READING.

THE difference between the reading of our grandparents and that of ourselves and our children is that the former had so little to read that what they read soaked into them, whereas what the latter reads rolls off their minds like water off a duck's back.

KEEP VAUGHN IN CITY JAIL

State's Star Witness in Myrtle Point Bank Robbery Case Separated From Miller

Frank Vaughn, the man serving a term at Salem for the theft of the Lib Haines' estate horses and selling them to Proprietor Haakanson of the North Bend stables, is now confined in the Coquille city jail to keep him separate from G. H. Miller against whom he is to testify in the Myrtle Point bank robbery case.

Detective Mitchell is working hard on the case and it is reported that there have been several lively clashes between Mitchell and C. I. Reigard who will defend Miller.

Detective Mitchell is said to have been pretty strong in his charges that D. L. Foote of Marshfield carried a party from Marshfield to Myrtle Point on the night of the robbery.

Miller's wife, Mrs. Ida Miller, is now at the Seargeant Hotel at Hulton and Grand Avenue, Portland, where she is working and supporting herself.

Dr. Russell of Salem was subpoenaed as a witness in the case as it is claimed that he was Miller's roommate at Coquille the night of the robbery.

According to the grand jury indictment, the witnesses for the state in the case are W. G. Borreo of Marshfield, Jack Elwood of Myrtle Point, Frank Vaughn, Sheriff Gage, Reuben Jefferson, Walter Harris, Lloyd Robinson, Fred Gilbert, Chauncey Delucia, Wm. Shoats, J. R. DeVault, May Vaughn, Hugh Pinley, Harry McGowan, L. N. C. Christ and R. W. Veach.

It is expected that Vaughn will tell the jury about the story to the effect that Miller promised to give him money to pay R. O. Graves of Marshfield $200 for defending him in the horse-stealing case and also about other revelations by Miller to Vaughn in the county jail.

DR. E. MINGUS went to Coquille this morning as a witness in a case there.

GOOD EVENING.

IF?

If you were me and I were you, What wonder working things we'd do— We'd see the good in every one, We'd do our work like it were fun— We'd gossip never, nor be blue, If you were me and I were you.

If you were me and I were you, We'd both be better through and through— I'd see your virtues, you'd see mine, The effect would be like some old wine— No word of censure e'er would brew, If you were me and I were you.

So let's change places and just do As you'd have me and I'd have you— You work and laugh and love and sing, And I will do the self-same thing— We'll paint this world a "rosy" hue, When you are me and I am you.—W. E. Fitch.

It is quite possible for some Coos Bay men to have more money than brains and still have only a little money.

The only way some Coos Bay people could keep a promise would be to put it in a safe deposit box.

The trouble with some Coos Bay people is they have their work in one place and their thoughts in another.

Some women one can't flatter— after the undertaker is summoned.

What matter if a girl's complexion is poor if her father is rich?

When a bride begins to realize that her husband is much like her brother, her air castles collapse.

When a man has more money than he knows what to do with other people want to lend him some of theirs.

Men are like needles; when they are broke women have no use for them.

Folks who say the right thing at the right time are as popular as they are scarce.

Our funny language—a man feels put out when he discovers that he has been taken in.

Among contrary men is the chap who would refuse to take whiskey if the doctor prescribed it.

In looking back over our past lives can we see one single instance where worry made things any better?

A DREAM?

Written for The Times. What a boon is life; 'twould be, Could we take things as they come, Not fret and fume and worry Till the heart with pain is numb.

Not work up vague suspicions Of some other one's intent To injure, slight or vilify, When no such thing was meant.

But when that state is realized All earthly time is done; We're through with this old world of ours, With heaven fairly won.

Would it be truly heaven, though, With each the same as each? If this should fail to satisfy Then heaven's out of reach.—Hearsay.

When a man is in the wrong he only wastes time trying to cover up his mistake by the use of big words.

COLLEGE BOYS WANT PLACES

Farm Students at O. A. C. Desire Positions for Vacation in Coos County.

J. L. Smith, county agriculturist, has received a letter from Prof. Scudder, head of the agronomy department at O. A. C., requesting him to try and get places for a number of students for the summer months.

"I have a number of Junior and Senior students in Agronomy who wish to increase their farm experience in preparation for securing positions after they graduate, in farm management or experiment station work and the like.

