PRACTICAL EDUCATION.
THE high school boys of Ishpeming, Michigan, are doing surprisingly well in practical work. For the last six years students in the manual training courses have been employed to repair the various school buildings of the city, and in one summer they earned three thousand dollars. They repaired roofs, laid cement floors, built brick walls and installed plumbing fixtures. They also conduct a co-operative school farm, and at latest accounts were about to build a school gymnasium from plans that seniors in the high school drew.

GOOD ADVERTISING PAYS.
(Philadelphia Ledger.)
The ordinary newspaper or periodical reader doesn't dream of the potency of good advertising. One of the largest, if not quite the largest, general advertiser in the United States is a manufacturer in the Philadelphia metropolitan district.

There is a never ending race at that plant between the advertising department and the builders. The advertisers bring in so much business that the builders are kept busy enlarging the factory. Something like $1,000,000 a year is spent in advertising this company's output, which is a luxury in every sense. At the present moment orders for new business are so far ahead of the capacity of the plant that it would seem a hopeless job ever to catch up. But the advertisers never relax. The head of that great concern now knows almost better than anybody else that before you can reap a harvest you must first sow the seed. The advertisers are the chaps that are doing that.

GOV. WEST'S THEORY.
(From the Medford Sun.)
Governor West is now working upon the theory that there are more L. W. W. votes in the state than in Coos County.

WITH THE TOAST AND THE TEA
WHEN MOTHER READS ALOUD.

When mother reads aloud, the past seems real as every day;
I hear the tramp of armies vast,
I see the spears and lances cast,
I join the thrilling fray;
Brave knights and ladies fair and proud
I meet, when mother reads aloud.
When mother reads aloud, fair lands seem very near and true;
I cross the desert's gleaming sands,
Or hunt the jungle's prowling bands,
Or sail the ocean blue;
Far heights, whose peaks the cold mists shroud,
I scale, when mother reads aloud.
When mother reads aloud, I long for noble deeds to do—
To help the right, redress the wrong;
It seems so easy to be strong,
So simple to be true,
O, thick and fast the visions crowd
My eyes, when mother reads aloud.

A Coos Bay man isn't scared of germs when they are on a dollar bill or a girl's lips.
A Coos Bay girl will let her parents select a husband for her but she will insist on selecting the goods for the wedding gown herself.
When beauty is skin deep it fades. When it is powder deep it rubs off.
Half the people of Coos Bay know how to do things and the other half know how to do the same things better.
At the present price per gram, radium would be worth $52,000.

900 a pound. After repeating that fact a few times, you may get over the notion that the price of porterhouse steak or eggs is too high.

QUESTION FOR THE DAY
Would a man with a fishing license have a right to bulldog a deer?

Nowadays if you are slow the only thing you are sure of is being left.

Anyway the fool is always liberal with his folly.

DANGEROUS COMBINATION.
The worst afflictions in sight,
Promoting sad misrule,
Are those which oftenest unite
The firearm and the fool.

One difference between boyhood and manhood is measuring yesterday's "good time" by the stomachache, instead of the headache.

Most things and most men seem easy until you try to do them.
The slit skirt is still an open question.
The less you say the more it counts.

MUST FINISH LINE TO BAY

Chairman Kruttschnitt of S. P. Board of Directors, Inspects Oregon Line.

EUGENE, Or., Oct. 27.—Julius Kruttschnitt, chairman of the board of directors of the Southern Pacific railway, accompanied by a party of other distinguished railroad men, passed through Eugene a few minutes Friday afternoon, without stopping, on the way from San Francisco to Portland, where a conference with officials in charge of the operation of the company's lines in this state and other states of the Pacific Northwest will take place. The taking over of the P. E. & E. lines by the S. P. and their operation by the parent company will be discussed and it is probable that the disposition one way or another of some of the higher officials of the smaller company will be made.

Coos Bay Line Must Be Finished.
Mr. Kruttschnitt in an interview at Ashland said that the Eugene-Coos Bay line, now under construction by the S. P. company, must by all means be completed, which means that the work will not cease till it is completed as far as Marshfield. It is possible that the anxiety of the company officials to get this line built as quickly as possible has something to do with its extension on down the coast into California, eventually forming a through line between this city and San Francisco.

At Ashland Mr. Kruttschnitt said that the present trip had no particular significance. He said it was purely a trip of inspection of the system under his control, embracing 10,500 miles.

The Tillamook and Coos Bay projects were pronounced imperative and must be finished. He lent no encouragement to the rumor which contemplated a new and reduced grade over the Sikiyous, south of Ashland, and pronounced everything as blue as indigo regarding the Natron extension until financial conditions materially improved.

Expenses were declared out of proportion to revenues in general throughout the railroad world, and the lines were compelled to adopt methods of retrenchment.

While the Southern Pacific was not doing as much as it wished in the way of development, Mr. Kruttschnitt expressed confidence and optimism over the future outlook. When the people fully understand that their interests and those of the railroad are identical, he said, there would be more of a mutual satisfaction all around.

Besides Mr. Kruttschnitt, the members of the party were President Sproule, General Superintendent Campbell and District Engineer Burkhalter. G. C. Morris, assistant superintendent of the lines in Oregon, joined them on the run to Portland.

