Newsy Briefs From All Over the County

FATHER AT LANGLOIS.

Andrew H. Bossen, a timber cruiser, formerly a resident of Curry county, is under arrest at Springfield Junction, Oregon, for wife murder. It is alleged he administered poison to his wife to realize on a $5000 life insurance policy recently made in his favor, and because of his infatuation for her half sister, Dolly Levins. Bossen formerly was a resident of Langlois and his father still resides in that vicinity.—Bandon World.

NORTH INLET

Special to the Times
Mr. Spencer Small has received word from Mrs. Small, who was called to her former home in Beverly, Mass., by the illness of her mother, stating that she had arrived safely in Boston and that her mother is much better.
Rev. G. LeRoy Hall of Marshfield conducted services at the North Inlet Chapel last Sabbath. He will have charge of services here on the first Sabbath of each month.
Mrs. Laura McRae and Miss David Howard have gone to Everett, Washington, for a several week's stay, after which they will visit in New York, and other eastern cities, and also in their former home at Charlotetown, Prince Edward Island.
About a hundred men have been added to the force engaged in clearing and construction work for the new railroad.
J. M. Thomas visited friends here enroute to and from Lakeside, last week.
Frank Hamilton, who has been running the launch "Signal," now as the "Marshfield" a much larger and better equipped launch. His many patrons will appreciate his efforts to give them the best of accommodation.
James Balth of Marshfield, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Charles Hamilton.
Reuben Lyon and son, Reuben, Jr., were Sunday visitors here.
An enjoyable dance was held at the North Inlet hall Saturday night. A large crowd was in attendance.
C. H. Marsh is here on an inspection trip over the Southern Pacific right of way.

BIG PAGEANT IS ASSURED.

Florence Prepares for the Rhododendra Carnival.
FLORENCE, Or., April 8.—The Florence Rhododendra Carnival for this year is now assured. Some months ago at a mass meeting called by the mayor, a carnival committee consisting of F. Smith, H. L. McKee, A. O. Knowles was elected. This committee found conditions so discouraging that they decided that a carnival was not wanted and handed in their resignations. This event aroused the dormant enthusiasm and another mass meeting was called Friday night at which William Kyle, Dr. Edwards and William Brynd were named as the new committee.
The business men of the city immediately came to the front and pledged $550 toward carnival expenses. This amount was raised from only a few of the business men and the new carnival committee feels confident that sufficient funds will be raised to make the pageant of this year even more successful than in the past years. This will be the seventh carnival of Rhododendra that Florence has celebrated.

BANDON AT FAIR.

Want Coquille Valley to Have Building at Exposition.
The Bandon World says: That the Bandon business men want to see the city represented at the big San Francisco exposition next year was signified at the meeting of the Commercial Club Friday evening. The matter was brought up and nearly all expressed themselves in favor. The club seems to be in favor of either having a county display like that at the Lewis & Clark show in Portland or a Coquille Valley show. It was suggested that a separate building be erected of native logs and fitted up with displays of the various industries and also moving pictures and a competent lecturer. The idea is to have films made from local scenery, showing the exact nature of the country, the methods of lumbering, dairying, shipping, etc. All the pictures would be taken in the county or in the Coquille Valley.

BANDON NAVAL MILITIA.

The disbandment of the fifth division of the Oregon Naval Militia is now complete. Lieut. L. P. Sorenson having just received the honorable discharges for the men. The local division was one of the most efficient along the coast, but unsatisfactory conditions which prevented the boys from getting what they wanted caused them to disband until some future time when they expect to again become organized.—Bandon World.

New Things on the Market

PORTLAND, Or., April 8.—The Telegram says: As spring advances, the variety of good things in the vegetable line being offered in the retail markets of the city is steadily increasing. For a long time but little Oregon-grown stuff was to be had, but last week receipts began to increase, and now things are really looking up.
Another thing which will really please the housewives is to learn that the wholesale price of butter has been cut from 27 1/2 and 29 cents to 25 cents. This has been occasioned by the fact that the make has increased and all the creameries now have surplus stocks on hand. The shipping demand has fallen off, and markets in neighboring states are weak. As a result it is reasonable to suppose prices will fall still lower in the near future. At retail butter should not be over 30 cents a pound, or a two-pound roll for 55 cents.
To return to the vegetable market, a list of Oregon-grown stuff, together with prices, which are to be had today, follow: Hothouse cucumbers, 20 cents each; cauliflower, 15 cents each; lettuce, three bunches for a dime; asparagus, 10 cents; horseradish root, 15c; field lettuce, 20 cents; spinach, two pounds, 15c. Besides these things there are good carrots at 5 cents a dozen; turnips, beets and watercress at 5 cents a bunch; radish and green onions; 3 bunches for a nickel; dry onions, 5 cents a pound; cabbage greens, 5 cents a pound; cultivated dandelions, 10 cents a pound. From California come green peas at two pounds for a quarter; wax and green stringless beans, 30 and 25 cents a pound; head lettuce, two for 15 cents; tomatoes, 20 cents; cabbage, 4 cents a pound; Florida celery is 10, 15 and 20 cents, but very scarce; Bermuda onions, 12 1/2 cents a pound; green peppers, 50 cents a pound; kale, 5 cents a head; new potatoes, 10 cents a pound or three pounds for 25 cents; sweet potatoes, 5 cents a pound.

In the fish market Chinook salmon has advanced 2 cents a pound and is now quoted at 22 cents; halibut is 10 cents; shad and black cod, 12 1/2 cents a pound; sea trout, 25 cents; shad roe, 40 cents a pound; halibut cheeks, 15 cents a pound; Sandy River smelt, 5 cents a pound; crabs, 10 to 25 cents, according to size; lobster, 35 cents a pound; razor clams, 15 cents a dozen.
In the poultry market prices held about the same as last week, with hens bringing 25 cents a pound; broilers, 35 cents a pound; squabs, 30 to 60 cents a pound, but scarce as are broilers; ducks and turkeys, 30 cents a pound.
Eggs are unchanged. Some stores ask 20 cents a dozen and others 25 cents, or two dozen for 45 cents. A sharp outlook should be kept for Chinese eggs, as there is a possibility of their being found here and there but none of the reputable stores will have any thing to do with them.
No change in meat prices. Supplies remain good in all lines.
Fruit offerings are not particularly varied. Navel oranges are all the way from 15 to 35 cents a dozen; lemons, 25 and 30 cents a dozen; Florida grape fruit, two for 25 cents; California grape fruit, two for 15 cents; bananas, 15 and 20 cents a dozen; apples, 20 to 50 cents a dozen, according to variety.

BUTTER TAKES ANOTHER DROP.

Quoted Lowest Price Known at Portland for Many Years.
PORTLAND, Or., April 8.—The spring decline in butter prices has started. A number of the leading Portland creameries reduced their prices four cents a pound, to 25 cents.
Production of butter is increasing at a rapid rate, and in some quarters a surplus is on hand. Extremely low markets in the East and in California also influence the local prices.
The wholesale quotation this morning will be the lowest in Portland on this date in many years.
