NOTES OF THE SPORT WORLD

WHEN YOU ARE AND WHEN YOU ARE NOT
Abe Attell's Wisdom

(In the course of his monologue on the vaudeville stage, Mr. Abe Attell, erstwhile a champion pugilist, delivers himself of the following verse, representing the Muse as groggy and ready for the count.)

D ID you ever figure out just when you are and when you are not?
What a chilly world this is!
When I was champion of the world and hailed all over the land
Pretty near everyone I'd meet would want to shake me by the hand.
It was good boy, Abe; gee! you're immense. Champion for twelve long years.
And when I go into a ring my ears would ring with cheers.
They'd sit around the big cafes and let me buy the wine.
They'd borrow money right and left to pay back maybe, some time.
The newspapers printed pictures of me most every day.
The sporting writers would make big money writing down the things I'd say.
Then I went out West and boxed Johnnie Kilbane, a youngster coming strong.
I had been fighting seventeen years, a time that was rather long.
He beat me fair and square; the old champ was no more.
My friends—oh yes, why they turned their backs; there was a new champion now.
Abe, oh yes, he's all in. He was too old, anyhow.
I went around to my old haunts, but things were different then.
The crowd I wined and dined! were there, but they didn't notice when I came in.
They turned their backs, their handshake was now a nod.
I was done. They didn't care, they had a new god.
The ones who were so glad to know me now crossed the street.
They don't care to know a fellow once he's beat.
My money that they borrowed, oh, they forget it now.
When I meet them on the street, why, they don't even bow.
A few old pals were good and stuck, but there's not many to their lot.
Gee, it makes an awful difference when you are and when you're not.

QUESTION FOR THE DAY
Should a woman baseball player be called a faness, a factress or fanorina?
Kinda sorta feels like these days. Huh!

BASEBALL AT BASTON
There will be a baseball game at the Commercial Club ball field night, March 18, to arrive at the baseball season.—Bastion

SPORT GOSSIP
Ed Sweeney, who has been out of fence for many weeks, and some find cold comfort in his position, reported to have leaped to the majors. Sweeney is a fine all-around ball player and will make good any team.
Hobe Ferris, commonly called "Fidget" in the years when he bounced around third base for the Boston Americans, has been appointed a referee of the Rhode Island League Club, of Thornton, R. I.

The A. A. A. championship committee has recommended to the general committee that a two day relay be held this year on Friday and Saturday, July 3 and 4, and that new championships be instituted in 140-yard hurdles, throwing the javelin and step and jump. Moreover, it is proposed to hold the relay championships on one of these days instead of a separate meeting.

The waiters at Martin's, Tex., have gone on strike, refusing to wait on the New York Giants unless salary is increased to cover the deficiency in tips. The Giants having split up three weeks series receipts in addition to salaries, evidently are assessing the waiters because they only get the losers' end. We recall vividly the White Sox splitting one week's sales receipts, with a big bonus to the owner, and only three of the paid off the man who washed the uniforms all season. Great expenditures, these athletes.

"Kid" McCoy has cancelled his bout with Georges Carpentier for reasons—one that he is ill and the other that he would receive a money after the French boxer obtained his share. As the reason seems pretty fair, there is excuse for mentioning still another that McCoy has omitted.

Mike Donlin will be the pinch hitter of the New York Giants this year, replacing Harold McKimble, who will manage a club in the Southern League. Donlin is a much better ball player than McKimble, but if he hits any better he is a wonder.

Willie Ritchee says the team he cured his injured heel, and advanced a few miles of the Argentine on day while training. This would be great stuff if the boxers would refine their turkey trotting to the east and forget it when they enter the ring.

They have admitted "Cap" Ansel into the ranks of the amateurs, that he can play in the classed circles, but no such luck is coming Jim Thorpe's way as far as amateur go. There's many a day, too, when the Indian feels just like going west and smashing a few long snappers records.

George Chip's hands, injuries which have necessitated his ceasing several bouts, are now ready for action again. We presume that Frank Klaus, Mike Gibbons, Eddie McKeown and Jack Britton would experience little sorrow if Mr. Chip's hands were fractured irremediably.

With California producing 100,000,000 barrels of petroleum a year, and agents claiming their oil will run seventeen miles per gallon of gasoline, how much does it cost to see Chinatown in a taxi?
Don't speak of it as a weakness of the stomach in referring to Conkey. It has been one of the grandest stomachs of all time; a fit mate to the brain and (inside dope) it acquires as much stomach as brain to be a great baseball leader.

Jack Britton received an offer of $6000 for three bouts in Australia with the privilege of thirty per cent of the gross receipts. Danny Morgan, however, held out for a guarantee of $10,000 and two return trip tickets.

AVOID STUFFY, WHEEZY BREATHING
Take Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for an inflamed and congested condition of the air passages and bronchial tubes. A cold and croup quickly if not checked and bronchitis, la grippe and pneumonia are dangerous possibilities. These racking coughs weaken the system, but Foley's Honey and Tar is safe, pure and certain in results. Contains no opiates. Owl Prescription Pharmacy, Frank D. Coban, Coos Bay, Phone 74. Coos Bay Chandler Hotel, local agent.

Open day and night. MERCHANT'S CAFE. Broadway and Commercial. FAMILY DINNERS

The world assumes a brighter hue. For all the ball teams far and near. Have started their spring training.
