

DELAY TRIAL OF SHERIDAN

Circuit Court Prosecution at Roseburg May Be Postponed for Federal Trial.

The Roseburg Review says: T. R. Sheridan was arranged before Judge Percy Kelly in the Circuit Court here on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses and forgery. Mr. Sheridan took until tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock in which to enter formal pleas to the charges.

The indictment accusing Sheridan of obtaining money under false pretenses charges that he (Sheridan) obtained approximately $3000 from Mrs. Laura Verrell, of Endenbower, with the understanding that it was to be loaned to some responsible and solvent person. Instead of making the loan as pretended, the indictment alleges that Sheridan converted the money to his personal use unknown to Mrs. Verrell. The prosecution claims that the transaction was covered up by a memorandum note, executed and signed by Sheridan, and placed among the papers in the bank.

The second indictment accuses Sheridan of signing the name of John Servia to promissory note in the sum of $3000. The prosecution claims that all efforts to locate Servia have proven fruitless.

Mr. Sheridan has retained Attorneys J. O. Watson, Elbert Hermann and Dexter Rice on his behalf.

It was generally understood here that the local charges against Sheridan would not be tried pending disposition of indictments returned against him in the Federal Court at Portland. The indictments found by the Federal grand jury are said to embrace in detail the accusations contained in the indictments returned against him in this county.

It was rumored today that the attorneys interested in the cases are considering an agreement whereby trials of the local charges against Sheridan may be continued until the next term of court.

New Clothes for Memorial Day

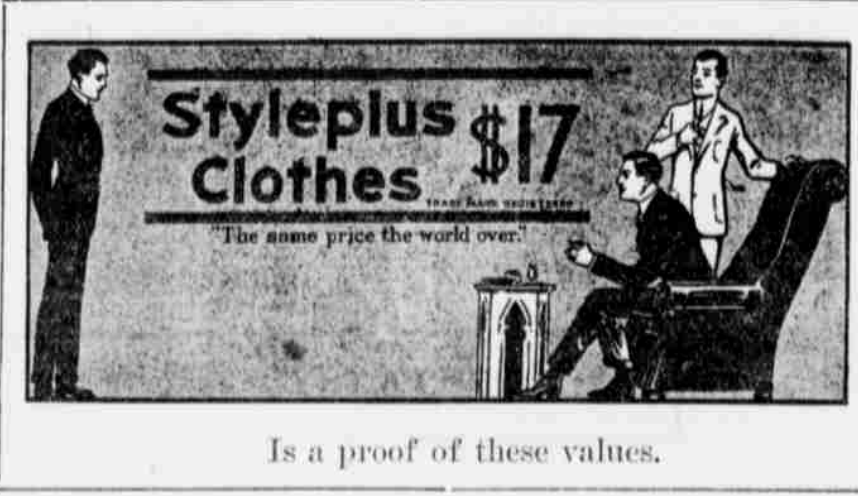

You want a new suit to wear at the exercises next Sunday.

Ask yourself if a big part of your clothes money hasn't been going to pay bad accounts and other items that add not a "whit" to the quality or the style, or the tailoring of the clothes you wear.

You have been paying for all these bad debts for years. Perhaps you couldn't help yourself in the old days, but why not break the habit now and keep that money in your own pocket.

Dozens—scores—hundreds of men know that by buying your clothes at Hub Stores saves them $6.00 to $10.00 on each suit.

You are just as wide awake, just as alert to get the most value for your money, as any of these patrons of ours. Then isn't it about time that you came here and bought your clothes the HUB way?

"Money Talks"

Every suit purchased from Hub Stores must give satisfaction, whether the cost be $15.00 or $35.00. We stand behind you.

AUTO SERVICE TO DRAIN NOW

First Stage Machine Makes Trip Between Scottsburg and Drain—Reduces Time.

The first auto of the season to make the run between Scottsburg and Drain got through yesterday according to word which V. C. Gorst received from Capt. Cornwall today. Capt. Cornwall said that the stage line would operate autos on the road the balance of the season making the trip between Drain and Coos Bay in one day instead of two.

Mr. Gorst is arranging to send their baggage car through from Gardiner to Florence tomorrow to see if it will be possible to establish a through auto line from Coos Bay to Florence. The plan is to have Messrs. Cornwall, Barrett, Kinney and Gorst unite in maintaining this line.

GAMBLERS PAY FINE OF $15

Joe Levis and J. Bell Caught Shaking Dice in Saloon—One Says He Lost $20.

Joe Levis and J. Bell were brought before Recorder Butler this afternoon to answer to a charge of gambling preferred by Officer Doane, who arrested the offenders last night. Each man was fined $15 and cost.

Levis and Bell were released last night on bail and were given a hearing this morning. Levis contended that he was not guilty and the case was continued until this afternoon, when witnesses could be produced.

According to witnesses, the men were shaking dice in the Eagle Saloon. Charlie Howard, the bartender, declares he was not aware of the fact. Several coins changed hands and Bell accidentally handed Levis a twenty dollar gold piece, according to his own statement.

Levis denies that Bell handed him the gold coin and there were no witnesses who could prove Bell's accusation. Witnesses swore that Bell was drunk at the time of the transaction.

PERSONAL OVERFLOW

GLEN ROZELE and wife and Al Nichols came up from Empire today. Mr. Rozele has purchased a five passenger Reo and was learning how to operate it today. Al Nichols says that Mr. Rozele has not sold his horses yet, evidently figured it would be cheaper to retain them to haul the machine out than it would be to hire other people's horses.

