Jim Hill on Town Building

THE preservation of the home town and the home merchant is becoming an important one. It is closely allied with the back-to-the-farm movement. The city is overdone. The tendency to still further overdo it threatens the welfare of the nation.

The growth of the mail-order business has been at the expense of the small-town merchant, and it has been so rapid that the continued prosperity, in many cases existence of the small town, is threatened. A majority of the small towns in the East are beginning to go back on account of it. As a result, the country tributary is also going backward.

This dangerous tendency is arousing the attention of the big men of the country, who are bending their energies to check the trend. Here comes one of the real town builders, James J. Hill, with a forceful presentation of the real gospel. In a letter addressed to Editor Mannix of the Commercial News, he says:

"The local market in every community is the key of the situation.

"If it is well patronized, and, in turn, its patrons can buy and sell there advantageously, the arrangement is a powerful aid to the upbuilding of local interests and the steady increase of home prosperity. The growing custom of ordering from some distant concern goods for ordinary consumption that could be just as well purchased from the local merchants is one of the influences causing the disproportionate growth of our cities at the expense of the country and the small town.

"To correct this evil, both parties should co-operate. The local merchant should keep in touch with outside markets and prices, so as to offer good quality and favorable terms.

"He can do this because his lower expenses fully balance the advantage which the big concern may have through buying and selling in large quantities.

"If he does not keep an article in stock, he should be prepared to supply it in as short a time and at as low a price as it can be obtained elsewhere. He cannot expect to hold his trade at the customer's expense.

"Conversely, the buyers should always remember that, other things being equal, it is money in his pocket to buy at home. By that he encourages home effort, builds up home industry, improves the home market for what he sells, and keeps the money of the community at home.

"It makes a vast difference to people whether the profits from its business remain for disbursement or investment in the neighborhood or go to the big city. In the long run it determines the life or death of the country town and the local market.

"Buying at long range creates commercially the same conditions that are so universally felt where absentee landlordism prevails.

"If farmers, local business men and local merchants should unite to build up and maintain home trade it would add wonderfully to the prosperity of them all. Such co-operation is a part of the solution of the problem of making country life more attractive and profitable."

ELY'S CREAM BALM OPENS CLOGGED NOSTRILS AND HEAD--CATARRH GOES

Instantly Clears Air Passages; You Breathe Freely, Nasty Discharge Stops; Head Colds and Dull Headache Vanish.

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone. End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils, penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat, clears the air passages, stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately. Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping in to the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but surely needless. Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm"—and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents. Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.
