THAT FARM OF OUR OWN.

What care I for trouble makers?
I can reap where I have sown.
I've a patch of ten green acres
And a roof tree all my own.
This the song of all the ages
First in manhood's rank's shall stand.
He who tills for no man's wages
Owns the soil and rules the land.

DEEP down in his heart of hearts, with his cherished memories of childhood and his hopes for a hereafter, every city dweller who labors at desk or in mart clings to the desire some day to lock up his desk for the last time, throw the key away and journey to a pleasant farm all his own. Here is the vision of his rest—a reward hard earned and doubly sweet.

Days are always sunny on this dream-farm, and the fruit is heavy on the vine. A rambling homestead is sheltered by cedars and rich with roses. There are daisies on the lawn and the hollyhocks grow in prim array by the garden fence. And there are birds in the trees. We have seen that farm, in a dream. Who has not?

That's why, when Alfred Mitting comes along and says he proposes to start an experimental farm on Coos Bay, I am interested. If he will do this thing he will be doing a great educational work not only for the rancher, but for the city dweller as well. If he could thus acquaint the city man with agricultural problems and teach him how to meet them he will perform a signal service for the whole country and greatly accelerate the "back to the soil" movement. With knowledge will come courage, and the break that is now so hard to make—the break from the office and desk—will be easier.

If Mr. Mitting is successful in establishing his school garden, it will be a great work. We would all profit by such a chance to learn, for there is always our vision before us—that little farm all our own.

RAIN AND GOOD ROADS.

THE rain of the last two days was generally needed and beneficial to Coos County, but it played havoc with the roads. Allegany traffic suspended, Myrtle Point traffic suspended, Sunset Bay shut off from autos, all tend to prove the growing necessity of hard surfaced roads in this section. The rapidly increasing traffic in all directions in Coos County emphasizes the necessity of early action. The increase in commerce means a greater loss when ever it is interfered with as at present.

If commerce is the life blood of the nation so good roads are the arteries that carry the life blood to the heart and brain of the body politic. Unless those arteries are properly in place and kept in a healthy working order, commerce will suffer. The first essential then to the strengthening of the business of a community would be the providing of a proper system of highways, and the bonding of the community seems the best available way of doing this. Coos County has been making headway, but not headway enough. To progress faster, however, it will undoubtedly be necessary to vote bonds, and there is a constantly growing sentiment in favor of bonding and the immediate construction of the more important highways.

WITH THE TOAST AND THE TEA

GOOD EVENING.

If no one ever dared to break the rule of doing as father did, we still would be living in caves and trading stone hatchets for juicy roots.

—Character.

RELEASE.

By day I'm held by chains
That fasten me to toil,
I have to work for gains,
To win my share of spoil.

But went the night hath come,
And daily tasks are done,
The chains so burdensome
Are lifted, one by one.

And over hill and dale
On dreamy jaunts I fly;
Right gallantly I sail
Beneath the moonlit sky.

And while my body worn
Rests here in slavery,
My soul, in dreams reborn,
Rejoices to be free.

O, why should the spirit of mortal be proud?
Returning to town one observes to the crowd
"You bet I am glad to get back to Coos Bay."
And somebody punctures with, "Oh, been away?"

REPORT MADE BY GRAND JURY

SEVERAL PRISONERS SENTENCED TODAY FOR VARIOUS CRIMES—NO ACTION YET ON CRAWFORD'S REPORT — RUMOR SPECIAL DETECTIVE.

(Special to The Times.)
COQUILLE, Or., Sept. 4.—The Coos County grand jury yesterday made a partial report of the cases submitted to it and Judge Coke pronounced sentences where the criminals pleaded guilty.

The grand jury is still grinding away. So far, they have not done anything about Attorney General Crawford's report on the Leach deportation. It was reported here that Governor West was going to send a special detective, Joe Day, formerly on the Portland city detective force, to Coos County to dig up evidence to present to the grand jury when his special prosecutor comes.

Frank Bechtold, of North Bend, pleaded guilty to the indictment charging burglary and was given two to five years.

"Bud" Brigham, of North Bend, was also indicted, but has not pleaded. Nell McLeod is making an effort to secure clemency for young Brigham, who is charged with committing robberies in company with Bechtold.

Wm. C. Payton, the forger from Marshfield, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to one to five years.

Thomas Stinnet, pleaded guilty to steaming brass from the Smith-Powers machinery at Coaledo and was sentenced to one year in the county jail and then paroled.

PERSONAL OVERFLOW

MR. AND MRS. E. R. HODSON returned today from a few weeks' visit in San Francisco and other California points. They had a delightful trip, but were glad to get back to Coos Bay even in the rain. They returned via Roseburg and say the showers had thoroughly settled the dust along the road.

MR. LEACH, formerly a wholesale grocer of Oklahoma City, who is looking this section over went up to spend a few days with Col. and Mrs. Grimes. He is well impressed with this section and may decide to locate here. He was formerly a member of the School Board there and also served on the City Board of Trustees.

NEW PROBLEM FOR JAPAN

By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.
TOKIO, Sept. 4.—Like many other great cities the number of unemployed is over on the increase in Tokio, where men gather from the country with high ambitions. Unfortunately, however, high places are few and talent superabundant. Consequently even men with good qualifications are roaming about, vainly seeking employment. Some of them come to the Free Lodging House at Honjo, Tokio, tired out; some even are on the brink of starvation.

This summer the small lodging house is taxed to its utmost capacity. The director of the House tells pitiful tales of his nightly lodgers. "Men in the prime of life," he says, "come here every day starving, having had nothing to eat for three or four days. Of the young men who come to me for help, the majority are from the country. They make their way to the city with high hopes, and write home exaggerated or imagined stories of their success. A few years later they go back to their homes on borrowed money and dressed up in royal style to impress their family and friends with their success, not yet realized. When they return to the city their situation is worse than it was before, for they are saddled with

Beautiful Silks

There must be a new rainbow within the vision of Fashion—so wondrously beautiful are the colors of our Fancy Silks. The clever loom artists seem to weave cloud colors into a silk fabric and then strew it with flowers.

"Beautiful beyond expectation" you will say when you see them. Silk Poplins, Jacquards and Sussahs in a variety of shades; plains and brocaded Charmeuse and Crepe de Chine; Foulards and Mirrors and almost every conceivable shade in Messalines.

Ask to see this beautiful array of materials for afternoon and evening wear. It will afford us pleasure to show them.
