

WHEN a man comes to The Live Wire Store for a Suit or light coat and mentions, say $15.00 as the price he wants to pay, we show him every Suit in our stock, several different models and sizes at that price, in a conscientious effort to make price and preference coincide.

There's no importuning to spend more than you intend, no measuring of service by the size of the sale . . . whatever you come for from a collar button to a $30.00 Suit, you'll get at your price if we have it.