ASKS DAMAGES FOR CHARGES

I. H. Wheeler, of Bandon, Who Was Arrested for Medford Crime, Begins Suit.

A year or two ago I. H. Wheeler, a grocer at Bandon, was arrested and taken to Medford on suspicion that he knew something about the murder of a junk dealer there. Later, he was exonerated. Now he has commenced suit for damages as is shown in the following dispatch from Medford which erroneously gives Wheeler's home as Marshfield:

Suit has been filed in the Circuit Court by I. H. Wheeler of Marshfield, against former Sheriff Wilbur Jones for $10,000 damages for alleged false imprisonment in 1911, when Wheeler was held five days in the County Jail as a suspect in the Nathan Rogoway murder case. Mulkey and Cherry of this city represent the former county official, and Sperry and Hammond of Marshfield the plaintiff.

The suit complaint alleges nothing farther than the imprisonment. The Rogoway murder has never been solved. When Fred Seymour, alias Parker, sentenced to die for the Dedaskalous murder next Friday with Spanos, made his first confession to Sheriff Jones, he said that he had killed an unknown man near where Rogoway's body was found at Kingsbury Springs, near Ashland, but nothing corroborative of the claim was ever found. Wheeler was held as a suspect for five days, then released, and it is for this time that he asks financial surcease.

WORRY CAUSES JORDAN'S SUICIDE

of his money out at interest.

A few years ago when Eastside started its street improvements and the school board, of which he was clerk, started the school building, he began to call in his loans so that he could take up the Eastside warrants when there was slow sale for them, thereby aiding the town.

Most Highly Respected.
It is seldom that more confidence has been placed in a man's integrity and honesty than has been expressed in Chas. Jordan's. During the days following the discovery of the Eastside shortage and even today, after his suicide might have turned the finger of suspicion against him, everyone is remarking about his honesty and expressing confidence in him and regret the fate that befell him.

Judge John F. Hall, Tom Hall, John Ellerby and others who had known him for thirty or forty years declare he was one of the most honest men they ever knew. For years he and Louis Default roomed together and his death is a shock to the latter.

Just the other day, in talking with a friend, Mr. Jordan remarked that ever since he began working for himself he had been succeeding. He said that while he worked at the mill his salary all went, but since ill-health forced him to quit he had been prospering out of his products and was getting along nicely.

Funeral May Be Wednesday.
Although the date has not been definitely fixed, the funeral of Mr. Jordan will probably be held Wednesday. Mrs. Jordan is now trying to communicate with her children who live near San Francisco.

So far as could be ascertained, Mr. Jordan was not a member of any lodge.

Feared Foul Play.
Mrs. Jordan at first feared that he was the victim of foul play. Last night after they became alarmed over his absence, she told several that she was certain he would be found in the Bay and that she felt that he had met with foul play.

Disappeared Early.
Yesterday afternoon Mr. Jordan is said to have been busy writing. Last evening he did his chores as usual and delivered the milk and ate supper. About 7 o'clock he changed his clothes and started away. Mrs. Jordan asked him where he was going and she understood him to say he was going to Olson's, a neighbor's. About 9 o'clock she retired, thinking he would soon be in. She worried and did not sleep and finally at 11 o'clock arose and went over to Olson's. Mr. Jordan had not been there and then other neighbors were called and a search instituted. They continued the search all night without finding anything.

Early this morning Mr. E. A. Stonecypher joined the searchers and he went down to Jordan's boathouse, thinking he might possibly have gone there. He did not find him, but noticed that there were tracks to the water's edge and none returning. He returned to the house and when he got back he found that R. L. Cavanaugh had discovered a note left by Mr. Jordan stating that his body would be found in the Bay. The note was left on a chest in the barn and on top of it was the knife which he used in cutting up feed.

The search continued and the body was found near the old shipyard dock, about twenty feet out in Isthmus Inlet and a little way up stream.

REVOLUTION IS NOT YET

Socialists Held Meeting Last Night, But Placed no Ticket In the Field.

The Socialist "revolution," which was scheduled to take place at Pines Hall last night did not materialize, although a meeting of the English Speaking local was held.

The purpose of the meeting was to reorganize the American branch of the Marshfield Socialists, which was accomplished in short order. Plans were also formulated for holding regular weekly meetings, which will be held every Sunday night in Finnish Hall.

Next Sunday night a joint meeting of the American, Swedish and Finnish locals of the party will be held, at which time the question of placing candidates in the field for the coming city election will be discussed.

Last night those present listened to a very interesting talk by Mr. Canning, Organizer of the Redmen, and also quite a prominent Socialist of San Diego, Calif.

Several new members were taken into the party at last night's meeting and the Socialists are sanguine that they will greatly increase their membership in the future, as they plan to hold some big propaganda meetings at which speakers of reputation will be present.

C. H. McLaughlin was present at the meeting and advised the Socialists not to make known their plans for the coming city election, as both other parties were waiting to see what they would do before showing their hands, but he was advised by others present that the Socialist party did "no political trading" and was not afraid to make known its plans or purposes, after which McLaughlin had nothing further to say.

Women Make a Dollar Go Farther

Ever notice how much more the average woman will buy for a dollar than a man? She seems to know how to make every cent count.

A woman is naturally inquisitive. She wants to know. She is not afraid to ask questions. A woman likes "to shop around."

Today the large percentage of the advertising in the daily newspapers like THE TIMES is written to women. That speaks well for the character of advertising—both as to fact and phrasing. Women are severe critics. They would not be fooled twice. Advertising to appeal to women must be strong enough to strike their unerring sense of values.
