MEDIATION IS NOW IN BALANCE

Mediators Wait on Carranza to Agree to Deal With Huerta for Peace

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 29.—Despite continued expression of hope that Mexican mediation will not fail, considerable apprehension was shown today in official circles. Significance was attached to the fact that the mediation conference plans taking a recess until there is definite assurance from Carranza by tomorrow that his agents will meet the Huerta delegates and representatives of the United on plans for a provisional government as outlined in the recent protocol. Continued reports of the widening of the breach between Villa and Carranza added to the difficulty of the situation.

WED SATURDAY.

Saturday evening at 8:30 the marriage of Mair Dano and Miss Mamie Mahoney, one of Marshfield's best known and most popular young couples, was solemnized at St. Monica's parochial residence, the Rev. A. R. Munro officiating. The nuptials were very quiet, there being no invited guests.

The marriage Saturday evening came as a surprise to the friends of the couple as the date of the nuptials had been kept secret.

Immediately after the nuptials, the young couple proceeded to Empire, slipping away from their friends, who had received an inkling of the marriage. They returned yesterday and are now at home in their own residence on Nob Hill which Mr. Dano had already furnished for his bride. They plan to leave about July 10 on a little honeymoon trip, the destination of which has not been announced.

The bride is one of Marshfield's most highly respected and capable young women. She was cashier of the Coos Bay Water company for several years and encircled herself with a host of friends who will unite in congratulating the groom. Mr. Dano holds a responsible position in the Flanagan & Bennett bank.

That every happiness and joy which time can bring will be theirs is the hope of their large circle of friends.

EUGENE VISITORS.

Miss Barbara Booth of Eugene and Miss Bessie Hockett of Eugene arrived here this week to visit relatives. Miss Hockett is a sister of Claude Hockett, manager of the Southern Oregon company at Empire, and Mrs. H. M. Davenport of North Bend. Miss Booth is a daughter of R. A. Booth, republican candidate for U. S. Senator from Oregon, who will arrive this week to deliver the Fourth of July address in Marshfield.

LOCAL OVERFLOW.

Found Ticket.—The young son of Mrs. Sarah Wilson of South Broadway is reported to have found one of the tickets for free transportation to and from the Marshfield celebration. It was sent up in one of the balloons. Manager Knibb has not been notified, but it will not do the Wilson boy much good. It was found near the depot.

Pay Policy.—E. A. Anderson today turned over a check for $2000 to Mrs. F. M. Friedberg for the policy which Mr. Friedberg carried in the A. O. U. W. Mr. Anderson says that the A. O. U. W. has again demonstrated it is the best and most prompt pay of any of the fraternal insurance organizations.

FOUR ESCAPE IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Ronald McGeorge Driving One Car and C. C. Going another Meet on Narrow Road

Another automobile accident was narrowly averted when two machines collided on a sharp curve between Riverton and Bandon yesterday. Ronald McGeorge, D. I. Magee and Guy Torrey were in one machine, C. C. Going, Fred Magnusson and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hamel, of Albany, were in the other. The two cars met on a narrow stretch of road when both were going at a pretty good clip. Going's machine ran off the road and struck a tree. That it did not turn turtle is nothing short of miraculous as it was leaning at right angles when it went over the embankment.

Both machines were slightly damaged. The headlights on Mr. Going's auto were broken and the shield shattered. Those in the party were badly shaken up but none were injured. McGeorge and Torrey were on their way back after spending several hours in Bandon on business and pleasure.

VILLA LACKS WAR SUPPLIES

Clash With Carranza Prevents Him Importing Ammunition Through Tampico

EL PASO, June 29.—Lack of ammunition has blocked Villa's march toward Mexico City. Fresh from his victory last week at Zacatecas, he has returned to Torreón, bringing his entire army with him. Villa's relations with Carranza, in the opinion of agents here, unquestionably caused the abandonment of the campaign. The much-discussed entanglement reached the breaking point, they assert, in that Carranza has declined to allow Villa to import ammunition through the port of Tampico.

MILL TEAM IS EASY VICTOR

Mill Team Defeats Libby 13-2. Over 300 people turned out yesterday afternoon to see the game between the Big Mill team and the Libby team, which resulted in a score of 13 to 2 in favor of the mill team.

The Marks brothers formed the battery for the mill team. Elliott and Rudberg were the battery for Libby.

