THE QUESTION

I.
"My honey, my honey,
Love is more than money;
Try and make your little heart content."
But ma honey says—says she,
"Lookin' wistfully at me;
"You reckon Love'll ever pay the rent?"

II.
"Ma honey, my honey,
Love makes the pathway sunny,
The sweetest of the blessings heaven has sent."
But my honey says, with sighs—
"With doubt in her bright eyes:
"You reckon Love'll ever pay the rent?"

III.
"Oh, love is all," I say:
"In meadows o' the May We'll dwell with bluest skies above us bent."
But still she says—says she,
"With doubtful glance at me:
"I wonder will the roses pay the rent?"

—Frank L. Stanton.

"THE only way to have a friend is to be one."
There is hardly anyone outside my immediate family whose presence or absence means much to me. I heard a man say the other day, "The people who want to be friends with me have to seek me out; I don't bother much with them."
He said it proudly.
He evidently thought he was showing how superior he was.
I link he should have said it sadly, because he was acknowledging a lack in himself.
It is a common idea—this notion that one is fortunate when one receives more love than one gives.
A great many people seem to lack pride in realizing that this or that friend care more for them than they do for him says an exchange. It is the feeling that makes a woman proud of having excited a love which she cannot return, and ashamed of loving when she is not loved. And it is just as wrong and cheap a conception of the great force of love.
The love a human being can feel is a far better measure of his character than the love he can excite.
"It is more blessed to give than to receive" is as true of love and friendship as of any material gift.
It is blessed to have a friend; it is far more blessed to be one.
Like mercy, friendship is twice blessed; it blesses him that gives and him that takes. But contrary to the common belief, it is he that gives who gets the most out of it.
It is, of course, a legitimate reason for pleasure and pride to know that one is the object of another human being's admiration, respect, affection and whatever other feelings make up the wonderful sentiment of friendship.
But on the other hand it is an even greater reason for pride to know that one is sufficiently capable of recognizing and appreciating another human being's value to feel that wonderful sentiment of friendship for him.
The fewer people a man cares about the fewer people there are who can hurt him, argues the man who is proud that there are few people who count with him.

True. And the fewer who can stimulate and inspire him, and generally help him to expand into his highest self, as the true friend will.
It is as foolish for a man to rejoice that he cares for very few people as it would be for a tree to be glad that it had few roots.
Moreover, the self-sufficient man is sure to be the self-centered man. It is only through realizing our need of others that we understand their need of us.
Don't be afraid to love. And by love I mean love in the bigger sense in which it includes friendship and all kinds of love, as well as the love between the sexes. It may bring you some of suffering, but it will bring you infinitely more for happiness.
Don't be ashamed to love. He who loves most has most reason to be proud.

THURSDAY DANCE CLUB

The Thursday Dance Club members and their guests spent a delightful evening at a dance at the Finnish Hall Tuesday evening given them by their husbands. Besides the fourteen couples forming the club a large number of additional guests were invited. 38x 5 1-2 Non-Skid	$57.30

WHY PAY MORE?

NOTE: The secret of the whole thing is just this: The only difference in the manufacturer's cost between a plain-tread tire and a non-skid tire is the extra weight in rubber of the nobs. Take a 34x4 tire, the extra weight for the nobs is about three pounds, and rubber at 90 cents per pound should make a difference of about $2.70 in cost between a smooth tire and a non-skid.
What difference do other makes charge you?
SEE 34x4 in plain tread $24.35; Non-Skid tread $38.45.

Our Price, 34x4 NON-SKID, $26.05,
