

WITH THE TEA and TOAST

GETTING READY.

I've dug up all the tackle,
And I've got it spick and span
I'm ready for the opening
Like a past grand master fan.

I have rewound every section,
And I've polished every tip;
I have sandpapered the pieces
And packed them in my grip.

I have burnished every reel,
And I've oiled up every cog;
I've inspected all the lines
Till my brain is in a fog.

I have trimmed each of the flies,
Every leader, hook and troll;
And I'm longing for the day that I can whip my favorite hole.

My creel is yawning widely,
I will fill it some fine day,
When I can duck the business
For a day across the Bay.
—DAVE STAFFORD.

Doing beats wishing, but it's more like work.

Many a shallow remark is backed up by a deep voice.

Despair means the turning of one's back on the future.

Nothing jolts an egotist so successfully as being ignored.

PURPOSE.

Now the amateur gardener goes to work

With a quite determined will,
And never a wish to loaf or shirk
His snug back yard to till.

With a color-plate instruction book
He delves through rhyme and fox
In trying to grow something to look
As they do in the catalogue.

—Dorsey Kretzer.

One touch of fashion may make all women look like freaks.

Every man's credit is good when it comes to borrowing trouble.

The man who has no enemies usually has the same number of friends.

RIGHT WHERE THEY BELONG!

There was a girl in our town,
And she was wondrous sweet,
As any one could tell who saw
Her stockings on the street.

—Baltimore Sun.

There was a girl in our town,
And she was wondrous sweet,
As any one could tell who saw
Her stockings on her feet.

—Los Angeles Express.

There was a girl in our town,
And she was wondrous fine,
As any one could tell who saw
Her stockings on the line.

—Anon.

There was a girl in our town,
Who said with sudden heat,
That for "mean men" the guy that wrote
Those verses can't be beat.

LUKE McLUKE SAYS.

A man never appreciates a grouchy guy until he runs up against a mut who slops over when he talks.

It's funny they call them grass widows. You never saw one who was green did you?

A man never knows how much furniture he owns until he falls over it trying to sneak up to bed in the dark.

If a girl looks good in a bathing suit she can look good in anything.

It is a mighty easy-going woman who is not disappointed at least once an hour.

When he notices that she makes an unpleasant noise when she sips her coffee, you can bet that the honey moon is ended.

A girl says a lot of things she doesn't mean. But when she tells a fellow that he is "No Gentleman," look out.

It takes a mighty good liar to sit down and talk to a girl for an hour and not get himself in bad.

The fashion bulletins say skirts will be fuller this fall. If they are they had better sew them with carpet thread or some of them will bust.

If a girl has a pretty face she doesn't have to wear a silhouette skirt to attract attention.

THE BIVOUC OF THE BREAD.

Suffragists have challenged the ants to a bread and pie-baking contest as a means of disposing of the charge that vote-seeking women neglect their homes.

The flour through the sifter whirled,
The smothered yeast cake's sigh,
Proclaim to all the listening world
The suffrage battle cry.

Let envious ants sneer no more,
But shrink in shuddering dread—
Their arguments fall flat before
The bivouac of the bread.

Till they, beside their kitchen stoves,
Can line their pantry shelves
With rows of crisp and flaky loaves
That they have baked themselves,
Till they the sponge can deftly pat
To fleecy, fluffy foam,
Let them not tell their sisters that Their place is in the home.

The hand that fashions golden crust
And crullers brown and light
We fancy we can safely trust
To mark a ballot right.

As long as we remain well fed,
While here below we dwell,
We'll think the hand that kneads the bread.

Must need the vote as well.
—Exchange

LITTLE SPRINGTIME MAID

Like a dream of beauty blessing all the land,
Far removed from sorrow, never knowing sighs, Little Springtime Lady, with the lilies in her hand, Sweet dreams of heaven and the morning in her eyes!

Sounds of music ringing
In the bloom and glow;
The mocking bird is singing
Because he loves her so!

Little Springtime Lady, lead our lives to Love,
In the paths so peaceful teach our souls to pray, Till the angles listen in holy heights above;
Make life's winter blossom like gardens of the May!

Love to you was given
That the world may know
Earth can be like heaven
Because we love you so!
—Frank L. Stanton.

Every year is leap year to the young widow who is wise to the game.

From his point of view no man ever marries a woman smaller than himself.

THE TIGHT-WAD.

They said he was a stingy pup,
A saving, plodding jay;
But he got rich by picking up
The coin they threw away.

—Anon.

Retribution is something we are morally certain will overtake other people.

A man spends a good portion of his time deceiving himself, and a woman spends a good portion of hers before a mirror. It's the same thing.

CONFUSION OF IDEAS.

When sunlight lingers in the west
And winds grow warm and hazy,
Sometimes you think you need a rest
When you are merely lazy.

—FRANK D. COHAN.

In fishing for compliments use fresh bait.

Even the bookworm turns—after finishing the page.

We all regret many things we haven't done and only a few we have.

You can always depend on some men doing nothing at all times.

Fresh people usually consider themselves the salt of the earth.

Even good intentions prove too much of a burden for some men to carry.

It's a good plan to believe only half you hear, then forget half of that.

but it saves the installment collector

Anyway, Adam never got mad because Eve put his porous plaster on so carelessly that it stuck to his

No matter how fat a woman is she knows she would be as shapely as any woman if she could afford to pay $18 for a corset.