There was a number of good plays made by both teams and but few errors are marked against the mill team. The Marks brothers were ever on the alert and they were well supported by the entire mill team. Peter Sater, who played short for the mill team, stopped several hot ones and did good work with the bat.

The lineup of the two teams follows: Big Mill—Libby; Marks—Catcher; Elliott—Pitcher; Robertson—John Wilson; Lemaux—W. Dewesse; Sater—George Davenport; Hansen—Archie Wilson; Matelli—J. Wilson; Tellefson—Claude Elliott; Fairchilds—W. Wilson.

Brookler was the official umpire of the game and his decisions were readily accepted by the players and spectators. Only once or twice during the game was there any dispute.

COOS BAY TEAM WINS

The Coos Bay team defeated Coquille at Coquille yesterday by a score of 3 to 1. Osborne and Thomas were the battery for Coos Bay and Clinton and McDonald were the battery for Coquille. Marshfield made 7 hits and Coquille got 3. Something over 400 people saw the game at Coquille. The gate receipts amounted to $76.

IDENTITY OF HIGHWAYMEN MYSTERY

May Be In City. Officers in the neighboring towns have been notified to be on the lookout for the men. Many are of the opinion that they are mingling with the crowds on Front street and congratulating each other over their successful getaway.

Marsh Carter and Chief of Police Anderson, of North Bend, continue to sift every clue and it is possible that the men may be apprehended yet.

Jerry Kinney was also approached by the highwaymen at another point in the road near North Bend. He was driving a car at the time and had but one passenger, Neil Phillips. The robbers obtained some small change and other valuables from her, but got nothing from Kinney. Some gave her name as Ruby Morrison, of Coquille, and she stated that she said the robber did not get $150 in her stockings.

The news of the holdup spread like wildfire and groups of people could be seen all along Front street late Saturday night discussing the affair. Those who lost money and other valuables were lamenting their losses and accusing each other of having cold feet at the time of the robbery. All day Sunday, too, crowds gathered along the business streets to talk about the holdup.

Robbers Nervous. Victims of the highwaymen are of the opinion that they were amateurs at the business. According to what they say, the highwaymen were nervous and anxious to get through in a hurry.

Marsh Carter and Coroner Wilson spent all day Sunday investigating the holdup. They were probably the first to visit the scene of the robbery Sunday morning. Sheriff Gage left last night for Coquille.

Description of Men

John Noble gave about the best description of the two Empire road bandits that has been given. He said that he looked at them closely and although they were well masked, he is certain that he would be able to identify them. One was about six feet tall and very lanky build. He wore a pair of gray trousers and a dark brown shirt and slouch hat, and a blue bandana handkerchief around his neck. The other was short and heavy set. One had a .30-30 Savage rifle and the other a revolver.

Mr. Noble said that they first thought it was a joke and that Shannon Mitchell joshed the holdup men for a time after the car had come to a stop. Although the men had guns it was a few moments before they could realize what happened.

Mr. Noble says he does not say for the $7.50 they took from him, but he would like to get his watch back. He said that Street would have saved his money only after they searched him he made a remark that they did not get his and then one of the robbers came back and made a second search.

Mr. Noble said that if they had been alone, they might have been able to take a chance with the holdup men, but being unarmed and having the young women in their company they thought it best to get out as easily as possible.

HAS HARD FALL

Lakeport Man Loses Teeth and Has Ribs Broken. The Langlois Leader says: Sam Johnson, of Lakeport, while working on the Bunn barn, stepped on a loose board and fell a distance of about fifteen feet, striking on his chest, breaking several ribs and knocking out five teeth. Sam says he doesn't care about the broken rib, but he feels the loss of the teeth, as it makes him lisp, and he fears it might make him stutter.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE HOLDUP

News of Robbery Caused Big Crowd to Congregate to Discuss Event

The auto holdup on the Empire road caused some of the most sensational scenes in Marshfield and North Bend late Saturday night that have been witnessed here in a long time. Front street in Marshfield was thronged with people eager to hear from each returning autoist his story of the holdup.

Within a short time after the first car returned, a dozen different auto parties proceeded down the road, the occupants being armed heavily for the bandits if they were able to encounter them. There was talk of trying to organize a posse and search the woods for them but some held back when there was no way of keeping check on those going down, fearing that a promiscuous hunt might result in an accidental shooting.