ODD FREAK OF HUMANITY

Gus Baker, Giant, More Like Woman than Man, Exhibited Here

A curious freak, whether man or woman is a matter of conjecture, as this is the only case of its kind known to the medical profession. He was exhibited at the office of Dr. Houseworth's where he was seen by a number of prominent citizens. The name of the individual is Gus Baker, and he or she is certainly a unique specimen of the genus homo. He stands 6 feet five inches and is a magnificent physique, but has almost the entire form of a woman. He comes of a family of giants, his father having been 7 feet 10 inches in height. Neither one of them were physically abnormal except that his mother had six fingers on one hand. Baker has a face and voice of a woman and at one time permitted his hair to grow 18 inches in length. Although large of stature and in perfect health he is unable to do manual labor, his flesh being that of a woman rather than a man. He has no passions, showing no fondness for children, and although circumstances have sometimes thrown him among strange people he has retained to a marvelous degree, a woman's morality, having no bad habits except that of cigarette smoking.

NORTH BEND

Upon the request of a few and the advice of many prominent people, among them Dr. Bartle and Mayor Simpson, the program for the book fund for the public library to have been given this evening at Loggie Hall, will not be given until two weeks from this evening, June 12, on account of so much sickness in North Bend. The program will remain unchanged.

W. H. Dewese and wife, of North Bend, will leave on the Breakwater tomorrow.

Misses Pearl and Irene Stewart, of North Bend, will leave for Portland tomorrow.

James Makas, of North Bend, will leave on the Breakwater tomorrow. The youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar McDaniel has been seriously ill of pneumonia.

FIX MYRTLE POINT ROAD

Douglas County Official Start Improving Highway.

The Roseburg Review says: Road Master Brinkerhoff and County Surveyor Frank Cain left for Canas Mountain this morning, where they are surveying the changing the grade of the road, extending from the end of the plank of the summit of the mountain, preparatory to its improvement. As soon as the preliminary work is done, the road will be planked as far as the summit of the mountain, thereby rendering it in fairly good condition during the entire twelve months of the year. Other improvements contemplated on the Myrtle Point road is its relocation from the summit of Canas Mountain to the Canas Valley store. Much of this work will be completed during the present summer.

GUERIN IN ROSEBURG

Waterman C. Guerin, formerly of Coos Bay, but for the past few years of Washington, D. C., leaves here for Alaska tonight, where he will be employed by the Government in surveying and locating the new railroad. Once previously he spent a couple of years in Alaska on Government work. Mrs. Guerin, who accompanied him here from Washington, will spend the summer in Coos and Douglas counties, visiting with friends and relatives.—Roseburg Review.

Myrtle Point Death.—Word was received here today of the death of Mrs. Ward, a sister of Cecil Carter, who died yesterday at Myrtle Point following an operation for goiter. She is survived by several children and the death is particularly pathetic.

RUSTLER HIT ON ROGUE BAR

Capt. Olson Has Thrilling Experience—Six Aboard Boat on Bar.

J. C. Martin returned last evening from a trip to Curry County for the Bradley Candy Company and reports that the launch Rustler was all but wrecked while crossing in over the Rogue River bar Sunday. She ran in on the South Spit and was aground for quite a while, but finally worked off into the channel and reached the dock without damage.

Mr. Martin was at Port Orford where the Rustler was unloading cargo and being in a hurry to get to Gold Beach, he made arrangements to go as a deckhand on the Rustler. The Rustler is not permitted to carry passengers. There were six aboard. It was expected that she would make the run in about two hours. However, it grew a little rough and they had to put out to sea. About six hours later, they made for the Rogue River bar. They had not gone far in when she struck. Capt. Olson turned broadside and let the seas hit the boat in gradually.

A call was sent for lifesavers, but Capt. Olson's plan worked out and the Rustler was safely inside before rescuers could arrive. All on board were more or less water-soaked by the seas that broke over the Rustler.

It is said that the accident was caused by the Rogue River channel changing. The channel marks were taken down Saturday to be set for the new channel but had not been put up. Capt. Olson started in on the same route he had followed on his previous trip but he found a shoal instead of deep water.

Along the Waterfront.

Capt. Matson, of the Roanoke, reports that he nearly ran into a big log, about forty feet long and about three feet in diameter, about twelve miles northwest of Cape Arago last week.

The U. S. Inspectors are expected here on the next Breakwater to inspect Capt. Olson's new boat, the Roamer, which has just been fitted out with her machinery and is now ready to go into commission.

The Dow lease on Ocean Dock, owned by the Reynolds Development Company will expire next month.

The Millicoma has changed from steam power to gasoline.

Wood block pavements made from sawmill butts is a new industry proposed in Lane county.

Construction of the long trestles on the line between Siuslaw and Marshfield has begun.

LINEUPS ARE ANNOUNCED

Managers Chandler and Hull Name Players for the Sunday Game.

Manager Chandler of the Marshfield team and Manager Hull of the North Bend squad this morning announced the lineup of their respective teams for the Sunday game. They report all of the players in first-class condition, anxious and ready to get into action.

Chandler has learned that a committee at Coquille has succeeded in getting a subscription of $125 from the business men of that community and that the committee expects to raise $200 within a few days. Chandler will go to Coquille tomorrow and see what can be done toward financing the undertaking.

The lineup for the Sunday game is as follows:

Marshfield	North Bend
Landers	Horn
Johnson	Krause
Magary	1b
Burke	2b
Sater	ss
Louis	3b
Woods	lf
Riggs-Chandler	cf
Hyde	rf
Smith	Kelly

Elks to Play.

The Elks team will play at ten o'clock. Archie Johnston says that Tom James was slandering his aggregation by referring to them as the "scrubs." Archie says Sunday's game will determine which team is the scrub aggregation, the winner playing the Bandon Elks team later.

The Forestry Department will construct a bridge across the Breitenschub between Detroit and Niagara. All programs of radical legislation seem to be off in Oregon, and the recent primaries served a warning to politicians to let industries and business alone in the future.
