CRAZED MAN, ALMOST NAKED, APPEARS ON STREETS OF CITY

Member of Grace Dollar's Crew Arouses Pastors After Midnight

CHARGE ROOMMATE HAS INFLUENCED HIM

Nearly Freezes Father Munro Out and Then Departs Contented for Ship

T. M. Carr, first assistant engineer of the steamer Grace Dollar, is the individual who caused such a commotion in Marshfield last night and early this morning by racing around the streets with nothing but overalls and shoes on, according to information secured from the steamer's officers today.

Carr was taken on as one of the crew on the last trip north from San Francisco, according to Captain Fosson, who knew nothing of Carr's doings in this city last night. He did not appear astonished when he learned of it, however, and said the man had been acting in a strange manner.

He declared Carr's room-mate was a fine worker and was in no way responsible for the man's actions.

Carr complained to the chief engineer of the craft this morning, stating that he was feeling ill. He was taken up town and treated by Dr. Mings and returned to the ship. He was dressed in a blue suit this afternoon, but was taciturn and refused to discuss his actions of last night. He walked the dock and stared across the Bay, or rambled about the ship without making a sound. The appearance of the man is somewhat uncanny and he appears to have seared members of the crew, although they would not discuss the situation in any way.

Carr was formerly in the transport service and was highly recommended to Captain Fosson at San Francisco, where he was shipped. He will be closely watched tonight to prevent a repetition of last night's performance.

An unknown man, apparently crazed, startled the people of the business section of Marshfield last night by tearing around the streets with nothing on but a pair of thin overalls and shoes, despite the frosty atmosphere.

He was chased south on Broadway by Marshal Carter and Officers Levi Smith and Bill Shoupe, but managed to evade pursuit after reaching the railroad yards. He was still at large this morning, as he was reported by some workmen as having been seen between four and five o'clock.

Wore No Shirt.
When the man was first seen on the street last night by a number of people, it was supposed that he was training for a marathon or prize fight. When it was observed that he had no shirt of any description it was decided that there was something wrong with him. It was noticed that he stared straight ahead and noticed nobody.

Marshal Carter and the night-watchman were notified of the man's presence and Carter found him near Palmer's barn. He proceeded to arrest the stranger, but the latter started to run like a hunted deer. He bumped into Albert Matson, who was turning the corner of Central and Second streets in front of the Oregon Power Company's office, and ran down Central avenue in front of the Chandler Hotel. Mr. Matson thought for the moment that the runner was training, but on seeing the officers in pursuit, discovered too late that he might have stopped the man.

Crowd Joins Chase.
With a dozen citizens and the police in full cry at his heels, the crazy man sped like the wind along Broadway. At one point, where some workmen were busy, Carter called to stop the fleeing stranger, but the workmen failed to make the effort and the almost naked fugitive escaped down beyond the depot.

Some men working on the bulkhead down where the dredge is pouring a stream of water and mud reported that a man named Richardson stated he had seen the half-naked individual early this morning, shortly after four o'clock, and

COUPLE'S CASE UP IN COURT

Marshfield Ministers Find Gow Why Fire Victims—Charges Are Filed

A warrant was sworn out today in Justice Pennock's court by a committee of local ministers charging T. Browning, alias Brownlee, with lewd cohabitation. The warrant will probably be served this afternoon by Constable Cox and the hearing fixed later.

This was a new development today in the case of the couple who were burned in the Gow Why building fire and whose case has attracted considerable notoriety.

The action of the ministers today was partly the result of information obtained some time ago when committees from the various churches took a religious census of the town. An effort was being made to locate them, but it did not succeed, as the couple had moved.

Today, however, the ministers found that the couple had registered at the Blanco hotel January 1 as "T. Browning and family," and were assigned to Room M. The clerk declared that they were the people who were burned in the Gow Why building fire and this was taken as substantiating the other evidence which came in involving the couple.

The ministers' action was taken especially in behalf of the children. It was first proposed to take it up with Judge Hall, but he was out of the city and after conferring with Marshal Carter, who has been probing the case for several days, the information was filed.

A. Todd, the tailor, who rented them the rooms they now occupy, understood they were man and wife and made a plea to the Marshfield Aerie of Eagles for assistance for them. Others that were at the Aerie meeting told that they were not. Mr. Todd was greatly surprised when he heard of the alleged condition, as he brought the matter up on the impulse of charitable motives.

Says He Is Cousin.
Last night the couple informed The Times that they were not man and wife and declared that they had never pretended to be. The woman said that she was Mrs. O. O. Painter and said that she was deeply grieved that any such report should have been started about her. She said her husband was in California and that she expected to join him there soon. She said that she had letters from him recently.

She said that the man with her was her cousin and was with her simply as a relative.

He first gave his name as T. Brownlee and later he came back and said his right name was Brown. He claimed to have been either frustrated by the fire or misunderstood when he gave other names at that time.

