A COOS BAY CONDITION

COOS BAY is going right ahead to that point and place and power which nature ordained for her. Her progress may not be as swift as that of some places and spots which have less of individual and group selfishness to combat than she has.

CONCERNING CANDIDATES.

CANDIDATES are busy giving reasons why they are running for office. If you keep your ears open a little you'll hear a number of reasons for keeping some of them out of office.

AN OPPORTUNITY.

A CITY planning commission is now being appointed in many cities. It is composed of leading citizens representative of all interests, who serve without pay.

THE TWO KAYS.

GET the name—Thomas B. Kay—well fixed in your mind. He is a man who deserves the support of all Republicans at the primary election, being a candidate to succeed himself as state treasurer.

ELECTION STYLES

AN EXCHANGE says that the Chicago women are saving their spring suits and hats to wear to the polls at the coming municipal election. It implies that the event may be one to rival the Easter parade.

HIGHER TAXES

THE evil of rising rates of taxation seems to exist in every part of the United States. The tax rate of Illinois for 1914 is 70 cents. This is an increase over 32 cents over 1913 and the highest rate ever reached in that state.

PICKLED CANDIDATES.

T HAS been discovered that timber which falls in Great Salt Lake is pickled and preserved. Some is often true of a candidate who goes up Salt River. He's pickled but comes back seeking office in another campaign.

THREE ODD THINGS.

Odd than an elephant can trumpet when it hasn't any horns. Odd that the hands of a clock may be behind time, though they are always in front.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

If they just keep up this fuss much longer the British government will consider Ulster more as an ulcer on the Irish map.

The magnificent ocean steamship recently launched is nearly 1000 feet in length, and among its fittings are a skating rink and garden, with beds of roses and carnations and arbors skillfully contrived by expert florists.

Many of the world's seaport cities are anticipating a growth in their sea traffic next year, and all of them think that the Panama Canal will be the real "route" of it.

Many of the world's great men are unknown to fame. They are great because they share their pleasures with others and keep their troubles to themselves.—Exchange.

WITH THE TOAST AND THE TEA

GOOD EVENING

Canst thou see no beauty high? Cure thy dull, distempered eye, Canst thou no sweet music hear? Tune thy sad, discordant ear.

APRIL

It makes me almost angry, when I hear people say Things very dark and "drippy" about an April day.

Some Coos Bay men tell the truth simply because they lack imagination.

After a man has taken the free advice of his friends he sometimes has to pay for the advice of a lawyer to get him out of a fix.

He who gives too much attention to the business of other people, is surely neglecting his own.

Teach your girl how to cook and if she does not thank you somebody's son will thank you for her.

The thief who steals your peace of mind is meaner than the one who steals your property.

Cruel words seldom cut lazy people to the quick.

Premature gray hairs cause the good to dye young.

Hero worship is often but another name for self-esteem.

Take things easy, if they don't belong to others.

Once in a great while there is a political boss who gets away with it at home.

Garbage and love letters should be burned before they create trouble.

Men and women take desperate chances sometimes—for instance, when they get married.

Satan furnishes his own gasoline when you permit him to act as your chauffeur.

It may be better to give than receive, but few of us are in a position to keep it up indefinitely.

STORY FOR THE DAY.

A little girl of eight, known to the Kansas City Star, asked her mother: "Mamma, what are boys after they are dead—elfa?"

"GRANDMA" TODD IS 104.

Spends Day Smoking and Chatting with Friends. WALLA WALLA, Wash., April 2.—"Grandma" Sarah Todd celebrated her 104th birthday at the Northwestern Christian Science home the other day, smoking, chatting with her friends, and missing to a considerable extent the friends of years she left at Eugene, Or., when she came to Walla Walla, ten days ago.

The day was also the birthday anniversary of the matron of the home, Mrs. J. B. Noel, and visitors were numerous.

"Grandma" makes her own bed and dresses herself. She finds her way with ease about the home, which contains eighteen rooms, and spends most of her time in the kitchen. Her sight is failing and she is partially deaf. She never learned to read or write. While still a strong devotee of a corncob pipe, she does not smoke as much as when she came. She was born in Kentucky.

NEW FASHIONS FULL OF FRILLS

More Accessories to Costume This Spring Than in Many Seasons

NEW YORK, April 1.—By the distinctive details of her toilette, you may know the woman versed in the sophistications of dress. This season accessories will play an important part in the scheme of dress, and they will receive careful consideration. Brocade and silk handbags are one of the most important accessories. They are for every occasion, from the shopping expedition, which needs a good stout reticule, from grandmother's times, to the dainty frilly and lacey little addition to a dance or evening toilette. Parasols are also more picturesque this year than ever before, and are made in combinations of materials, and trimmed with grinders of roses. All hats are worn aslant over the right ear, even the tiniest turbans a la Tommy Atkins, and they seem poised at a most perilous angle. As the headgear is small, and practically rimless, the wise woman goes without a veil, so that the eyelashes will not suffer. Collars are square across the shoulders, or rolling, with a great flare at the throat; while the high collar will doubtlessly die a natural death with the approach of summer. Quite the newest thing in furberles is the chiffon muffs, which may be in a tone of the color to match the gown. It is draped diagonally, from one flower-trimmed corner to the other, which straying flowers drop from velvet ribbon ends. Soft ruffles fall gracefully at the sides, completing the dainty, light and airy effect of milady's latest Easter extravaganza.

