Inspector Morse to Recommend Establishment of Sub-Station at That Place

A sub-Postoffice station will probably be established at Bunker Hill in the near future. This announcement was made by Postmaster W. B. Curtis this morning, after he and S. H. Morse, Postoffice inspector of Roseburg, had made an investigation and found that conditions justify a station at Bunker Hill. Inspector Morse will take the matter up immediately with the Spokane office and the necessary recommendation will be made to the Postoffice department at Washington. In the event a substation is established at Bunker Hill it will be in charge of W. H. Dindinger, who conducts a department store there. Mail addressed to the Smith mill and logging camps, in addition to residents of that district, would be handled through the sub-station.

Oregon Social Hygiene Society Opens Display in North Bend Today

The exhibit of the Oregon Social Hygiene Society, which has been viewed by hundreds of people daily at the O'Connell building, during the past week, has been moved to North Bend at the request of the Promotion committee there. It has been set up in the office of W. A. Davenport and has been thronged with visitors constantly. So important an attraction has the committee considered it, that admission tickets are being provided for every parent in the city. By challenging and forceful cartoons, pictures, illustrations, etc., it depicts the great "Red Plague" pointing out the prevalence and seriousness of the social diseases, contributing causes, educational and physical remedies, and the work of the society. The exhibit has not only influenced thousands of Oregon's citizens to action, but has also attracted the attention of other places. Recently a request came from Lyons, France, asking for its display there at the coming International Urban Exposition. Furthermore, out-of-the-state visitors have been quick to realize its great need and value. One said: "You are in advance of most states. Your work is one most universally needed." Another commented: "I'm from Omaha, Nebraska. We have nothing like this there. It's a great move."

ROSEBURG TO VOTE RAILWAY

Propose to Launch Line to Coast—Plans Made

ROSEBURG, Or., May 6.—The Review says: Roseburg's proposed railroad to the coast got several steps nearer its realization when all records for an enthusiastic demonstration were broken at the Commercial Club by a special meeting called for the purpose of hearing the committee's progress since the meeting a few nights ago when this city suddenly came to its senses regarding the future, and three men were named to look into the possibilities of a road to the coast. "I have attended a hundred meetings like this," said W. W. Cardwell, "and this is the first that really looks good." During the meeting Dr. J. F. Reddy, of Grants Pass, whose work has assured that section of a railroad, similar to the one proposed here, and DeWitt Van Ostrand, of the Neenah-Oregon Land Co., heavy investors in this county, and many local men, spoke of the new road and not one word was heard in its opposition. While the committee had not as yet worked out any definite plans, their activity was noted and much favorable mention was made of the plan to bond the city for about $300,000, with which to undertake the first link in the system, to later continue to the coast. It was generally agreed that the Grants Pass scheme be followed, giving this city the advantage of the former's experience. As a result of the meeting it was decided to get out petitions asking the council to call a special election on the issuance of such bonds, the motion carrying with enthusiasm. On account of the big new enterprises announced for the Sutherlin Valley, it may be taken for granted that a railroad will be built soon from this part of Douglas county to the coast. Whether it will start from Roseburg or Sutherlin may depend very largely on the activity and interest shown by the people here.

LAUNCH ROAMER EARLY TODAY

New Gasoline Schooner Completed at Kruse & Banks For Siuslaw Run

The Roamer, the sea going gasoline schooner for Captain Peter Olson and his associates, was launched this morning at the Kruse & Banks yards at North Bend. There was no christening or ceremony attached to the launching. The boat will be completed within a couple of days and then the engines will be installed. The Roamer is a trifle larger than the Rustler but is built along the same lines. She will ply principally between Coos Bay and the Siuslaw, with occasional trips to the Umpqua and will maintain about a five-day service between here and Florence. The Rustler will be kept on the Coos Bay and Port Orford and Rogue River run. Rustler Arrives In. The Rustler returned early today from the Siuslaw. Captain Skog reports that the Hugh Hogan was got back into the channel in good shape. She was badly waterlogged and it was impossible to tell the extent of the damage to her hull. The Rustler is taking on a cargo today for Port Orford and will probably sail tomorrow. Captain Skog will probably have charge of the new boat, Roamer, after she is given her trial run and Capt. Pete Olson will return to the Rustler.

