VICTIM OF TANGO ASKS SUPPORT FROM HUSBAND

Daughter-in-Law of Former Minister Conger Injured in Cabaret Entertainment.

NEW YORK, Aug .6.—A pathetic plea for support from Roy M. Conger because she is suffering from tuberculosis is made in an application filed in the supreme court by Mrs. Grace Fitch Conger, niece of the late Clyde Fitch, the playwright, for alimony of $35 a week pending a suit for divorce.

Mr. Conger, who is associated with banking firm, is the son of the late Edward Hurd Conger, who was United States Minister to China during the Boxer trouble. The plaintiff is ending some time in Coos S. Fitch, U. S. A., and is a native of the private auto.

Affidavits from three physicians submitted to the court by Mrs. Conger's attorney say there is no hope for her recovery and that she is too weak to earn her own living. She was hurt while tangoing in a Broadway restaurant. While doing the dip she slipped and her leg snapped at the
