A MODERN HERO.

Yes, the girls all rush to meet him with their most engaging smiles. And the chaperones all greet him with the most approving smiles. Tho' he may not be a wonder, and he may be far from clever. And he may not be a leader in a single great endeavor. Tho' he boasts no other talent, and his hair peaches is scant— He can dance the latest dances, and the other fellow can't!

He can force your admiration in a moment when he speaks. Of the newest steps they're using in the popular Maxixe; He can do the Hesitation in the only proper way. And he claims that Castle Walking is behind the times today. He deserves his present glory, for the jealous must allow. He can dance the newest dances and the others don't know how.

THE QUALITIES a young woman should possess to be an "ideal wife" have been named by a large number of young men of Pomona, Cal., as the result of the selecting of the "ideal husband" by the young women of the First Baptist church. The pastor, the Rev. W. F. Harper, first preached a sermon on the "ideal husband" from the standpoint of the young woman.

To secure his data he distributed lists of questions to over a hundred Pomona girls, and from these answers a most interesting sermon was delivered.

There came a demand for another sermon in which the young men should have an opportunity to express the qualifications which they considered the "ideal wife" should possess.

Accordingly questions were distributed among more than a hundred young men. Practically all responded.

The young men say that the "ideal young woman" must be healthy and strong, but not masculine. She is tall or medium as to height, erect of carriage and possessing the beauty of character rather than face.

Brunettes have the preference, though blondes and those of medium complexion are not without admirers.

The athletic young woman is preferred only insofar as her interests in athletics indicate good health and ability to keep a neat tidy home.

All want to know her disposition in the home and her treatment of her home folks, especially of her helpfulness to her mother and her attitude toward her brother. Chumminess with her father and brother counts strongly in her favor.

The following characteristics are mentioned as indispensable: A sunny, joyful, affectionate disposition; integrity, vivacity, practicability, straightforwardness and honesty; modesty in dress and manners and will power enough to stand by a right decision.

Nearly all insist that she have practical domestic training, while a musical and business education are declared to be desirable.

WED IN COQUILLE.

A beautiful wedding was solemnized on Wednesday evening at half past eight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Johnson, when Miss Esther Johnson became the bride of Mr. R. Stanley Dollar, of San Francisco. Archdeacon Horsfall officiated, using the impressive Episcopal rite service. The ceremony was read under a floral arch of pink and white roses in the presence of the relatives and only the most intimate friends.

The bridal party entered the room to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Mrs. Cal Sizoo, sister of the bride.

The bride was charmingly attired in a gown of white crepe-metecor with pearl and lace trimmings. She wore a flowered tulle veil, arranged in a Juliet cap, held with orange blossoms and carried a white prayer-book. She entered on the arm of her father and was attended by Mrs. E. E. Johnson, matron of honor. Her gown was of pink charmese with passementerie trimmings.

The bridegroom wore the conventional black and was attended by Mr. E. E. Johnson.

The decorations were both elaborate and artistic. In the living-room huge bowls of roses and ropes of greenery intertwined with flowers made a very pretty effect. The dining-room, where a buffet supper was served, was a veritable garden of pink and white sweet peas.

The happy couple were the recipients of many costly gifts. The bridegroom's gift to the bride was in the form of a handsome platinum wedding ring set with one diamond for each year of her life, making the entire value of diamonds.

The bride is the beautiful and accomplished daughter of Mr. Alfred Johnson, Sr., and has spent most of her life in Coquille. The bridegroom is a well known young business man of San Francisco.

After a short honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Dollar will reside at Oakland, Cal., where they will be at home to their friends.—Coquille Sentinel.

LIBRARY NOTES.

The Survey for July 4th contains an account of the impressive meeting of the Federation of Woman's Clubs at Chicago. At that meeting woman's suffrage received a triple endorsement, from the association itself, from the Supreme Court of Illinois and from the International Council of Women then meeting at Rome.

The Atlantic for July, 1914, has a startling piece: "Message to the Middle Class." It reads like the prelude to an account of the French Revolution. It says we are on the verge of a great change.

The Scientific American Supplement records the tercentenary of the invention of logarithms by Napier with an account of Napier's life. What modern life would be without logarithms, things most of us don't even know the meaning of, requires a flight of imagination. To mention just the new railroad that is being built, that would be almost impossible without them.

The library has lists of the new books added to the University of Oregon library. Incidentally anyone can borrow from this library exactly the same as if it were located on
