PLAN CHANGES ON NANN SMITH

Kruse & Banks May Make Alterations in Passenger Accommodations on Her.

The Nann Smith arrived in late yesterday from San Francisco with a big cargo of cement and bitumen for street work here and also considerable other miscellaneous freight. She had a good trip up the coast.

Arno Meehan stated today that the Nann Smith would be gone over by the Kruse & Banks Shipbuilding company here so that they could bid on the proposed remodeling of the vessel to accommodate more first class passengers and other improvements. It is proposed to have the Nann equipped to carry sixty or more passengers.

It is the desire of the company to have the work done on Coos Bay if it can be done at anywhere near the figures that the San Francisco shipbuilders charge.

The Nann Smith did not bring any passengers this trip except about thirty workmen for Willett & Burr.

GRIDER HELD TO GRAND JURY

Former Roundup Man Remains in Jail at Roseburg for Wife Desertion.

The following from a Roseburg paper will be of interest here owing to Chas. Grider's Roundup fiasco last August:

Charles Grider, who was brought back from Nevada by process of extradition, to answer to the charge of wife and child desertion here, was tried this afternoon before Justice Marsters and bound over to the grand jury. His bond was fixed at $1000, but not being able to furnish the amount, and without means of support if he could raise it, he returned to jail. At the trial were several witnesses who testified that the couple had been living together as man and wife, and that their child had been born while they resided with Mrs. White at Myrtle Creek. Both parties admitted that they were not married. Not long after the child's birth it appeared that Grider deserted his family, going to Nevada. He left them without any means of support, they living upon the charity of Mrs. White. The defense was supported by Judge Fullerton and the state by District Attorney Brown.

Grider refused to take the witness stand. Judge Fullerton remarked just prior to closing his case, that there wasn't any jury in the world that would convict Grider after they had heard the evidence and the law as given by the court.

NO TELEGRAPH OR TELEPHONE

With long distance telephone lines down, in addition to the Western Union line being out of commission, Coos Bay today is completely isolated from the outside world.

Just what the matter is on the Western Union line, Manager Schetter has not been able to find out. It went down last night and up to this afternoon they had not been able to get any place beyond Sitkum.

The long distance phone line has been down most of the time since the day before yesterday.

STATE NAMED AFTER O'REGAN

Offender Informs Court That It Should Be Pronounced "Oregon."

Andrew O'Regan and Wm. McDonald, who arrived here yesterday from Gardiner, where they had been employed in the Copenhagen railroad construction camps, were haled before Justice Pennock this morning to explain why they took Sam Evans' roll of blankets from the Blanco hotel instead of their own. "Too much booze," was the explanation and each gave ample personal indications of the truth of the assertion and they were told that they could go free, after they had restored Evans' roll.

No charges were referred against them. O'Regan was as Irish as his name indicated and as witty as the latter typifies. When he gave his name, he insisted that the proper pronunciation was "Oregon," and that the state was named after his family. He was told that if he wasn't careful the state "would be after him" on a criminal charge regardless of whether it was named after him or not.

They declared that they had taken too many drinks and accidentally picked up Evans' stuff instead of their own. They left their blankets at the Blanco hotel. Evans has been working for the Smith-Powers Logging Company.

The LADIES' AUXILIARY of the Presbyterian Church, WILL HOLD A COOKED FOOD SALE, SATURDAY, OCT. 25, at the PERRY-NICHOLSON store. The SALE BEGINS AT 1 P. M.

Newly Arrived Novelty Suits and Coats

If you wish to wear a fine and distinctive fall suit or coat, see this new line. Every one in the height of style and so exclusive that it will not be found elsewhere with the same hallmarks of superb tailoring.

IN SUITS—Cutaways are well represented, some with graceful lines, others sharply cut or with a slight fullness suggesting the Empire blouse. A great diversity marks the materials, plain and rough weaves being equally prominent, such as Wool Broche, Wool Poplin, Wide Wale Serges, Boucles and Bedford Cord. Besides Navy and Black, the newest autumn colors are included.

IN COATS—A variety that brings unusual opportunities for securing wraps exactly suited to the wear intended. Cloths from the unmatched old world looms of Scotland, France and Belgium. Whether it's a coat for smart street wear, for afternoon dress wear, or a dressy pile fabric coat, all are here in the size you like and in the style most becoming.

Latest Creations in Afternoon Dresses

Fascinating new styles in Crepe de Chine, Crepe Meteor, Charmeuse and Beaded net; some with pretty overdrape of fine shadow lace, others in charming new models for street and evening wear; showing new neck finishes in the loveliest of laces and Rusches. Colors are the new copper shades, taupe, terra cotta, blues and black.

All garments priced at lowest possible figures. The correct fit of each garment absolutely guaranteed.

NO FOOTBALL IN MARSHFIELD

Marshfield High school will not have a football team this year. Owing to North Bend deciding not to have a team and Bandon not announcing its intention to enter, there were not sufficient games in sight to warrant it. Prof. Grannis has been having some interclass games to pave the way for a fast team next season. The school is also handicapped by lack of grounds.

Last evening Supt. Howard of Coquille telephoned over to try and arrange a game with Marshfield for next Saturday. It is not likely that it will be held. Coquille is said to be playing pupils not eligible under the Coos County High School Athletic Association rules and this would serve as a bar. Coquille defeated Myrtle Point last Saturday eighteen to nothing. A meeting will be held at Coquille next Saturday to discuss high school athletic affairs and other contests.

Case Continued.—Judge Hall today continued the hearing of Pearl Wessels, the juvenile who was brought before him on information filed by A. D. Adkins. The Wessels girl was staying with the W. G. Barnes family at North Bend. Her father is somewhere in the county, and Judge Hall wanted him to be present at the hearing. Adkins did not give as strong testimony under oath today as he had made in his previous allegations.

Married Here.—Lester McDonald and Miss Lydia Holm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holm, were married at the home of the bride's parents, Judge Hall officiating. The groom is a local chauffeur, who has just recovered from a broken arm sustained in an auto accident at Portland.
