Meet Tonight.—The North Bend Chamber of Commerce will meet tonight and hear the report of the water committee which was appointed at the last meeting.

Evening Concert.—The Coos Bay Concert Band will give a concert at the Masonic a week from tonight, according to an announcement made today by Director Fenton.

Politician's View.—The Langlois Leader says: A. Adolfsen returned from Coos county Thursday morning, where he went to interview his friends. He says he did not know he had so many friends and feels quite enthused over his trip.

Signs of Spring.—Marshal J. W. Carter has allowed his moustache to sprout out and says he intends to allow the same to grow to its normal size again, stating that it was only by accident that he allowed the ornament to be severed from his countenance.

Ferry Traffic.—During the month of March, Capt. Alex Hall of the ferry Transit reports that they carried sixty-four autos, twenty-three head of stock, seventy-six double teams, 279 single rigs and 5741 passengers between Marshfield and East-side.

Want Fly-Trap.—The Progress Club has sent to Prof. Hodge at Oregon University for a sample fly-trap which is said to be a greater destructive agency than the "swatter." They expect it to arrive soon and will place it on exhibition here so that local people can get ideas of new ways to get rid of the fly nuisance.

Beginns Storm.—W. A. Storm, through C. I. Reigard has begun suit in Justice Pennock's court for $12, which he alleges is due him from Perham & Gidley for labor. Justice Pennock has been informed that Perham & Gidley stated that they paid Storm by check, but he maintains he never received it.

No Council.—The North Bend City Council did not meet last evening as expected by many, the next meeting to take place on Tuesday evening, April 14, when many matters in connection with street improvements will come up, among others the hard surfacing to be used on Sherman avenue.

Likes Coos Bay.—Dr. W. B. Richardson, the optometrist and his brother, H. W. Richardson who have returned to their home in Spokane after an extended stay in Marshfield express themselves as very favorably impressed with Coos Bay and its prospects. Dr. Richardson says he feels grateful for the patronage he received and expects some day to return to this city.

Choose Patronesses.—Rev. Father A. R. Munro has selected the following as patronesses for the Easter Monday ball which the ladies of St. Monica's Catholic church will give at the Eagles' Hall next Monday night:

Plan Dance.—The Allegany Glee Club will give a dance at the Allegany Hall on Saturday evening, April 11. Arrangements will be made for a special boat to leave Marshfield in the evening, which will be announced later.

Ancient Party.—The smart set of Sumner will don their old togs on Saturday evening, April 11th, and assemble at an old clothes party to be given at the Sumner Hall. A most enjoyable time will ensue, the boys planning to attire themselves in overalls and the young ladies in calico.

Motor to Beach.—An automobile party of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gregg and daughter, Mrs. Hansen, and Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Cople and family left for Charleston Bay today. Another party of H. W. Painter and family and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Reid left for Charleston Bay today, the whole party anticipating a trip to Sunset bay if the roads will permit.

Lost Bet.—Tom Hall yesterday lost a bet wagering that the U. S. Constitutional amendment providing for the direct election of senators had not been approved by the requisite number of states. The Seventeenth Amendment, which provides for the direct election of Senators, became effective May 31, 1913. Mr. Hall and Judge Watkins had announced in their platforms for state representative that they would support Statement No. 1.

New Road.—Plans are being made for extending the new county road about a mile beyond Shinglehouse Inlet this summer. A new stretch of road will also be put on the Marshfield-Coquille county road near the Kruse place, the new piece reducing the distance and being of better grade by paralleling the local railway. The other day Traut & Hoglie were given the contract for clearing a quarter of a mile of new road on China Camp Creek, between Coquille and Coaledo.

Lecture Here.—Prof. J. H. Gilbert of the Department of Economics of the State University at Eugene will deliver a free lecture at the Marshfield Presbyterian church April 13 on "Education and Public Opinion." It is another number of the University Extension Course under the direction of the Marshfield College Women's Club, the first two lectures having been delivered by Dr. Hodge and Prof. Reddie.

Is Appointed.—Portland papers announce the appointment of Miss Miriam Van Waters as superintendent of the Frazer Detention Home there, succeeding Samuel R. White. She has just returned from the East, where she has been making an extended study of welfare work. Miss Van Waters is the daughter of Rev. Geo. Van Waters, an Episcopal clergyman of Portland, and is well known on Coos Bay, having visited here a few years ago with Mrs. M. C. Maloney and other friends.

Aid for Family.—Mrs. Ledward and others are endeavoring to secure additional aid for the McHale family, whose plight was brought to the attention of the public recently. A house was found for them at Eastside, but they are in need of furniture, etc, and Mrs. Ledward would like to have anyone having a cookstove or other furniture, even though they are not in first-class shape, that they could contribute, to let her know.