A man has to wear the same suit of clothes when he has only one suit. But a girl with one dress can put a wide green sash around it and have a new gown.

You always hate a man when you owe him for something you have bought and used up.

Every woman gives other women complexion remedies she wouldn't use herself.

It has gotten so that a girl doesn't think she is well dressed unless she is almost undressed.

Some women love their husbands so much that they would be happy

a day clerk in a hotel and night watchman in a bank.

There ain't a darn bit of fun in gambling when you know you can afford to lose.

Any guy can become a hero. But it is mighty hard to remain one.

ALLIANCE TO BE LAID UP.

F. A. Kilburn May Be Assigned to Coast Run for Short Period.

A Portland paper says: It is reported from San Francisco that either the steamer F. A. Kilburn or the George W. Elder will replace the Alliance on the Portland-Coos Bay-Eureka run next month so the regular vessel may be overhauled.

E. E. Fryer, traveling passenger agent of the North Pacific line, is credited with having given out the information.

The Elder has been out of service for the past few months, undergoing repairs and an overhauling at San Francisco. The Kilburn lost her rudder at sea, April 5, and was towed into the Golden Gate, so her place was taken temporarily by the Santa Clara. It is believed the Kilburn will be selected rather than the Elder to relieve the Alliance, because she is smaller.

FIRST ADDITION TO MARSHFIELD

Streets that are Streets

The streets in FIRST ADDITION to Marshfield are not charted routes through forests primeval, but they are real roadways, graded in most cases, planked also in some instances. In these FIRST ADDITION streets water mains have been laid which can be tapped for supplying the homes of property owners. FIRST ADDITION is the moderate priced residence addition with city conveniences of streets, water service and telephones. Discriminating builders of homes select FIRST ADDITION.

NEWS OF NORTH BEND

The box factory will start again next Monday after being shut down for a few days.

Owing to the prevalence of smallpox, whooping cough and measles, the attendance at the North Bend schools has been cut down. This week, Miss Heath only had six pupils in her room and the average attendance has been over forty.

L. G. Meeks has returned from a northern trip and he and Mrs. Meeks will make their home at Coos-ton.

Wm. E. Homme was here yes-

Flirtation Step From the Maxixe

Posed by Mr. and Mrs. Rowley Downs.

WHEN danced correctly this is a very charming and effective step. Care must be taken not to force the action and thus lose the proper rhythm. The step is simplicity itself. Starting with the girl directly in front of the man, do the ordinary Maxixe step on alternate feet. The girl takes small steps, merely turning her head from side to side while the man must take long steps, so that her head will touch first his left shoulder and then the right.

T. R. Sheridan, formerly of Roseburg, has leased the Hunt residence at Porter and he and his family will reside there this summer.

Postmaster Elmer Russell and family are out of quarantine after a three week's seige of the smallpox.

Mrs. L. G. Johnson of Myrtle Point has been spending the week here.

Mrs. J. W. Russell arrived here from California this week to visit at the homes of her sons, Harvey, Elmer and Harry Russell.

Mrs. Frank Newkirk and baby of Loon Lake have been spending the week at the Newkirk home here.

in arithmetic were: Augustus Hoffman, Florence Kardell, Floyd Scott, George Scott, Edridge Archer, John McManam and Uriel Kemery.

Sixth A and B. There has been a marked improvement in the composition work of the A Division the last month.

Rhoda Anderson, Edith Ann Rosy Knox and Clara Abel deserve special mention for their neat work in graphic arithmetic.

Eighth Grade. An industrial club was organized in this grade this week having the following officers and members:

Anna Downs, president; Thelma Lyons, vice president; Abigail Leonard, secretary; Herman Glossop, treasurer; F. A. Tiedgen, adviser.

The following are members: De Forest Mason, Mary Holland, Lolla Cook, Ernest Drews, Henry Walter, Reginald McCarberry, Ruth Anderson, Glenda Farrell, Helen Stack, Carol Rahskopf, George Schroder, Marjorie Drews, Evelyn Mirrored, Zella Swinford, Irene Fourier, May McArthur, Augusta Micklen and Geneva Archer.

OF COURSE. EDUCATION is something that is never finished. One often reads such absurd phrases—often self-written—as, "He completed his education" at such and such school, or "she finished her education" at such and such a place. Any person who has "completed" his or her education is not educated. Acquisition with the school textbooks is not education. Sometimes it is a preparation for education, but it is never more than that; well said by the Washington Star.

SCHOOL NOTES

Second Grade—High School. Those receiving 100 in daily work 95; Augustus Hoffman, 93; Floyd Scott, 92.

The following are the pupils receiving 100 in both oral and written spelling the past week:

Paul Johnson, Florence Kardell and Uriel Kemery.

The following pupils received above 90 in the test in arithmetic: Paul Johnson 98; Uriel Kemery

"GET PAINT WISE"

Every householder in this city should be well informed on paint questions—WHY? Because there is hardly one article in your house that is not finished with a paint, varnish, enamel or stain.

- The kind of paint
- Proper condition of the surface
- The weather conditions
- The cost per years of wear are important features to know before the time comes to do the work. Get our booklets and pamphlets and "read up" on these subjects.

You will agree with us—that "High Standard" Paint Products are the best for every need—after a trial you will use no other. "High Standard" Paint Products are made to "GIVE BEST RESULTS."
