WIFEY READS THE NEWSPAPER

"What's in the news? It's hard to choose.
Ah! Madame Mode announces Spring gowns with ruffings, pan-liners, puffings,
And extra wide hip flounces.
"Though black-and-white is not dead quite,
Silks, taffetas and moire,
Rose, capucine and vivid green
Are featured in this story.
"The silhouette is changed—and yet,
Upon the Riviera,
One may expect the blouse effect.
As well as the bolero.
"Coquettes a Pout!—You've heard enough?
These topics are the leading,
Finance? war? sports; things of that sort—
I don't see much worth reading."

GIRLS are making themselves mighty cheap these days," announced the dark-complexioned young man. "You can't take the same girl out twice without her thinking you are serious and acting as if she was just about engaged to you."

"Oh, not all girls," expostulated his older sister. "And you must remember that the modern girl has to attend to her own courting affairs. Where the girl of today thinks you have intentions when you take her out twice, a generation ago her father would have asked your intentions if you'd taken his daughter out twice."

"Things were better off at that," insisted the young man. A fellow had more respect for the girl. You didn't blame her so much, even if you knew her mother was fishing for a husband for her daughter.

"But what gets me is why mothers are so anxious for their daughters to get married. When I see all the trouble that married women have it seems to me they'd want to keep their daughters out of it instead of encouraging them to get into it."

"I think you're wrong there," declared the sister. "I don't believe mothers are as anxious for their daughters to marry as they used to be. At least not where a girl earns money and turns it into the family fund. You see, lots of mothers never had any of the comforts of life until their daughters got old enough to earn money, and most mothers with money-earning daughters expect them to turn all their wages into the home and resent the idea that the daughter may marry and cease contributing. It's a rather one-sided affair, too, because the mother fully expects the son to marry some day, and even before he marries she considers it all right for him to use his money for himself beyond paying her a trifling board—sometimes he doesn't even pay that."

These mothers are not urging their daughters to marry and not affording any opportunities for marriage, as mothers used to do. That's why the girls are going out and hunting up beaux for themselves. That's why they're cheap, as you say."

"Maybe you're right, Sis," sighed the dark-complexioned young man, "but it's tough on us fellows. I like to go with nice girls and be nice to 'em, but when they begin to act as if they had a mortgage on me I get scared. I don't see anything but trouble in this marriage business, anyway, and why everybody goes around pretending that it's heavenly bliss, I can't understand. None of your marrying for me."

"Just wait until you're forty-five or so," cautioned Sis.

"Then I'll pick out a good, sensible woman who can make me comfortable," he answered.

"No, you won't," she laughed. "You'll marry a grass widow or some young girl with pink cheeks who'll want to drag you out to the moving picture show every other night."

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Last Saturday, Mrs. Mattie Cousins, of North Bend, entertained a number of young folks in honor of the eleventh birthday of Miss Ora Cousins. At the conclusion of the afternoon, the hostess, assisted by Mrs. L. A. Loomis, served dainty refreshments. GOING & HARVEY CO.

Complete House Furnishers

Announcing the new Royal Model 10.

Speed Up to 60 Minutes an Hour

By Taking the "Grind" Out of Typewriting

The new adjustable Touch; Just turn the knob and regulate the touch of the ROYAL.

AND SMILE, for here at last is the master machine built to turn out more letters in the same working day. The new Royal Master-Model 10 speeds up the day's work and sets the pace in your "Letter Factory" to the quickstep of efficiency.

BECAUSE the new Royal's rapid-fire action and tremendous advantages of superior convenience—with its marvelously elastic touch—takes the "grind" out of typewriting. You cannot tire yourself with this perfectly running machine, during any ordinary working day.

For it adds to the sensitive fingers of the typist the one vital thing which the old-style typewriter subtracts—speed.

The speed with brains behind it—the real life speed of the expert typist, setting the pace that pays. Errorless speed is the kind of speed that counts. Common sense has punctured the illusion of the other kind. All-day speed, throbbing evenly with the big, steady pulse of modern business—that's the speed of the new Royal 10.

And combined with 100 per cent speed, a machine with 100 per cent accuracy—100 per cent visibility—100 per cent durability—making 100 per cent efficiency. A typewriter with the many-keyed personality of its regulated touch; always adjustable at the "turn of the knob."

The Royal is the only $100 typewriter of Triple-Service—it writes, types cards and bills! So it helps the business pendulum to swing on time. And it improves the QUALITY of typewrite "presswork."

A Word or Two About "Good Furniture"

The general impression exists that "Good Furniture" carries with it the meaning "Expensive Furniture." It is a wrong impression, at least as far as the displays of "Good Furniture" in this store are concerned, for here one finds single pieces and complete suites, built in a worthy manner, of selected materials and authentic in reproduction of acknowledged leading style designs at moderate prices. We give considerable prominence to the showing of such furniture, for we know it is furniture of this type that finds its way into the homes of intelligent people. We invite your inspection of our displays. You may examine them without obligation. It is our pleasure to point out the merits possessed by "Good Furniture" at moderate prices.
