Man Is Here

Coos Bay is entertaining today two of the foremost eltizens of Oregon. R. A. Booth of Eugene and William Hanley of Burns. Both have long been identified with the interests of the state, Mr. Booth being foremost in the Oregon lumber busi-ness and Mr. Hanley in the ranch and cattle business. At present both are aspiring for one of the highest honors the state can confer, the Unit-ed States senstorship, Mr. Booth be-ing the Republican nominee and Mr. Hanley the Progressive nominee. Both will deliver Fourth of July addresses here fomorrow. Mr. Booth arrived last evening via Drain. Mr. Hanley arrived this morning on the Breshwater and Ha coming was a welcome surprise. His accordance of an invitation to speak have was conditional and he was not sure of being able to come until the just moment.

Both were given warm welcomes, having many friends been, although neither had ever visited the How. Both expect to remain here a few days and will probably visit the other ser-flons of the county. Each had laye desired to visit Coos Bay, but neither had been able to fulfill the desire until now.

Politics Taboord.

Although both are now in pellites, they barred polities for today and tamorrow as both placed patricilsm bration of the anniversary of their country.

Booth seld that the telp in from Drain was a little tedfors, but he found consolation in the fact that it would not be long before the 'raff-politics but he knows Oregon and