ALONG THE WATERFRONT

The Elizabeth and Speedwell arrived at Bandon yesterday from San Francisco. The Jim Butler of the Olson & Mahoney line sailed from here yesterday with a cargo of lumber for San Francisco. She loaded at North Bend.

WHITE HOUSE WEDDING IS NEAR

Nuptials of President Wilson's Daughter and Secretary McAdoo Tomorrow

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.) WASHINGTON, D. C., May 6.—Another White House wedding, the second during the present Wilson administration, occurs tomorrow, when Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson, the youngest daughter of the President, will be united in marriage to William Gibbs McAdoo, Secretary of the Treasury in the Wilson cabinet. Miss Wilson will be the fourteenth bride of the White House, and the first daughter of a President to be united to a cabinet officer. The wedding ceremony of tomorrow has been awaited with eager interest by the social and official intimates of the Wilson circle. But compared with some of the brilliant wedding functions of the past, this will be comparatively quiet, participated in mainly by the immediate family and relatives, and the President's official family made up of the Vice President and members of the cabinet, with their wives. This is in accordance with the tastes and wishes of the parties and the White House circle, and also to some extent due to the absorbing attention which the President and his cabinet have been giving of late to the Mexican and other public matters. The ceremony of tomorrow will be held in one of the historic rooms, the scene of so many gala events, with its handsome furnishings, and the profusions of flowers which the White House conservatory yields. President Wilson will give away the bride, and the groom will be attended by some of his near friends as groomsmen and best man. Both of the contracting parties to the wedding of tomorrow have become well known here during the present administration. The future Mrs. McAdoo is the brunette of the Wilson daughters, twenty-three years old, with such an expressive face that most people call her handsome. She is tall and slender, her head is well shaped, her eyes are blue, and when she smiles—or better still when she laughs, which is often—she shows her fine teeth. Her hair is a shade

NORTH BEND NEWS

The Ways and Means Committee of the North Bend Library Association will meet with the chairman, Mrs. Frank Frame, Thursday evening at eight o'clock. Measures for increasing the book fund will be discussed and plans made to continue a series of entertainments, the proceeds of which are to be used to buy books. Frederick Hollister has left for a trip through the Willamette Valley in the interests of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Congress.

Gay Life at Capital.

Life at the capital opened up a program of events which the bride-to-be has enjoyed to the fullest. Most of the White House week-end guests have been former associates of the Wilson girls and have joined in their social activities here. The White House tennis court, famous during the Roosevelt regime, fitted in perfectly in the Wilson girls' home pleasure scheme. Miss Eleanor plays a good game of tennis, though equally devoted to horseback riding. She is also fond of walks, often joining the President in his jaunts, although her walking partner the past spring has been her future husband, Secretary McAdoo has tramped with her many afternoons through the uptown streets and suburbs. Beautiful Gowns. Miss Wilson's gowns of the past season have been especially well selected and are part of her trousseau. One of her most becoming ball gowns was a white satin, both skirt and waists draped, the distinctive feature being the broad girdle of black velvet ribbon with long sash ends. Simplicity still rules the gowning of Mrs. Wilson and her daughters for the street and home wearing. One of her most becoming hats this spring has been a shining black sailor faced with rose pink, with a full-blown rose and a bit of foliage perched on the left front of the brim. McAdoo's Big Work. The bridegroom of tomorrow, Secretary William G. McAdoo, was born in Marietta, Georgia, 51 years ago. He was only 21 when admitted to the bar, after his studies at the Un-

DON'T BELIEVE IN EUGENICS

State Prohibition Nominating Convention Urges National Prohibition (By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.) PORTLAND, Or., May 6.—The state prohibition nominating convention today adopted a platform urging national prohibition. Discussion of campaign plans deferred the matter of nominations until late today. It was expected that an effort to have the convention adjourned until after the state primaries before naming candidates would be defeated.

Methodists, South, Score Plan for Improving Race—Say Soul is All Important (By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.) OKLAHOMA CITY, May 6.—An address given before the Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at their quadrennial conference, paid respects to schemes for social betterment. "Many persons," says the address, "would have the church rely on eugenics, and bring to bear on man the stock-raising expedient. But she may not heed the voices of these spurious renovators of mankind, believing the soul of all improvement is the improvement of the soul."
