TO DRILL FOR OIL HERE NOW

E. M. Andrews Announces Eastern Men Will Expend $100,000 in This Field

E. M. Andrews, of Medford, announced at the Millicoma Club smoker last night that one of the largest oil corporations of the country was arranging to test the field in this immediate vicinity. He said they were prepared to expend over $100,000 in the tests. The corporation he had reference to is the one operating in Tulsa, Oklahoma, Montana and South America, backed by such men as Untermyer, head of a big sugar corporation, and Otis, of the Otis Elevator company. Mr. Andrews pointed out the necessity of co-operation on the part of the business men of Marshfield in inviting capital. He said all the company wanted was options or leases on certain tracts which Prof. Diller of the U. S. Geological Survey and their own expert might designate.

Mr. Andrews was here a few years ago with J. W. Perkins of Roseburg on the oil proposition and at that time lined up considerable leases and options but financial conditions caused them to postpone the test work. Now Mr. Andrews says the company is prepared to go ahead with it and will expend the $100,000 in test work without the expectancy of getting a cent back.

HOLD SOCIAL SESSION.

Builders' Exchange Enjoys First of Series of Monthly Meetings.

The first social session of the Coos Bay Builders' Exchange was held in its quarters in the First National Bank building last night. About thirty-three attended. Extemporaneous talks were made by several members of the exchange on the development of the Coos Bay district, and the Exchange went on record as standing behind every institution and enterprise in the community that stands for the betterment of conditions. A spirit of good feeling prevailed throughout the meeting, which closed with the serving of refreshments.

It was suggested at the meeting last night that the Exchange hold a regular monthly meeting, at which time questions of vital importance to every member of the organization might be discussed.

J. F. Telander, president of the Exchange, presided at the meeting last night, and introduced the speakers. Mel G. Duncan, secretary of the organization, reports it now has a membership of twenty-eight.

LOCAL CHINESE GIRL MARRIED

Daughter of Chin Wing, of North Bend, Bride of Rich Oregon Hop Grower

Word has just been received here of the marriage of Susie Wing, daughter of Chin Wing of North Bend, and Dy Foon, a wealthy hop grower of Aurora, Oregon, at Portland last week. The bride was a pretty Chinese girl and attracted much attention in Marshfield as she cared for the children of Gow Why and her own brothers and sisters. She was generally known as Gwan. She retained the celestial costume.

The Portland Oregonian prints a picture of the young couple and the following story:

"On May 8 in the chambers of Judge George N. Davis, Dy Foon was married to Susie Wing, both native born Chinese. Dy Foon is a large hop grower near Aurora, Oregon. Susie Wing was born in Coos county and educated in the public schools there. Both are connected with the old and prominent Chinese families of this city."

POTTER WILL LEAVE SUNDAY

Dredge Expert to Conclude Stay on Coos Bay—Expects Great Things

Engineer Potter, who has been supervising the work of the bar dredge Michie here for the past three weeks, expects to leave next Sunday for home after having spent just a month here. He says that Capt. Reed has the dredge working fine now and that it will accomplish much during the summer.

Mr. Potter says that during the past three weeks the Michie has removed about 70,000 yards from the bar shoal. He says to cut a channel 300 feet wide and 25 feet deep there, only about 400,000 yards have to be removed and the bar dredge will do this in a short time.

He is enthusiastic over the bar dredge and says that it is demonstrating that it is what Coos Bay harbor needed instead of a jetty or breakwater as he terms it. Under the conditions, a night-crew might work the Michie a double shift.

He says the dredge can be easily and cheaply maintained, and that it will accomplish great things here.

He looked kindly upon the suggestion that he or some other expert return here next fall or winter when the storms set in and when usually the most trouble from the bar shoaling has been encountered. He said that there might be special conditions worthy of special study. However, he does not anticipate so much changing as a result of the channel cut by the Michie.

Capt. Reed and his chief engineer came up with Mr. Potter and C. G. Hockett to attend the Millicoma Club smoker. Capt. Reed says there was only a little over 17 feet of water when he first came here and he recently found 22 feet, although yesterday Capt. Olson, of the Adeline Smith reported that he found 23 feet of water.

There are some Coos Bay men without musical talent who are still adept at blowing their own horns.

SECRET BILLS BY GRAND JURY

Four Indictments Returned—Two Held for Rioting in Henryville Murder Case

(Special to The Times.)
COQUILLE, Or., May 12.—The Coos County grand jury is still grinding away and has returned four secret indictments. They are still in session. Nothing could be learned of their investigation into the Myrtle Point bank robbery case. Whether they will investigate some alleged libelous articles circulated in the campaign on Coos Bay and some alleged violations of the corrupt practice act could not be ascertained this afternoon.

Dan Bravine, who was mixed up in the fracas at Henryville in which James Ferrari shot and killed John Kelly was indicted today for rioting. He was arrested at Beaver Hill and brought here today.

John Dempsey, also involved in the same trouble, was also indicted and is being brought here from Marshfield this afternoon by Constable Cox.

GREEK RESTAURANT CASE.

Motion to Vacate Judgment Against Defendants Denied.

After hearing arguments in the case of Phillip Anest vs. Tom Morris and Gus Demas, owners of a restaurant in North Bend, Justice Penock yesterday denied a motion to vacate judgment against the defendants. Anest claims that he has a lease on the premises and he brought judgment against Morris and Demas for $175 which he claims is owed him. Anest and a man named Tom Brown were arrested yesterday charged with stealing property from the restaurant. Both are out on bail. The case will probably come up at the next term of the circuit court. A. E. Shuster of North Bend is the attorney for the defendants and Miller & Hoy are the attorneys for the plaintiff.

If Huerta is wise he will make terms while he has enough ammunition to fire that salute.

WULF JURY HERE.

Men Who Will Decide Local Damage Suit Leave.

The jury which will decide the damage suit brought by Mrs. George Wulff against the Willamette Pacific railroad for damages following the death of her husband, who was struck by the gasoline car on Front street about two months ago, left on the early morning train for Coquille. Those on the jury are J. T. Saylor, T. M. Harriman, Miles W. Barber, W. E. Tompkins, W. O. Cooper, A. E. Hadsall, Alva Lee, I. M. Weeks, J. M. Hayes, J. B. Shelton, George W. Cox, Webb Mast and George Wilson. They came over last night to view the scene of the accident.