"These men are all husky, energetic men, most of them well experienced in farm work, and they would be able to out punt the ordinary hired hand several yards. They are willing to work for and expect only the usual farm wages, but of course they would wish to get on a farm that was up-to-date and doing a big and successful business, if possible.

"I wondered if you did not know of they intend to erect a two-story concrete basement with full basement. In the basement will be a salt water swimming tank and heating plant.

On the first floor will be club rooms for the members of the Moose lodge, and the second floor will be composed of a lodge room which will be suitably arranged for dances and public gatherings also, with all modern conveniences, including ladies' and gentlemen's dressing rooms, etc.—Bandon Recorder.

FINDS LIVE TARANTULA.

Cecil Spangh, manager of the Gardiner Theatre, purchased a number of bananas from the Gardiner Confectionery, and among them he found a large tarantula hidden away, but when disturbed became quite lively.

DIES IN BANDON.

Phillip Merriam, an Oregon pioneer, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. L. Mynatt, in Astoria park, 12, 1872, to America Rankin, and to their union two children were born, Louise Rankin of Rogue River, and Mrs. L. Mynatt of this city, both of whom, together with Mrs. Merriam, were with him when the end came.—Bandon Recorder.

three of four big farms in your county where extra hired hands would be required during the summer.

"Such assistance as this would be a very distinct service to these students, most of whom do not want to give up a more or less sure job at home unless they know beforehand just about what else they can do elsewhere, as of course the money they earn in the summer means a good deal to them as well as the experience.

"I shall very much appreciate hearing from you as soon as possible regarding this matter."

PERSONAL OVERFLOW

J. G. MULLEN is here from North Bend today on business.

WM. GRIMES and wife are expected in on this afternoon's Drain stage.

A. B. SHAW, formerly one of the attorneys in the U. S. Interior Department and who was a leading figure in the controversy between Sec. Ballinger and Glavis, is now here. He is now attorney for the C. A. Smith company.

SALOON CASE IS DECIDED

Jury Refuses to Allow Taylor-Johnson Damages for Leg Broken at North Bend.

(Special to The Times.) COQUILLE, Ore., May 22.—The jury in the case of Taylor Johnson vs. Chris Grohs of North Bend brought in a verdict for the defendant late yesterday.

The case was hard fought, J. D. Goss being attorney for the defense. They had a hard time getting a jury in the case, the venire being exhausted and special jurors having to be called in.

Johnson only had one other witness in his behalf, a man named Austin who worked at the Mercy hospital for a time.

It is intimated that there may be other suits similar to this one. J. G. Mullen and C. I. Reigard were attorneys for Johnson.

Damage Case on.

Today the case of Raitha vs. the Smith-Powers mine on Isthmus Inlet for about $2600 damages for personal injuries sustained in an explosion and fire is being tried.

Weather permitting the Marshfield baseball players will be out for practice in front of the Bradley Candy Company factory this evening.

MORGAN RANCH DEAL CLOSED

Colorado Men Pay $10,000 for Tract to Start Fine Stock Ranch—Option Another

Wm. Goshen of Colorado Springs arrived here yesterday to take possession of the W. H. Morgan ranch on Daniels Creek which he and F. H. Hamilton have purchased for the purpose of converting it into a fine dairy ranch.

The Morgan ranch of 160 acres is a fine tract near the confluence of Daniels Creek and Coos River. They paid $10,000 for it but are thought to have secured a bargain in the place as ideally located.

Messrs Goshen and Hamilton come highly recommended and will make a fine addition to Coos county's progressive ranchers.

Pumping Shells.—The dredge Seattle is now working opposite Ocean dock and is pumping nearly all shells. She is near the shoal at the mouth of Coos River, which has sprung up again although dredged away by the dredge Oregon a few years ago.

Bunker Hill Dept. Store PHONE 32

Make Yours a Public Service Store

This is the age of service. The rewards of today go to the men who give the most in return.

Translated for you, Mr. Merchant, this means that the customers are certain to patronize the store that will give them what they want when they want it.

Cut prices may bring some trade, but better service will bring more.

This is the age when people are reading the advertising in THE TIMES because they are finding it a distinct part of the service they expect THE TIMES to give.

When a nationally distributed article of merit is advertised in the newspapers, a demand for it sets in right away.

People want to see it, and if satisfied, want to buy it.

They are going to turn to the store that lets them know it has the article. The store will be giving them the service they want at that particular moment.

If it is a good article they are going to remember the store where they got it and will come back to that store again.
