FIRE MAY GET BEYOND CONTROL

Loss in Vicinity of Vancouver Placed at Over $200,000 —Noosack in Danger

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)

BELLINGHAM, Wash., May 22.—Two bad forest fires are burning in the vicinity of Noosack. One is just beyond the limits of the town. One house and a barn have been destroyed. Every able bodied man is fighting the flames. On account of the wind fires are spreading rapidly and it is feared they will get beyond control.

A number of forest fires are reported in various parts of Whatcom county but so far the damage is negligible. The timber men fear serious loss unless weather conditions change.

DAMAGE IS ENORMOUS.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)

VANCOUVER, B. C., May 22.—Eight houses and a shingle mill were destroyed by a forest fire which is sweeping up Grouse Mountain.

Estimates up to noon place the loss in the neighborhood of Vancouver at $200,000. A special steamer conveying government fire fighters was sent to Sklaman, forty miles north, to combat a blaze of big timber. A logging company near Port Coquitlam was wiped out. The refugees had an exciting ride on a train through the burning timber.

BABY WANDERS OUT OF HOUSE

Elberta Hubbard, the two year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hubbard, 235 Second street, wandered away from home this morning and was found at the corner of Eleventh and Central streets by Marshal Carter. About 9 o'clock Mrs. Hubbard began a search about the house for the baby. When she could not be found Mrs. Hubbard summoned Marshal Carter and her husband by telephone.

Soon after Marshal Carter started out to find the baby he met John B. Suedden, who informed him that he had seen a child of the description given playing in the vicinity of Eleventh and Central streets.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubbard were greatly relieved when the baby was returned none the worse for her adventure.

English Ruler and Wife Have to Listen to Suffragette at Theater—Novel Ruse

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)

LONDON, May 22.—King George and Queen Mary were compelled to listen to the harangue of a militant suffragette at a matinee at "His Majesty's" Theater, when a woman arose in the stalls and began to address the king. "You Russian scoundrel," she shrieked. Attendants rushed to her and found her chained to the seat. They had to file the chain before she could be removed. While this was in progress half a dozen women started shouting. One jumped on the stage. Eventually all were ejected amid a tremendous uproar.

WOMEN WRECK ART GALLERIES

Riotous Scenes in London Follow Attack of Suffragettes on Masterpiece

DESTROY PAINTINGS.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)

LONDON, May 22.—The "Wild Women" of the Women's Social and Political Union continued their terrorizing tactics. A woman armed with a loaded cane today ruined five masterpieces in the national gallery. Simultaneously another woman wrecked a picture hangin in the Royal Academy.

The pictures damaged in the National Gallery were the "Madonna and Child with Infant Saints," "Portrait of Malatesta," "Saints John and Christopher and the Dodge," "Landscape with the Death of St. Peter," and "Christ's Agony in the Garden." The painting gashed at the Royal Academy was "Primavera."

Both women refused to give their names. The Academy was filled with a fashionable throng when a woman drew a butcher knife and dashed at the pictures. Only the presence of the police prevented her from being roughly handled. The National gallery vandal left a trail of blood from cuts from broken glass.

The scenes in the police court when the women in yesterday's battle were arraigned surpassed in wildness all previous efforts. A male suffragist, who somehow found a perch among the rafters, blew ear-piercing variations of the "Marseillaise" on a cornet and then sounded a charge. This was the signal for a volley of bags and other missiles at the magistrate, Sir John Dickinson. Three policemen were required to prevent one prisoner from throwing herself over the rail.

Another woman removed her shoe and hurled it at the head of the magistrate, who caught it deftly. When the magistrate was forced to suspend the hearing there was a free fight. Subsequently most of the women were brought in and bound over to keep the peace for six months, but they unanimously refused sureties.

PERHAM HOME WAS ENTERED

West Marshfield House Ransacked but Nothing Taken —Adds to Mystery

The home of E. G. Perham, 1360 Central avenue, was entered some time yesterday afternoon by an unknown party or parties and practically all of the personal effects of the family were ransacked.

Mrs. Perham left her home about 11 o'clock yesterday morning and after doing some shopping down town she went to the home of her mother, Mrs. Hutchison, where she had lunch. When she returned in the afternoon she found everything in the house in a scattered condition. Drawers had been pulled out of dressers, chiffoniers, and other cabinets. Every drawer in Mrs. Perham's sewing machine had been taken out and the contents scattered on the floor. The furniture in nearly every room had been moved or upset and even one end of the carpet in the sitting room had been torn up.

Mrs. Perham says that when she discovered the house in such a condition she immediately called her maid, whom she had excused from duty during her absence. Mrs. Perham says that her maid was astonished to find the house in such a condition and declared that she had no knowledge of it until she returned to the place a few minutes previous to the return of Mrs. Perham.

So far Mrs. Perham has not missed anything. She says that all of her valuables are still in the house but not where she left them. However, she has not made a thorough search of the contents of the cabinet drawers, which dropped on the floor. All sorts of trinkets, ribbon and fancy work had been dumped on the stairway leading from the kitchen to the basement.

Mrs. Perham says she will leave the stuff where it is until the police and her attorneys make a thorough investigation.
