not reach Marshfield until between 4 and 5 o'clock this afternoon. This morning, however, it was reported that a fifty-mile gale was blowing off shore a short distance.

Burial Tomorrow.—The funeral of Ed Hincley will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from Wilson's Chapel, Rev. Browning officiating. Coroner Wilson received a telegram from a nephew of the deceased, H. C. Hincley of North Eastham, Mass, instructing him to have the funeral here.

To Grand Jury.—Reports from Coquille have it that District Attorney Geo. M. Brown has presented a copy of Attorney General Crawford's report on the deportation of Dr. Leach to the Coos County grand jury, now in session at Coquille, for them to determine whether any further investigation shall be made. It is not expected that anything further will develop in the matter.

Relative Missing.—Joe Winsor, of North Bend, is today looking for his grandfather, Wm. Winsor, of Curry County, who has been visiting at his home. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Winsor are away. Monday morning Mr. Wm. Winsor, who is quite old, had not arisen when Joe left for work and the latter has not seen him since. He is worried owing to the report that the old man was ill. It is possible that he may have taken a sudden notion to return to Curry County.

Konvs Busch.—Capt. C. E. Edwards says he is acquainted with the James Busch mentioned in the Oakland press dispatch and printed in The Times Monday in which it was stated Busch wanted to buy much liquor. He says he lived in the Coquille Valley about Myrtle Point, but that he left there a number of years ago for California, and that his thirst must have been acquired in that state. Possibly Busch got confidence with the reporter and told about his old home.

Daughter Born.—Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Barstow, who were formerly residents of Marshfield, but who are now located at Lents, Oregon, are the proud parents of a daughter, Mildred Jane, born August 29 and weighing seven pounds. Mr. Barstow had charge of the wireless station here and is now in charge of the station at Lents. Mrs. Sarah Wilson received a card this morning announcing the new arrival and the worthy couple's many friends in Marshfield will rejoice with them in their happiness.

Announcements Issued.—Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Tower have issued announcements of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Nellie B. Tower to Dr. Loring Leece Day Monday evening, September 1, at 8 o'clock at their home, Archdeacon Horsfall officiating. The young couple were accompanied by auto to Myrtle Point by I. R. Tower, Jay B. Tower and Miss Ivy Hill and proceeded to Monrovia, California, where they will make their home. Everyone on Coos Bay, to whom the bride has endeared herself by her beauty, accomplishments and winning ways, will unite in wishing them all the success and happiness that time can bring.

Bennett's Friend Dead.—J. W. Bennett was seen on the streets today with a heavy piece of crepe on his arm. When accosted by friends as to the cause of the display of grief he would say, with some emotion, that while it was no relative, a man who posed as his friend was dead. He would not give his name, but said that three months ago a man came to the bank for a loan of $250. As his credit was not first class, he appealed to Joe to accommodate him to keep him out of jail. "If I'm alive in 90 days you'll have your money," he assured Bennett. "The ninety days are up," said Bennett, "and as I haven't got my money I know the poor fellow must be dead, and that's why I am in mourning."

Hard Auto Trip.—Dr. A. C. Seely and wife and family and W. A. Pettit, city editor of the Roseburg News, arrived here by auto last evening for a short stay on the Bay. They encountered the first rain near Camas Valley, but it did not bother them much until they got this side of Coquille and then the road got very slippery. Their chains were too short and Pettit had to walk about a mile and a half to borrow some wire from a rancher to fix up the chains. They reached here about 7 o'clock, the men badly drenched and muddy. In fact, Pettit was so bad that he had to prolong his slumbers this morning while the tailor was fixing up his clothes. Dr. Seely will remain until the roads get good, but Mr. Pettit, who is one of the cleverest young newspaper men in the state, will have to be home by Monday morning.

New Home.—E. R. Ness is erecting a new home on his ranch on Isthmus Inlet near Millington.

Log in Road.—None of the stage autos got through here from Roseburg last night owing to a big tree falling across the road about two miles this side of Coquille. Consequently, none departed from here this morning.

Builds Here.—Rube Lyons, the North Inlet rafter, is erecting a new house on the property in Ferndale which he recently bought from Henry Sengstacken. He will move his family here so that the children will have better school facilities.

FRANK BLACK of South Marshfield plans to leave on the Breakwater for Portland to meet his wife and children. They will continue their journey to Idaho, where they will make their future home.

HANK DIERS of North Bend, was a Marshfield visitor yesterday and reported that Judge Bronaugh had been quite ill of a gripple following his visit to the Bay. There is nothing new in the Kinney matters.

E. L. BASSFORD, head of the Roseburg Flouring Mills, is looking this section over with a view to introducing his flour in this section. Owing to freight rates being against him, he is doubtful about it.

N. H. McMILLAN, manager of the Union Meat Company, and bride, arrived home yesterday from Portland and expect to soon be at home in one of the Williams apartments. Mrs. McMillan was formerly Miss Provart, and will continue her department in the Coos Bay Business College for the time being. They were warmly welcomed by their many friends on the Bay.

ED SCHMEER, for years a successful restaurant man in Portland, is on the Bay with a view of locating here. He recently disposed of his Portland business and has been travelling and looking the country over for a new location. He says that Coos Bay is by far the most prosperous looking place he has visited and he hopes to arrange to remain here.

P. L. BURR, of Willett & Burr returned yesterday from a trip of inspection over the new Smith-Powers line beyond Myrtle Point. They have been handicapped in getting labor, owing to the activity of the I. W. W. in California, the latter parading around in front of employment offices circulating false reports about a strike being on in Coos County. However the work is going pretty well now and if the rainy season does not start in early, they hope to complete it this fall.

ALONG THE WATERFRONT.

It is still a little indefinite when the Redondo will be ready to resume the Coos Bay-San Francisco run, but it is hoped to have her ready in a couple of weeks. A number of changes are being made in her to permit her to handle the coal and pulp shipments better and also to improve her. The improvements in the vessel will probably cost in the neighborhood of $20,000.

The schooner Omega, which was built at North Bend for the Simpson Lumber Company's fleet, but which is now carrying lumber between the Columbia River and South American ports, has been libelled there by a member of the crew, Bert A. Gibson, who is suing for $25,000 damages for personal injuries sustained in an accident on the donkey engine. She was about ready to sail with a cargo when she was libelled.

Mate John Graham, of the tug Gleaner, who sustained a badly sprained ankle while loading freight at North Bend the other day is reported to be getting along nicely, but will probably be laid up for some time.

The barge Frederick was brought here today to take on a cargo of coal at the Libby bunkers for the construction work of Porter Bros. on the Coos Bay-Eugene line.
