ARRANGE PLANS FOR MOOSE DAY

City to Be Decorated as on July 4th—Parade, Sports, Restroom Features.

Harken, Oh Ye Faithful! The edict has gone forth from the Palace of the Lord High Executioner, by command of the High Priest Potentate, that all Loyal Moose, their families and their friends, prepare for the journey to the Primeval Forests of Marshfield, Oregon, on August Fourth, A. D. 1914, there to partake and participate in the many features and festivities of the first "Coos County Moose Day."

So reads a big red poster, familiar to all citizens who have frequented the public highways and other public places within the last few days. The poster also extends an invitation to relatives and friends of the people of Marshfield living in remote parts of Coos County and elsewhere. They are asked to bring anything and everything that will add to the success of the occasion.

The general committee on arrangements is working with as much zeal and earnestness as did the Fourth of July Committee and they intend to make the occasion one grand success without asking donations from the business houses, other than prizes which they will put up voluntarily. Any expression of co-operation and assistance from the business men of the community will be highly appreciated and duly reciprocated by the committee.

At a meeting of the various committees last night in the Builders' Exchange offices, preliminary plans were worked out for the coming event. Some additional committees were appointed and other matters attended to. Dr. Straw was named as a committee of one to look after the restroom feature. He was instrumental in establishing such a public place for the Fourth of July celebration.

The Moose have planned to decorate the streets of the city similar to the manner in which they were decorated during the recent two-day celebration. Moose emblems and colors will predominate, but the national colors in flags and bunting will add to the decorative scheme. A number of Moose heads are being collected and will be placed in conspicuous places.

Following is those who have taken an active part in making Moose Day a success:

- Chairman and General Director—J. M. Wright.
- Finance—G. W. Tribbey, J. F. Tolander, J. E. Edmunds, C. W. Viers.
