OAKLAND WILL BUY THE OLD HOME OF JOAQUIN MILLER

POET'S HOME IN CALIFORNIA CITY TO BE MADE MECCA FOR ADMIRERS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

(Special to The Times.)
OAKLAND, Cal., July 27.—For the purchase of "The Heights," the former home of Joaquin Miller, $40,000.
This item will appear in the budget this year for the City of Oakland and in a short time the beautiful home of the dead poet will belong to Oakland and will be the mecca of thousands who loved his work while he was alive and revere his memory now that he is dead.
The final step in the move to have Oakland acquire the poet's former home in the hills back of the city was taken when a large delegation of women called on Mayor Frank K. Mott and urged that the plan, which emanated from the women of Oakland, be carried out at once, so that "The Heights" could become city property before the opening of the 1915 fair. Mayor Mott promised the women that he would see that the item appeared in the budget. "The Heights" will, after the city gets title to it, become a part of the Wildwood chain of parks, a series of beauty spots that are unique in American cities. The chain consists in all of a little more than 300 acres and the Joaquin Miller place is one of the links.

"It is not merely a sentimental feeling that prompts the Oakland women to urge the purchase by the city," said the leader of the delegation. "The place is really historic, and it can be bought now for much less than will be the case later."
The stamp of Joaquin Miller's personality has been placed on this home, where he lived for more than a quarter of a century. Some of those who live in Oakland may not realize how highly the poet was esteemed by the people of the East and of Europe. We were too near him, possibly, to obtain the proper perspective. We are beginning to see that his old home will be the mecca of many a tourist, and that will be one of the big taking points of Oakland and of California at large.

BRIDE, GROOM AND GUESTS ALL AT SEA IN WEDDING

LOS ANGELES, July 28.—A unique wedding at sea has been planned by Miss Ruth Jones, daughter of a Chicago real estate operator, and her fiancé, Elsworth Busch, a merchant of Minneapolis. The arrangements for the nuptials include the chartering of a fleet of about twenty-five launches to convey the wedding party from Santa Monica out to sea a distance of about ten miles. Miss Jones estimates that the cost of the maritime wedding will be about $10,000.

about the "at sea" wedding. "When Mr. Busch and I became engaged I insisted that we should be married in the beautiful land of southern California. I and my parents have visited here frequently and it always has impressed me as being the ideal place to begin a happy married life."
"After we had decided to be wedded in the land of sunshine and flowers and reflected that our relatives and friends would be at a considerable expense in coming here to witness the ceremony, it appeared that we were duty bound to furnish them with something unique in the way of a wedding. We thought it over carefully and decided to be married out at sea."
"According to our arrangements the wedding fleet will leave the Bay at Santa Monica in the middle of the afternoon. Of course, we do not know the exact place where we will be married, but it will be about ten miles out from shore. A number of unique features have been planned which will be known only to the members of the sea-going party."

After the ceremony on the bosom of the deep, the bride and groom will proceed on the wedding trip to Santa Barbara without returning to shore at Santa Monica. They will be escorted part of the way by the fleet of launches. The wedding will take place the last week in September.
Relatives and friends of the young couple will come from Chicago, Minneapolis, New York, Philadelphia, Salt Lake City and other cities to attend the wedding. The combined traveling expenses of the members of the wedding party will aggregate several thousand dollars.
"When I first told my friends of our plans they did not take me seriously," Miss Jones said yesterday at the Lankershim, where she is a guest. "But we are very much in earnest

NEW MILKING MACHINES IN

W. H. MONROE AND A. H. CRISSELL INTRODUCE NEWLY PERFECTED ONES IN COOS AND CURRY—ARE BIG SUCCESS.

W. H. Monroe and A. A. Crisell, representing the firm of Monroe & Crisell, of Portland, Or., are making a trip over Coos and Curry Counties which have recently been released by a San Francisco house on contract goods manufactured by D. H. Burrell & Co.
This line of goods includes the Simplex cream separator, the B. L. K. milking machine, and factory equipment.
The milking machine, while it has been right in principle, had some imperfections which are now perfected and it now seems to conform to nature exactly and is a decided success, as many of the leading dairymen of the state will attest, and is a great boon to the dairy industry of this section as well as to parts of the country, because it enables us to produce milk at much less expense than can be done by hand milking and at the same time is more sanitary and is the more humane way to treat the cow.

Nature's way was to let the young extract the milk from the udder and until the cow was bred up to produce more milk than was necessary to sustain the calf, that was all she gave, but now the cow is a very large factor in producing the products of all mankind, and her products rank away up among the first of the country in commercial value and the dollars from the dairy products buy more happiness and comfort than a like number of dollars from any other source, because the cow pays twice per day and buys the children's shoes and pays the expenses of running the home.

To make a milking machine that would draw the milk from the udder, entirely release and swallow the milk the same as the calf and which would not draw harder on the easy milking cow than necessary and draw hard enough on the hard milking cow to milk her successfully was no simple task and yet is a very simple machine, but this is the stage of perfection it has reached and is practical for the man with ordinary intelligence, and no other has any business around a dairy barn.

The milking machine has taken fifty years to get to its present state of perfection and has cost hundreds of thousands of dollars, and the man that has stuck to it, taken it up where his father left it, and made it practical and efficient, deserves great credit, as it is really one of the great accomplishments of this day and age, and they will be as common on the farm with twenty-five cows as any other machine for other purposes, and just as efficient.

HOT IN ENGLAND.

Torrid Weather Causes Much Agitation.
London, July 25.—American hot weather foods failed to take with the London public during the recent torrid spell, when the thermometer touched 90 degrees in the shade. The English restaurants in the business section reported no falling off in the orders for roast beef and Yorkshire, steak and kidney pudding and peas and potatoes, although there was an unusual demand for currant roll.
"All this talk about summer dirt and keeping cool is Tommy-rot." England's hot spell has started an agitation for reform in men's summer dress, but so far none have had courage to follow the American fashion of appearing on the street in shirt and belt. An Englishman never dispenses with the coat except when playing tennis and cricket and boating on the river. To appear without a coat on the links is quite as unpardonable in England as to go coatless in the streets.

NAME ON BALLOT ONCE.

U'Ren Must Elect to Make Race for Governor as Prohibitionist or Independent.
SALEM, Or., July 28.—W. S. U'Ren, of Oregon City, will have to decide whether he will make the race for governor as an independent or as a candidate of the prohibition party, for Secretary of State Ben W. Oleott, after consulting attorneys, ruled that his name could not appear on the ballot as an independent candidate and also as the candidate of the prohibition party.
U'Ren was given the prohibition nomination for governor several months ago. Prior to that he had announced his intention of becoming an independent candidate, and recently put nominating petitions in the field. Discovering there was a question whether his name could appear on the ballot as both an independent and prohibition candidate, he wrote to the secretary of state for a ruling.

CONVICT EUREKA MAN.

Charged with Accepting Money for Dismissing Bootleg Charges.
EUREKA, Cal., July 28.—Henry L. Ford, former United States Commissioner for the northern district of California, was found guilty of malfeasance on nine counts in the United States District Court here.
The indictments charged Ford with receiving $100 from each of 13 men, arrested for selling liquor to Indians, with the understanding that he would dismiss the cases against them, which were to be heard before him as Federal Commissioner.
The maximum punishment for Ford under the Federal statute is three years in the penitentiary and a fine of $3900.
