

COOS BAY TIMES

H. C. MALONEY Editor and Pub. DAN E. MALONEY News Editor Official Paper of Coos County AN EXPENSIVE VICTORY.

PRESIDENT WILSON is going to win in his desire to have the Panama Canal tolls exemption of American ships repealed, but the cost of his victory to himself is going to be very great because the cost of his victory to American commerce is going to be very great and no man can do the thing that he is doing without paying a penalty, because the thing he is doing is wrong.

WITH THE TOAST AND THE TEA

GOOD EVENING.

In forming opinions a man or woman owes no consideration to any person or persons whatever. Truth is the single object. It is truth that in the forum of conscience claims an undivided allegiance. — John Morley.

MY PLATFORM.

(Written for The Times) Dear Voter, listen to my plea. That earnestly I send to thee, To mark your ticket with a cross Right after my name! See, "old boss?"

I need your vote, indeed I do, And that of all your family too; Every one that I can get, From Handsome Bill to Lovely Net.

I'm sure the right man for the place, Just behold my honest face! I'll banish every kind of work, I'll banish every kind of jerk.

You'll have naught to do but loaf and play, And still get the highest kind of pay, I'll cut out every kind of tax, And go for graft with a big broad-axe.

I'll get you all a pension, sure, And build a road before your door; I'll marry all your daughters to high lords, And all your sons to heiresses, mark my words.

I'll boast my salary all I can, Just like the average Congressman, And gobble up the mileage too, And then divide it all with you.

All the Weits can count on me, Also the Drys—I know how, you see! I'll fill the earth with gladness cheer With nary a trick for you to fear.

If there's aught on earth that I've forgot, Just mention it—I'll do it on the spot. I'm humble now, indeed I am, Just like a meek and mild-eyed lamb.

So when you come to cast your vote Just see that I'm not made the goat. After MY name, oh please annex That beautiful, that lovely X.

(In secret session, behind closed doors and padlock):

When I've the JOB, you know, I'll tell where YOU may go—Signed, but not read,

Incog Nito. (Made in Marshfield, patent applied for.)

THEY ARE ALL BIG WINNERS

The Ford Car and Its Equipment and Operating Features Helped Win

Goodroads Goodrum was all smiles this afternoon despite the dripping gray skies outside. He was receiving congratulations on the remarkable record and victory of the Ford car in its race against time from North Bend to Bullards. "The Ford is a world-beater, all right," remarked Mr. Goodrum "and it also had world beating equipment on this trip. The wheels were fitted with United States "Nobby Tread" tires, the Ford special "Champion X" spark plugs, Ford special cylinder oil and Red Crown gasoline furnished the power. There is always team work and efficiency as well as economy in the Ford and its equipment." Mr. Goodrum continued, "and today's race only emphasizes what I have always maintained that the Ford is the best car in the world for Coos County roads at all seasons and in all sorts of weather."

FINED $5 FOR TABLE MANNERS

Victor Larson Pays Fine for Teaching Watski—Latter Accused of Theft

Victor Larson, blacksmith at the Hennessey mine, who was charged with assisting John Watski, was fined $5 today by Justice Pennock. Watski claimed that Larson threw three pancakes in his face and then beat him up. Larson said that Watski was a "table hog" and said that he had decided to teach him some manners. He claimed that Watski would eat out of the serving plates or would dump stuff back off his plate into the serving plates, much to the disgust of the other boarders. On hearing this, Justice Pennock decided that Watski got what was coming to him.

$50 Is Missing

Today Chas. Johnson swore out a warrant charging Watski with stealing $50 from him. He claimed that Watski went to his partner, Dan McClellan, and got the key to the tool chest and in some pretext took the $50 out of his pocketbook there. Constable Cox left today to arrest Watski.

Many Threaten Watski.

Constable Cox said that all the miners at Hennessey's mine were angry at Watski and were threatening him to force him to leave camp. He said it looked like serious trouble.

CAPT. DOLLAR AS A LOGGER

Millionaire San Francisco Man at Bear Creek Camp—Directs Affairs

(Special to The Times.) COQUILLE, Or., April 14.—Capt. Robert Dollar, head of the Dollar Lumber company and Dollar Steamship company, is spending a few days in the valley looking after the Johnson Lumber company and Seeley & Anderson Logging company, of which he is trustee. Despite his seventy years of age, he is going right into the thick of the work to get it going the way he thinks it should. He had the Seeley & Anderson logging camp started and in order to personally supervise the work, he has spent four days and nights there, eating with the loggers and sleeping in the bunkhouse. He is also spending some time at the mill.

No one would think to see him directing affairs in the logging camp that he was a millionaire and probably exercises more influence with the government of China than any other American.

He has the mill cutting at capacity and has reduced the freight rate on the Grace Dollar fifty cents per thousand. Despite this, the Grace Dollar is making good money.

Mill to Start. Receiver Newton expects to get the Coquille Mill & Mercantile company's plant here going soon and will cut only for the local trade for the time being.

There is a seven-foot fence around the orchard, but they hop over it. A special permit to shoot deer may be given Dr. Dix or Ben M'Mullen, in their orchard.

WINNER

A race from North Bend to Bandon, a distance of 32 miles over mountain roads supposed to be impossible for an auto to navigate, took place today. The Hup challenged the WIDE, WIDE world and the Ford took her up and won in a walk. The Hup time was six hours and twenty-five minutes, while the FORD made it in three hours and fifty-one minutes. The little Ford carried four passengers the entire distance without a mishap and is in the prime of condition to return. The little Ford was a regular 1913 Stock Car that has been run upwards of 20,000 miles, and was equipped with the Famous Nobby Tread United States Tires and Ford Special Champion spark plugs and used Ford Special Cylinder Oil and Red Crown Gasoline. The driver was Going Some Edgar Simpson and his lieutenants were Burritt and Ed Lindberg while Hyde went in behalf of the Hup to see that the race was on the square.