Didn't Want Charity.
Both of them said that they had not asked charity or aid of anyone and deplored the fact that any such appeal had been made for them.

AERIAL BOAT HAS TRIAL TRIP
Vernon Gorat gave his new flying boat its initial trip yesterday afternoon, making the trip from the Breakwater dock, North Bond, to the foot of Central avenue, in exactly six minutes. The return trip was made in five minutes.

This boat is equipped with the engine and propeller of the Gorat & King flying machine and was constructed as an experiment in the flying boat line. Mr. Gorat states that at no time was the new craft given full power, and he thinks with a few improvements and additions, he will be able to make sixty miles an hour.

WEST WON FIGHT IN COPPERFIELD

All Quiet in Baker County Town Now With New City Officials in Control—Results There.

[By Associated Press to Coo's Bay Times.]
PORTLAND, Jan. 9.—All is quiet in Copperfield. Colonel Lawson is on his way to Salem, where he will make a report on Baker county affairs to the Governor. The militia marched Copperfield's streets last night because members of the new city council feared the old crowd would attack them.

Governor West has won his fight for law enforcement in Baker county, the executive receiving a message from Colonel Lawson, commander of the military forces at Huntington, stating that he had held a consultation with Sheriff Rand, and that the sheriff was willing to co-operate in the enforcement of the criminal laws.

Copperfield's saloon men, who had expected a long wait, began to plan to reopen their places of business, although, as one expressed it, "there won't be much doing in the saloon business here any more. We can't hope to get the wheels back again, even if they do give us back our booze, and they'll watch us so close now that we might as well move out."

[By Associated Press to Coo's Bay Times.]
CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—Walter Johnson, the famous Washington pitcher, has refused the offer of a salary of $30,000 for three years and a bonus of $10,000 made him by Joe Tinker, manager of the Chicago Federal League team. A similar offer to Joe Wood, the Boston American pitcher, was also declined.

BOSTON SEEKS RESERVE BANK

Harvard Professor Tells Why Town Should Have One of Regional Variety

[By Associated Press to Coo's Bay Times.]
BOSTON, Jan. 9.—The members of several Boston banking houses and the representatives of various New England industrial organizations presented their views on the question of the establishment of a regional reserve bank in this city at the opening today of the two day hearing by the reserve bank organization committee.

Secretary McAdoo said that while the committee recognized that there was a friendly contest between the different sections for the establishment of regional banks, it will be obliged to consider the problem as an economic one in the broadest sense and for this reason was investigating the general industrial conditions in the various districts.

O. M. W. Sprague, professor of banking in Harvard University, occupied the greater portion of the forenoon session. He held that Boston should have a regional institution rather than a branch of one in New York because the bank there would maintain a steady low discount rate.

BLAMES NEW YORKERS.
[By Associated Press to Coo's Bay Times.]
BOSTON, Jan. 9.—Mayor Fitzgerald declared that the attitude of the New Yorkers was responsible for what he called "the present unfortunate railroad situation in New England."

"It would be wiser for all concerned," he said, "if Boston should be made the center of the reserve district."

BORDER LINES ARE ARRANGED

Perfect Agreement Between Albania, Italy and Austria Is Now Reported

[By Associated Press to Coo's Bay Times.]
ROME, Jan. 9.—Premier Venizelos of Greece will be convinced after a conference with Marquis Di San Giuliano, Italian minister of foreign affairs, that a perfect agreement existed between Italy and Austria on the question of the southern frontier of Albania, and that it was supported unreservedly by Germany.

According to this agreement the frontier lines are to be drawn as arranged by the international conference in London. Some of the details have not been finally settled.

As regards the Aeglian questions, Italy, Austria and Germany accept substantially the proposal of Sir Edward Grey. Greece is to have the islands of Chios and Mitylene, while the islands occupied by Italy are to be subject to direct negotiations between Constantinople and Rome.

ENGLISH WILL DEBATE FAIR

Participation in San Francisco Exposition to be Decided in Parliament

[By Associated Press to Coo's Bay Times.]
LONDON, Jan. 9.—The question of participation in the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco is to be raised in the House of Commons during the debate on an address in reply to the speech from the throne, with which each parliament session is started. Sir Edward Gray, who, as head of the foreign office, must take the responsibility for the decision of the government not to participate in the exposition, has maintained silence on the subject and the debate will give him an opportunity to explain and defend his course. The foreign secretary will dispose for once and all of the reports that arrangements with Germany entered into the question. An official explanation of the refusal of the government to participate is that it is believed there would be a paucity of British exhibitors at the exposition.

