

FREE EXCURSION TO

We want you to go out Sunday, November, 16, in one of our autos and see this beautiful addition. The trip is free and you are not obliged to buy, but we want you to see for yourself the advantages that surround this addition.

PORT BARNUM

FOR THE WORKINGMAN

Your salvation is to own your own home. Here is your opportunity. Will you accept it? You may never have another opportunity to buy such high class residence lots at anything like the price. You owe it to yourself to make the start for a home; you owe it to your family to provide a home for them. We are giving you an opportunity of a lifetime to own a lot; when the lot is paid for the rest is easy. You will be better satisfied, you will be a better citizen, and a better husband and father when you have made a home of your own. You will not have to give the landlord your hard-earned money if you will take advantage of our offer and buy a homesite in PORT BARNUM ADDITION. This addition is owned by local business men—men you all know; men whose judgment you know is good. We are acting as their selling agents and after we have explained the easy terms you are to be given, and after you have seen the property, you will say it is YOUR opportunity to own a home.

PORT BARNUM ADDITION is on the county road that will be macadamized to Marshfield. The Southern Pacific passes the property, and the electric cars soon to be put into operation assures good service. The Terminal Company has a franchise for an electric road from Marshfield to Coquille, which passes the property. At present the auto stage line gives transportation.

FOR THE SMALL INVESTOR

PORT BARNUM addition offers an unusual opportunity. This property will more than double in value within a short time. It is located in the heart of the manufacturing district. It is located on the south arm of the bay and is accessible by boat. The C. A. Smith Company is developing their large coal mines just two miles south of this property. It is just west of the new Courtney mill, which will employ approximately 100 men. There is sure to be other factories located here in the near future. The eyes of the whole country are on Coos Bay and with the railroad there will come hundreds of concerns looking for small factory sites. PORT BARNUM promises to be the center of a great manufacturing district. With only 25,000,000,000 feet of standing timber and lumbering the chief industry, Grays Harbor, Washington, supports from 40,000 to 50,000 people. Contiguous to Coos Bay there are 110 billion feet of standing timber, and at present only from 12,000 to 16,000 people. Besides our lumber, we have 200 square miles of coal land. With the completion of the railroad there should be from 50,000 to 100,000 people on Coos Bay. Every foot of land is going to be valuable. PORT BARNUM is the best proposition on the market and the present prices and terms place this property within the reach of all.

Go out Sunday at our expense. Look at the property. Consider it on its merits. Then come to us and make your selections.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

HIGH SCHOOL

The Valley Debate will be held at Myrtle Point, Oregon, December 13. Bandon will debate Myrtle Point. The winner of this debate will meet the winner of the Bay contest after the holiday vacation. Coquille will not enter the county contest this year. In deciding the county championship the Bay team will defend the negative of the question.

The pupils of the High School will publish a quarterly magazine this year called the "Purple and Gold." May Myren is editor in chief.

The Literary Society of the High School meets every two weeks on Thursday evening. The next program will be given by some of the boys in Freshman English.

Grade pupils of the Central School gave a musical Friday afternoon. Pupils of the High school gave a similar program two weeks ago. The program consists of the rendering of songs learned by the different rooms.

Competitive spelling contests were given last week—the first in a series. The results follow:

South Marshfield:
A Class	B Class
Second	83 62.5
Third	80.8 91
Fourth	93.5 90.5
Fifth	93.5 82.5
Sixth	81.5 95.5
Seventh	97.6
Central:
A Class	B Class
Second	89.5 76
Third	94.1 96
Fourth	89.2 90
Fifth	98.1 98.1
Sixth	92.6 98
Seventh	98.4 97.75

M. C. Maloney talked to the boys in Freshman English on "Journalism and Newspaper Work" Thursday morning.

The girls of the High School have organized an athletic association.

SOUTH MARSHFIELD

Third Grade.
In the eight weeks' spelling contest the following pupils stood 100 per cent: Cecil Doll, Grace McElroy, Walter Sneddon and Emerson Neff. The following pupils stood above 90 per cent: Walter Daniels, Virginia tings of the Pilgrim Fathers are being prepared by both classes.

Arthur Powell has entered second grade.

Third Grade.

Pupils in this grade making perfect records in recent spelling tests are: Ruth Simmons, Arthur Simmons, Morton Cole, Elizabeth Jones, Elizabeth Flanagan, Roy Hill, Segrid Hongell, Elva Hillstrom, Arthur Schilt.

Fifth Grade.

Special effort is being made in this grade for better attendance. Absence ruins scholarship—one day is too much to lose. Good scholarship depends on interest and this interest cannot be kept up to the highest point if a pupil loses time.

Perfect records were made in recent spelling tests by Forrest Gregg, Esther Anderson, Bessie Thomas, Ernest Johnson, Vernon Bressie, Blanche Copple, Elva Johnson, Denmere Bressie and Elvie Grant in the high class; in the low class by Leora McClees, Robert Ferguson, Jeanette Upton, Ernest Immel, Joseph Lapp, James Eddy, Reynold Koontz, George Lingo, Walter Poole, Robert Haney, Stella Christensen, Rudolph Johnson, Marguerite Bailey.

The subject of fractions is under consideration in the lower division of the fifth grade. Pupils making good progress apparently are: James Marsden, Robert Poole, Robert Ferguson.

In penmanship, the following are deserving of mention: Leora McClees, Lawrence Johnson, George Lingo, Elvie Grant, Elva Johnson and Alice Flanagan. New pupils who have never used the Palmer method before and who are doing well, are: James Marsden, Robert Haney, Walter Poole, Marguerite Bailey.