LOCAL OVERFLOW.

A. E. ADELSPERGER has returned from a trip to the Coquille Valley. He was amused by a reporter on the Portland Journal getting him mixed up with someone else during his recent trip to Portland and branding him as "former mayor or an attorney of Marshfield."

PLAN TO AID NEEDY FAMILY

J. C. Doane Heads Movement to Provide Home for Mrs. McLaughlin and Children

J. C. Doane, Dr. Leslie and Alva Dell and a number of South Marshfield residents are today taking steps to assist Mrs. C. H. McLaughlin and children. They are in distressed circumstances since the fire wiped out their home.

At a meeting there today, it was arranged to have J. C. Doane make a canvass and try and raise funds to provide a home for them. Mrs. John Nagle was appointed secretary and treasurer.

The plan is to raise sufficient funds to buy a small house and lot or make the first payment on a lot and erect a small house and let the family pay for it. The property is to be turned over to Miss Helen McLaughlin as trustee for the family. J. C. Merchant has offered to sell them a lot near where their home burned for $350 on partial payments, accepting a small payment down and $10 per month. A small house and lot is also being considered.

By doing this, the money raised for their aid will not be paid out in rent, the committee feels.

The committee has also arranged so that the charity will not be extended to C. H. McLaughlin, so that there need be no hesitancy of anyone contributing.

Parties wishing to assist can either see or telephone Mr. Doane or have him call on them.

Miss Helen McLaughlin has agreed to the plan and will now make her home with her mother and the children and aid in carrying out the committee's plan.

DAY'S NEWS IN POLICE COURT

Large Number of Offenders in City Jail—Some of the Charges and Excuses

Tom Henry James, a logger employed in the Smith-Powers camps, was arrested by Officer Gordon Smith and charged with drunkenness. He had no funds and promised to send his remittance as soon as he found work again.

C. C. Young, who was arrested for being intoxicated and for using vulgar and indecent language and who had been arrested twice before had no funds and was assigned the task of manuring the Marshfield boulevards for the next three days.

Jack Rand was arrested at 11:45 last evening and charged with drunkenness. He had $31.20 in his possession and was relieved of $5 by paying his fine.

D. Smith was arrested on Wednesday evening by Officer Richardson. No charge was placed against him, Richardson leaving notice to hold him until today, when a charge will in all probability be placed against him. Smith said that he was standing outside a local saloon, when Richardson told him he had better go home. He said he was waiting for his pal and Richardson then accompanied him to the city hall.

Sam Matthews was arrested on Wednesday afternoon for imbibing in liquid refreshments to the extent of being unreasonable. He had $3.10 in cash and was fined $5 by Recorder Butler today, necessitating the borrowing of $2 from a friend to secure his release from the "cooler."

There will be an important meeting of the Farmers' Union No. 66, at Odd Fellows' Hall, April 4, at 10 o'clock. All members are urged to be present. Anybody wishing to join us please present yourself at this meeting.

GLEE CLUB TO SING FRIDAY

Willamette Organization—Arrives—Dean Mendenhall's Seasick Prophecy

"I'll surely feed the fish on the way to the sunny city of Marshfield," moaned our good friend, Professor Mendenhall, Dean of Music, as he can feel that peculiar sensation creeping on his nose, and the poor, billowy frightened music-master shuddered with horror, for he recalled the days when he returned from Oxford and the unobdurate sea had kicked and waves high enough to strike a hardened sailor. "But," he continued, "I'll have the satisfaction of seeing 'Baldy' Mills and Aeri!'"

Although I cannot say exactly whether the rest will be similarly humorous, I will be safe in saying that every all will arrive in the city by the way in such a condition that concerts will not be given for a day or two.

The above remarks were made previous to the trip by Willamette Glee Club, and if the personal appearance of the director's face and those of the club, means anything, the foregoing was a splendid piece of fortune-telling.

However, the club arrived in good spirits on the Breakwater today and is prepared to give an excellent program Friday evening. They all expressed themselves as having had a "delightful" trip down the coast and are particularly well pleased with the city and the surrounding country as much as they have so far been able to see.

A reception will be tendered the club members by the High school students at the school building the afternoon from four to five o'clock.
