BETTER VET.

THE world is chock full of rich blessings and wonderful people worth while; but, of all the bring, there is only one thing Gods that can beat being able to smile. For a woman may smile and be furious and patiently wait for the chance to humble the one who some mischief has done by merely a word or a glance. And a man may seem cheerful and pleasant, though inside he is just fighting mad. He who beats them a mile is the man who can smile all the time just because he is glad.

WOODEN VERSUS CON-CRETE WHARVES.

SAN FRANCISCO is having a little of concrete and wooden piling for the new state wharves. To refute the contention that there is politics back of the plans President Dwyer of the state harbor commission has made this statement:

With regard to the type of construction of the new piers on the San Francisco waterfront, that is a mat-ter solely for the engineers to decide and the board of harbor commission ers simply follow their decision. Our policy has been to build solid con-crete plers where the foundation conditions permit of it, but in certain places, where the mud is very deep over one-hundred feet, and very soft, it is impossible to build of concrete to foundation, there being practically no foundation and is a matter of nec essity in such localities, we build of creosoted wooden piles, the life of which is from fifteen to thirty years." ter, have been practically complet-ed by the Mashfield Chamber of Com-

THE COMMUNITY INDEX

HE newspaper is the best advertisement a community has-better than all the fine literature and fancy pamphets sent It tells the story of the town out. and of the country, reflects its progress or retrogression. A prosperous and well-patronized newspaper indicates a prosperous community." These were among the remarks made by E. D. Timms of Portland to the Medford merchants in a talk to put them upon the benefit of newspaper advertising. The remarks are true, because the newspaper reflects the everyday life of the community and W HEN Tom Richardson visited Coos Bay in May, 1907, at the invita-tion of the Chamber of Commerce, after he had been shown around the mills, mines, farms and creameries and had been told of the vast quantities of timber and coal tributary to this great harbor, he said: "I have often heard of Coos Eay and its great resources and gladly accepted your kind invitation to spead down here to belo you lat the world

"I have often heard of Coos Eay and its great resources and gladly accepted your kind invitation to come down here to help you let the world know what you have that it needs, but I must say that I am very much disappointed, especially in Marshfield, a town that has existed for forty years and does not have one modern fireproof business building, not one foot of paved street, not a decent hotel where a man would dare to take a meal or spend a night, a poor equipment for fire protection and a poor-er lighting system. Not only your business houses but your residences show poor taste. In fact, you have a regular "slab town." If you wish to impress the visitor with the idea that you are a prosperous community you must show him that you haveconfidence in your town by investing your money in good buildings, paved streets and up to date public utilities. I was shown where a team mired in the road at your principal business your money in good buildings, paved streets and up to date public utilities. I was shown where a team mired in the road at your principal business corner during the past winter, and you would ask people to locate where such conditions are looked upon asa joke. I tell you God Almighty never gave any community enough material resources to create a city, and unless you have the right kind of men here you always will be a slab town. Now if you are in earnest in trying to beiter your conditions. I am willing to help you; but I will not undertake it unless you raise $7000 for the first year's work."

Within one hour after a ringing appeal to a large assembly in the Opera House, he succeeded in raising $600 per month for the ensuing year and that was the beginning of the great work that has been accomplished year's work." by the Chamber of Commerce in building up this modern city on the waters R. H. E. of Coos Bay.

the best possible index to everyday conditions.

A newspaper is just as good as its patronage. If it is better the pub-tisher is loosing money. If it is poorer it cannot cold its support. It is the atin of every editor to produce as good a paper as he possibly can with the money available, and it is a matter of personal pride to make the paper just a little better than the support justifies, says the Medford Mail Tribune. Consequently the better patronage, the better newspaper and the better for the community.

While the circulation is the life-blood of the newspaper, the advertising is the bread and butter. Circutation is useless if not appreciated by the advertiser. The more adver-tising, the more stimulus for increasing the number of readers and the more benefit to the advertiser.

A newspaper whose columns are filled with live advertising shows that the merchants of the publication city are wildeau city are wideawake and that the city likelf is progressive

Newspaper building is largely a matter of co-operation for the ention is not forthcoming, neither money or energy will accomplish the desired result. The assistance of the community is just as essential for the newspaper as the newspaper's constant boosting is for the community. Help make a fine newspaper and you help make a better community.

WHY NOT?

WHY not a popular movement for boys to become better around home and at school? Instead of making hikes, why should boys not learn to work during va-cation? asks Howe's Magazine. Boys must learn to finally, and the sooner they begin the better for them. - A boy's movement based on mere idleness will result in more politicians. Why should there not be a boy's movement to aid parents rather than a boys' movement to aid another set of schemers?

SPRING CLEANING TIME

Editor Times:

Spring cleaning time is here, Mr. Houseowner and Taxpayer, why not make it a thorough one while at it? Make it a safe one too. This you can not be assured of unless you have every chimney in the house thoroughcleaned and examined by a reliable man. In an examination of sev-eral chimneys in the city 1 have found many that are defective on account of settling of buildings, decay and decomposition of mortar, etc. In one house built several years, a hole large enough to put your hand through. Should a chimney fire happen in a chimney of this kind the entire property would be endanger-

Clean the attic and basement or shed of all unnecessary rubbish and have the same burned or hauled away

The danger of waste or rubbish of kind was demonstrated at the small blaze which happened in the rear of the Blanco Hotel the fore Some one, care-irew a lighted part of the week. Some one, care-lessly, no doubt, threw a lighted match into the waste, and, had it not been discovered at the time li was, would have endangered the entire city. Some day the discovery will come too late. Prevent the possibility of this by seeing that your waste paper, hay or inflamable material of any kind is placed where it can not catch fire.

Don't forget that it costs the city from $45 to $75 for every time that an alarm is turned in for a chimney fire. You can help lighten the city's burden of over expense by placing your chimneys in such condition that chimney fires will not be possible. And remember that the fire department will fight your fires with a more willing spirit if they know that you have taken every precau-tion to prevent fire-But be sure and clean the chimney. DAN M. Here's a Surprise for You

Do you realize how your own town is growing and improving? If you haven't been to BAY PARK recently you'll be astonished to see the new dwellings-the new streets-and the busy air of hustle and improvement which pervades the place. You'd hardly believe that you could buy a lot there for $100.00-but you can-and you have to pay only $10.00 down and then only $5.00 a month.