In English the low and high divisions are required to write at least one well-worked out composition each month. The low division gave an interpretation of Henry Van Dyke's "A Handful of Clay," taken from the Blue Book by that writer. The high division worked out a theme on the subject, "The Autobiography of a Hatchery Salmon."

The lessons in drawing this week were conventional designs. Pupils deserving mention for good results are Stella Christensen, Rudolph Johnson, William Blake, Elvie Grant, Estner Anderson.

Sixth Grade.

In the recent spelling contests, pupils receiving perfect records are: Bernice Patchett, Steward McIntyre, Katherine Barry, Agnes Johnson, Janet McLain, Kathryn Nicholson, Doris Sengstacken, Helen Terry, Elsie Hillstrom, Miriam Wright; in the A division were Johnnie Burke, Hilma Kulju, Mary Metlin.

Excellent grades in scholarship were made by the following during the month just closed: Steward McIntyre, Elsie Hillstrom, Howard Lewis, Doris Sengstacken, Agnes Johnson, Maud Wilson, Hilma Kulju.

Seventh Grade.

The first copies of Current Events came this week.

The A class is studying partial payments in arithmetic.

Pupils deserving mention in mathematics are: Grace Farrin, Mabel Lingo, Virginia Clarke, Ruth Golden, Ruby Pitman, Clara Ferguson, Ruth McLaughlin, Elsie Lingo, Zella Swinford, Abigail Ledward, Herman Glosop, Gilbert Johnson.

BE A THOROUGHBREED

Some Words of Wisdom from Watkins for the Youthful Sons of Men.

My son, throw away your "Bull Durham." Get off the joy line. Lift up your head, throw out your chest and chin and be a thoroughbred.

There is no use of being a fellow unless you are a hell of fellow in the right way. Be good, but don't get over-good, else you may be good for nothing.

This is a big delightful world and it needs you, particularly if you are all man, a yard wide, and come armed with a club. No mollycoddies need apply.

This government is your heritage and it is far and away the best government that has ever been devised and adopted by man.

You are free to do as you like as long as you don't interfere with the rights of others. There are no shackles on your limbs nor limitations on the products of your brain. Therefore, get a move on. Don't look for something easy; look for something hard, something that becomes a thoroughbred. Get out of the way—give the girls a chance—don't expect someone to help you—help yourself. Never mind the torpedoes, "go ahead, Sir." You will get lots of hard jolts but don't whine. There is no whine in the system of a thoroughbred. Whistle, toe the scratch and keep a-go!

In a way forget the heroes that have gone before. Live your own life in your own way. Don't try to be someone else, because you can't.

Be yourself. Have a way, a will and mind of your own. Mow your own swath and blaze your own trail. Put your ballast in the right place, keep your balance and steer for the middle of the road.

Beware of the man with a string on your meal ticket. As quick as you can jar him loose and tell him to go to —. A thoroughbred can't thrive with a ring and a string to his nose. Deliver the goods to Garcia.

Get there Eli, but get there in a fearless, upright, honest and manly way. Be a thoroughbred.

GEO. WATKINS.

A NOVEL AID IN SELECTING CHRISTMAS PRESENTS

Christmas time is drawing near and the ever more difficult problem of choosing suitable gifts presents itself. Probably one of the most satisfactory presents to give is a book which the giver knows will be enjoyed. But therein lies the whole difficulty—what book will the person to whom you are going to give your present enjoy? You haven't time to read all the new books. Those that you have read, your friend knows too. Moreover, he is of a discriminating mind. Supposing you, deceived by binding and title, purchase one of those unspeakable dime novels that sell for $1.50? It would be like taking the wrong umbrella, impossible to explain.

The A. L. A. book list solves that problem. A. L. A. means American Library Association and the A. L. A. book list is a list prepared under the auspices of the American Library Association publishing board. The board is not a regular publisher, nor is it paid by the publishers to advocate the new books. The A. L. A. publish the list independently, not for the public, but for the libraries, the small libraries especially, all over the country.

You can obtain it in the Marshfield library free. We keep these lists and are only too glad to allow their use to the public. During the next few weeks before Christmas, we will keep our copies on the "new book shelves," next to the charging desk.

What kinds of books do they contain? According to experts, they are the best books published during the month. No matter which one of them you choose you won't get a book of which you will be ashamed after you have given it. Also, you will not have a list given you of books acknowledgedly fine, but too fine for your pocketbook. Not only are they best, but the more inexpensive ones. They are chosen for the small library, which is proverbially poor. Then too, the lists contain all kinds of books, arranged in separate groups. For the man interested in the Panama Canal or the farmer studying the San Jose scale, or the aunt hunting boarding school stories for her niece, or the woman going abroad next summer, for all these is something of special interest.

What information besides the names of books does it give?

First of all, it distinguishes between different books on the list, and indicates by a sign the best of these. Then it gives price, publisher and the number of pages. Then comes a brief description of the character and scope of each book, so that you will not be misled by a title to give to any one who loves adventure a book like "Pride and Prejudice."

The A. L. A. books are finer than the book reviews, because they are not subsidized or influenced by the book companies, and are the work of not one, but several persons. Unlike the publishers' lists, they contain the creditable works of all publishers instead of the work of but one.

As a guide in choosing your Christmas books it will pay you not only in money, but in the lasting satisfaction that comes in giving a really acceptable present.

Also in this regard we would like to draw your attention again to the new United States Catalogue, which contains a full list by author, title and subject, of all books for sale up to January 1913. We have lists that bring this information up to date.

ELIZABETH R. TOPPING.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

The White House wedding is set for November 25, and two days later President Wilson can be thanked that it's all over with.