North Bend Scene. There were a number of amusing incidents in connection with the affair. Yesterday Marshal Anderson of North Bend informed Walter Richardson that a number of possees were organized there to search for the robbers. He said that one of them, after arming to the teeth, proceeded to leave all their money, watches and other valuables in a safe place to make sure that they would not be robbed.

Thought It a Joke.

Will Goodrum at Goodrum's garage was one of the first in Marshfield to hear of the holdup and immediately telephoned the police here. He said that they seemed to think that someone was joking them and he could not make them believe that there had been a regular holdup. He and party immediately proceeded to the scene, but there was no one in sight.

Made Quick Getaway.

Roy Ruffner was returning to Marshfield at the time, having taken a party to the South Slough dance. Lynn Lambeth was close behind him. When Ruffner saw it was a sure-enough hold-up, he jumped from his car, leaving the engine running, and jumped onto Lambeth's car. Lambeth turned on full reverse speed and backed down the road at a forty-mile clip until he got to a point where he could turn around. Then they proceeded to Empire and gave notice of the holdup and gathering up a crowd returned to the scene.

Two on Horseback.

The early reports connected two men on horseback with the holdups, but these were a mistake. Lloyd Cox and George Terry, who are connected with a logging camp on South Inlet, were riding along the road on horseback and passed the scene shortly before the robbery. Later they returned to the scene, but they knew nothing of the robbery.

Owing to the matter reflecting on them, they planned to see the officers today and tell them all they knew about the affair.

VAN DUYN MADE VICTIM BY HOLDUP

Chas. Q. Van Duyn, of The Chandler, was the victim of some joker in connection with the Goddess of Liberty contest to the extent of $15. Late Saturday he received a telephone message from a young woman purporting to be Miss Elma McDonald, clerk at his cigar counter in The Chandler lobby, stating that she had $15 more raised by the Blue Ridge Tigers for her, and as they could not get it in time to vote, she wished he would put in that amount for her and then she would pay him back. He did so and yesterday morning when Miss McDonald came to work asked her about it. She did not know about the message at all and now he is looking for the individual who jobbed him.

THE FINISH

- Emma Erikson (Elks) . . . 656,000 Gladys Roddy (Phone) . . . 313,650 Gertrude Seafie, (Moose) . . . 136,400 Bessie Flanagan (Eagles) . . . 57,600 Elma McDonald . . . 47,500 Salemen . . . 47,500

The Goddess of Liberty voting contest closed with a whirlwind finish Saturday night, the result being given below.

The total receipts from the contest were $1210.15, which was turned over to Manager H. J. Kimball, exclusive of the receipts from concessions, available for the attractions and entertainments for the two-days merrymaking in Marshfield.

The voting closed at 9 o'clock Saturday night, and the last hour or so was rather thrilling. Someone informed J. W. Hildenbrand, who was conducting the Elks' campaign to elect Miss Erikson, that someone had been holding back for one of the rival candidates and was dumping in a barrel of votes. He rounded up some of the Elks and they proceeded to do a little pouring of votes, with the result that they had more than two to one.

All of the Coos Bay Home Telephone girls worked loyally for their candidate and they are deserving of much credit. Friday and Saturday some of the girls got out and made a canvass and Saturday evening they turned in about $150 which their friends had contributed.

The Chamber of Commerce room and representatives of the various candidates to witness the final count. It was made by the four committees, which consisted of Chas. F. D. Cohan, Fred Wilson, G. Horton, W. S. Turpen, C. N. Burg, L. L. Thomas and R. G. Graves.

The credit for the voting contest largely belongs to F. D. Cohan who suggested it and the members of the committee who aided him in conducting it. When it was first suggested, many thought that would not amount to anything as few thought that more than a couple of hundred dollars would be taken in. However, Mr. Cohan insisted it could be made more as the great success of it even exceeded his expectations.

Will Reward Candidates

Chairman Cohan of the committee has decided it is only fitting to reward the candidates for their hard work, and while all of them could not win, he feels that all are entitled to a little token of appreciation. He has called a meeting to arrange for this and each will receive some reward.

F. E. Wilson, F. G. Horton and W. S. Turpen have been named committee to arrange a handsome float for the Goddess of Liberty at her escorts, and also for a second float bearing the little girls representing the states of the union.
