JULY FOURTH PLANS WANE

Unless Saloon Men Are More Liberal with Contributions There'll Be No Fireworks.

Unless the saloonmen contribute a liberal sum to promote the Fourth of July celebration the matter may be dropped. Such was the inclination expressed at the regular weekly meeting of the Marshfield Chamber of Commerce last night.

According to a report of the financial committee, which has been soliciting subscriptions, not more than $1,000 has been subscribed to date and that amount is held inadequate for a noteworthy celebration.

George Rotner, A. J. Mendel and Dr. E. E. Straw composed the financial committee. Their report showed that at the saloon men have contributed only $450, the remainder has been subscribed by business men who have nothing much to gain in a business way through the celebration.

According to the solicitors two or three of the saloonmen are willing to come through with a liberal donation, while the majority is holding out. Some have subscribed $50 and others $25. Most of them, however, will give five or ten dollars and no more.

It was pointed out at the meeting last night that the saloonmen would be directly benefitted by the celebration, and they should come to the front with their subscriptions. Members of the chamber of commerce could not understand why the saloons are holding out.

"The sum subscribed to date is inadequate to carry out our plans for the Fourth of July celebration," said J. Albert Matson. "We cannot progress under such conditions. The saloonmen, the ones who benefit most on such an occasion, give the least, it does not seem fair to other businessmen who receive no direct benefit through a holiday celebration."

It was decided to let the matter stand until a special meeting of the executive committee is called next Tuesday afternoon, when the matter of subscriptions will again be considered. If at that time the saloons are more generous in their offerings the Chamber of Commerce will be more inclined to go ahead with the proposed plans for a big celebration.

LITTLE DEVILS.

Big, bold devils of hoof and horn
I do not fear, they do not deceive;
Their bluster and threats I laugh to scorn,
For in their powers I don't believe.
The lesser devils we know as "ain,"
From the dread of them I am surely free;
But I fear the devils that trip right in,
Plaintively saying "It's only me."
Sly little ungrammatical things,
Homely and helpful—oh, all too kind!
A simple suggestion of ease each brings:
There are "That's all right" and "Never you mind";
There are "Don't you worry" and "That will do"; "You are tired now,"
"You need a drink,"
And "They really should do more for you,"
And "The world is all wrong, don't you think?"
These and others, a countless horde,
Of quaint little home-made devils stand
At your door demanding room and board,
Saying, "We're just home folks, understand!"
But let them in and they'll run the place,
And make you a slave, too, by and by;
They bring one down to a sure disgrace,
The mean little devils that help one lie.

FACTORY SITES AS INDUCEMENT

Dr. E. Mingus Suggests That Chamber of Commerce Secure Holdings.

That the Marshfield Chamber of Commerce should do something to secure land at a reasonable price and offer it to manufacturers as an inducement to get more factories established here was the opinion of the members of the chamber as expressed at the meeting last night.

The matter was brought up by Dr. E. Mingus who said that such a step would be the means of getting more smokestacks in Marshfield. He said that he knew of a concern looking for a site where it could manufacture railroad trucks and that it could be induced to come here as well as anywhere else if a desirable site was offered.

Hugh McLain, president of the chamber, said that the plan was an ideal one and that it should be carried out to a finish. He said that arrangements should be made at once to get several acres of land preferably along the waterfront.

It was pointed out that owing to the high prices of factory sites big manufacturing concerns do not find any inducement here and that if they could be offered free sites several more factories would soon be established.

A special meeting will be called at the Chamber of Commerce some time in the near future to consider the proposition.

MEMORIAL DAY

By John E. Dolsen.

The few survivors left of all
That mighty host of stalwart men
Who answered once the country's call
For help are gathered now again.

While 'neath the flag they sought to save
They totter on their weary way
To deck a fallen comrade's grave,
Their dreams are of a vanished day.

As memory takes a backward sweep
What recollections crowd their souls!
They see again the red flame leap;
Above the plain the dun cloud rolls.

Below the locks now thin and white
And wrinkled brow of age we see
From those old eyes leap into sight
The deathless soul of '63.

Those four dark years, when tears and blood
Mixed in a carnival of strife,
To us are but an episode;
To them they shaded all of life.

The march through cold, heat, snow or rain,
Body and nerve strained overtime,
The wounds that maimed with rack-
ing pain,
Made of them wrecks before their prime.

The few now left are marching on;
They'll cross the river soon and rest,
'Tis well before the last are gone
That they should know we hold them best.

Any person who can show to the judges of election satisfactory evidence that he or she has stock, shares or ownership in any corporation, firm or co-partnership which has property in the district, as shown by the last county assessment and not assessed by the sheriff, can vote, even though his name does not appear on the assessment list.

LUKE McLUKE SAYS

It has gotten so that a girl isn't considered a good dancer if she can't throw her hips out of joint and then throw them back in again.

It is hard to imagine how people thought of wearing underwear before the monthly magazines were started.

It doesn't take a woman long to get tired of a new hat or a new husband.

A man doesn't have to be a coward to be afraid of a woman. I know lots of mothers who could whip sixteen White Hopes if they thought their children were being imposed upon.
