

ITALIANS TO COME TO BAY

Whole Colony Will be Located Near Here—Work in Mill While Clearing Land

PORTLAND, Or., June 30.—P. E. Schwabe, foreign immigration agent of the Oregon Immigration Commission, returned from the Coos Bay country, where he succeeded in locating a party of Italian home-sucklers on lands now belonging to the Smith Lumber Company. These advance agents of what is proposed shall be an extensive colony, have been traveling all over the United States in search of an ideal dairy country. Their dairy operations, however, will be done with sheep and the milk will be transformed into cheese.

Pablo Griffin, Giuseppe Bua and Anton Spaneda are the men Mr. Schwabe took to the land. The party went out from Roseburg by automobile stage to Myrtle Point and thence by mule back and pack horse. They set out for the Sitkum forest reserve, hoping to find suitable lands in the arid forest region. Finding the available land there too rough and high for successful sheep raising, the party went north into Coos county and found what the Italians said is an ideal spot.

Means New Industry. The only cheese of the kind to be produced by these colonists is now brought from Italy and an import tax of four cents is exacted on every pound. A large cheese concern of New York is said to be helping in the search for a tract where this variety can be made in the United States.

If first experiments in Coos county prove successful, other lands will be sought for a more extensive development of the industry.

Coos Is Ideal Place. The "ideal spot" they finally picked on is near to the sea level, very moist and would prove rich in grass. Arrangements are now being made with Mr. Smith for terms of purchase. In the meantime the Italians were given jobs at the sawmill in Marshfield and as soon as the deal is closed will send for their people and begin clearing and seeding the land.

The ordinary western Oregon sheep will be employed in the new industry, with a few Merino rams to be imported to improve the milking quality of the ewes.

SURF-BOARD RIDER HERE

Ted Prebble, of Portland, and George Kelly, Make Ready for Water Events

Ted Prebble, of Portland, and George Kelly, who will do the surf-board stunt on the Fourth of July, practiced their feat late yesterday afternoon. Both stood upright on the speeding abogie, which was tied to the motorboat Frantz and rode from Paradise to the foot of Market street. Their stunt attracted many people to the waterfront.

Although it was the first time they have performed together in several weeks, they experienced no difficulty in keeping their balance, and both feel sure that they are capable of giving a spectacular exhibition on the Fourth. The boys performed an act termed the "drunken ride" and spectators gazed on in astonishment at the skill they displayed.

Prebble arrived yesterday morning on the George W. Elder. He brought his shingle along with him and it is now on display in front of the Marshfield News Stand, at Front and Market streets. Prebble is also exhibiting a gold medal, which was presented to him by the 1914 Rose Festival committee, of Portland. It shows that he won first prize in the water events as well as the championship of the state.

Prebble's reputation as a surf-board rider is well known, and his services have been demanded by Fourth of July committees in many different towns. He had an exceptionally good offer from Astoria and another from Cover d'Alene. The Marshfield committee outbid the others, however, and Prebble decided to participate in "our Fourth of July."

Prebble is a personal friend of F. D. Colian, one of the most active members of the Fourth of July committee, and that coincidence also served as an inducement.

Kelly is employed at the Marshfield News Stand and is well-known in baseball circles.

WILL BAR BOOZE

Mayor Morrison and Attorney Liljeqvist to Keep Coquille Dry.

The Coquille Sentinel says: "Mayor Morrison asked the Council what they intended to do about passing an ordinance forbidding the licensing of saloons. He said if the town was to be dry it must be very dry. Would rather see it wet than half dry. Will do everything in his power to make it dry. Favored giving bootleggers a good stiff fine for the first offense, and for the second favored putting a ball and chain on them and putting them to work on the street. If they wouldn't work, feed them on bread and water."

"Mr. Liljeqvist said if the Council so desired, he would draw up as drafted an ordinance as the laws and constitutions of the state and the United States would permit. But he wouldn't care to try to enforce an ordinance permitting the searching of suitcases, because sooner or later he would be involved in a lawsuit and stuck for heavy damages."

COST OF TRANSPORTATION

Man Says Freight from Eugene is Higher Than Around Cape Horn

C. A. Walker showed up some old receipts—probably the oldest in existence in Coquille. Both covered the same lot of goods, three trunks, two chests, two bundles of bedding, one pair of clamps, one keg and two boxes. The first of these receipts was dated November 24, 1849, and was for $2 for the transportation of these goods by steamer from Hartford, Conn., to New York City. It was made out to E. Lankton, who was the great grandfather of Mr. Walker. The second was for $14.42, to pay for the transportation of these goods from New York City to San Francisco, California. This was made out to Mr. Walker's grandfather, John W. Denning, and was dated December 4, 1849. The stuff was shipped by the schooner Rochester. Mr. Walker says that for the transportation of the same goods from Eugene, Oregon, to Coos County, by way of Portland, with the addition of a cabinet organ, he paid a freight bill of $58.80—or at a rate at least three times as great as was paid to bring them around Cape Horn sixty-five years ago.

TO BUY LAND BACK AGAIN

Gardiner Mill Company Must Pay $2.50 Per Acre for 4500-Acre Tract Now

PORTLAND, Or., June 6.—Judge Bean forfeited 4500 acres of land near Gardiner, Deuel County, belonging to the Gardiner Milling Company, to the Government with the proviso that the company buy it back in six months for $2.50 per acre. This was one of the 45 cases involved in the Oregon and California land grant case, two-thirds of which have already been settled. The Gardiner Milling Company is one of the oldest companies in the state. It began the purchase of the land involved in May, 1877, and bought additional tracts from time to time until March 19, 1909, at prices ranging from $1.75 to $4 an acre. Permission to repurchase the land was granted under the act of Congress of August 29, 1912. Special Attorney Husted was in charge of the case for the Government.

MORE TROUBLE ON ISLANDS

President Wilson Puzzled as to What to do About Santo Domingo Strife

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.) WASHINGTON, D. C., June 30.—"Very muddled" was the characterization applied to the San Dominican situation by President Wilson. He said it was difficult to know just what to do in the Dominican Republic, because of the many elements entering into the situation. He received word of firing by an American gunboat to stop the bombardment of federal troops of the rebel city of Puerto Plata, but did not disclose what he expects to do finally. The gunboat took the action because the two factions had agreed not to use artillery and destroy property.

BERT JOHNSON'S LATEST

Henryville Man Sets Fire to Coquille City Jail.

The Sheriff's office here having Bert Johnson in tow, and desiring to have him sobered up as soon as possible, turned him over to Officer Miller to take care of in the city jail. Bert asked for a match to light a cigarette before being locked up, but it afterwards transpired that he had matches. Some time after there was a smell of fire about the building and the bedding in Johnson's cell was found to be in flames, which it did not take long to extinguish. When found Johnson was feeling badly from the smoke, having tried unsuccessfully to put the fire out by taking the bedding to the sink and running water on it.—Coquille Sentinel.