VAUGHAN TOOK HAYNES TEAM

Former Myrtle Point Bank Robber Suspect Convicted of Horse Stealing

(Special to The Times.)
COQUILLE, Ore., Jan. 9.—H. Vaughan, alias Smith, etc., was found guilty yesterday of horse stealing and will be sentenced next Monday. He was convicted on the charge of stealing a team from the Lib Haynes estate near Eckley and selling them to J. Hakanson of the North Bend stables. He was also suspected of being implicated in the Myrtle Point bank robbery, but proved an alibi. Vaughan is also suspected of stealing a team of A. E. Adelsperger's from the Wagner ranch and selling them to C. P. Barnard of Roseburg. When he is taken to the state penitentiary he will be taken before Barnard to see if the latter recognizes him. R. O. Graves represented Vaughan. The jury was out only a short time.

Vaughan said that he had served a term at Salem for selling liquor to Indians but this is not believed. He is liable to a sentence of from one to five years in the penitentiary.

CITIZENS OF TRANSVAAL ARE CALLED TO ARMS BY CABINET

MORE TROUBLE IN TRANSVAAL

Railroad in South Africa Badly Disorganized by Strike of Employees.

[By Associated Press to Coo's Bay Times.]
CAPE TOWN, Jan. 9.—Railroad service in Transvaal and Orange Free State provinces was badly demoralized today by a strike of the railway employees. Traffic was suspended as far south as Klerksdorp, about 120 miles out from Johannesburg. The police were on guard at all stations and detachments of troops had been ordered to the affected area. It is feared by the authorities that the men may be aroused to acts of violence by the revolutionary speeches of their leaders.

FRESH INFLUX OF REFUGEES

Conditions Indicate General Villa Is About to Attack Ojinaga Again

[By Associated Press to Coo's Bay Times.]
PRESIDIO, Tex., Jan. 9.—A fresh influx of refugees from Ojinaga today bore witness to the belief on the Mexican side of the line that Villa is about to make a new attack on the town. Preparations were made by the Red Cross and army authorities to care for the wounded.

The scene in the border district is a strange one to dwellers on this side of the river. The sixty-seven mile road from Presidio to Marfa, Texas, the nearest railroad station, rises from the Rio Grande Valley 200 feet to a cold wind-swept plateau.

On this bleak road trudge Mexican women and children, their arms full of their possessions and with their bright hued garments flapping in the wind. On the trail are ragged Mexican soldiers without guns, or wounded Federal officers limping through the sand, a lumbering United States army wagon or an auto bearing the family of some wealthy refugee. The Mexicans sleep on the ground and at night the line of little camp fires winding through the mountains and over the plateau traces the route of 2000 on their flight to safety.

REBELS SEIZE RAILROAD.
[By Associated Press to Coo's Bay Times.]
WICHITA, Kans., Jan. 9.—The Mexican rebels have seized 300 miles of the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient railway in Mexico and are operating trains over it, according to a report received here today by one of the receivers in charge of the Orient properties.

Some of the railway employees, according to the report, had been forced to work under the rebels and others had been discharged and their places had been filled by rebel sympathizers. No immediate efforts to regain possession of the property will be made by the receivers, it was stated.

the state game law at Ten Mile, was arraigned yesterday before Judge Coke and was given until the April term of court to plead. This will be a sort of test case.

Charles Sneddon Case.
Judge Coke yesterday made a ruling in the case of Charles Sneddon, the aged Marshfield man who is fighting the insanity charges against him, granting Sneddon a trial by jury. H. G. Hoy will represent the Sneddon family, while Hugh Sneddon, who is aiding his father, has engaged W. T. Stoll to handle the case for them.

Special Grand Jury.
District Attorney Liljeqvist will probably ask Judge Coke to call the grand jury in special session to dispose of the many criminal cases that have come up since the December term of court, providing he can locate George Russell, who is a witness in the case of Miller, the cook, charged with being implicated in the Myrtle Point bank robbery.

It is expected the burial will take place Sunday or Monday.

RULING FAVORS TIMBER OWNER

No Income Tax for Product Until Marketed is Interpretation of Law.

[By Associated Press to Coo's Bay Times.]
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 9.—No timber land will be subject to the income tax until the timber is cut and marketed, and then only the profit, after the cost, which will include the protection of growing timber, is deducted, will be subject to assessment. This is the interpretation placed by P. S. Ridsdale, secretary of the American Forestry Association, on the decision of the treasury department on the subject.

The ruling made public today was at the request of Ridsdale, who requested information as to the method by which the income tax on timber lands might be estimated.

AUSTRIA SEEKS INVESTIGATION

Embassy at Washington Wants Complaints of Austrian Miners Probed

[By Associated Press to Coo's Bay Times.]
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 9.—The Austrian embassy in Washington has asked Edgar Prochnik, the Austrian vice consul at St. Paul, to proceed to Calumet to investigate complaints made by Austrian miners there of treatment they have received. Charges have been made that peonage exists in some parts of the copper mining district. No representations have been made to the state department because of the vague nature of the charges.
