ALL THINGS ARE YOURS.

Arise and possess the land!
Not one shall fail in the march of life,
Not one shall fail in the hour of strife,
Who trusts in the Lord's right hand,
Arise and possess the land!

All hail, all hail to the New!
The future lies like a world new born,
All steeped in sunshine and dews of morn,
And arched with a cloudless blue,
All hail, all hail to the New.

The Lord shall divide the sea!
And open a way in the wilderness
To faith that follows, to feet that press
Into the great To Be,
The Lord shall divide the sea!
—Mary A. Lathbury.

THE LADIES' AID SOCIETY.
(Republished by request.)

The old church bell had long been cracked:
Its call was but a groan;
It seemed to sound a funeral knell
With every broken tone.
"We need a bell," the brethren said,
"But taxes must be paid;
We have no money we can spare—
Just ask the Ladies' Aid."

The shingles on the roof were old;
The rain came down in rills;
The brethren slowly shook their heads
And spoke of "monthly bills."
The children of the board arose,
And said, "I am afraid
That we shall have to lay the case
Before the Ladies' Aid."

The carpet had been patched and patched
Till quite beyond repair;
And through the aisles and on the steps
The boards showed, hard and bare.
"It is too bad!" the brethren said;
"An effort must be made
To raise an interest on the part
Of members of the Aid."

The preacher's stipend was behind;
The poor man blushed to meet;
The grocer and the butcher as
They passed him on the street.
But nobly spoke the brethren then:
"Pastor, you shall be paid!"
"We'll call upon the treasurer
Of our good Ladies' Aid."

"Ah!" said the men, "the way to heaven
Is long and hard and steep;
With slopes of ease on either side,
The path 'tis hard to keep.
We can not climb the heights alone;
Our hearts are sore dismayed;
We ne'er shall get to heaven at all
Without the Ladies' Aid."

OREGON EGGS SHIPPED BY PARCEL POST.
Experimental Shipments by O. A. C. Both Successful and Profitable.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, CORVALLIS, Or., Aug. 8.
By properly packing eggs in a suitable container, parcel post shipment direct from producer to consumer has been proven to be both feasible and profitable. Experimental shipments made by the Poultry Department of the Agricultural College from Corvallis to Portland, a distance of 190 miles, have established the feasibility of this method of marketing eggs. Since the same rates are applicable up to a distance of 150 miles, eggs can be marketed as cheaply by this method from all points within 150 miles of Portland or other large city.

In anticipation of this phase of the poultry business, manufacturers have put a number of satisfactory containers on the market at reasonable prices. The weight of one kind having a capacity of ten dozen eggs, when packed with eggs of good standard size and quality, is about twenty pounds. Postal rates on this package in the second zone, from fifty to 150 miles, are 24c. The weight of the case is about four pounds and the return postage on this is 8c. This makes the entire cost of sending and returning the ten dozen eggs by parcel post 32c—which is slightly over 3c per dozen eggs. It is thus quite evident that the cost of sending eggs by parcel post direct to the consumer is considerably under the total charges of handling agencies for the cost of handling and profits of the transaction by the local buyer, by the commission men, and by the retailer. However much these charges may vary, the sum of them all could hardly be expected to be within the 3c cost of marketing by parcel post.

But eggs to be marketed in this way must be of good quality and they should be supplied regularly to the consumer. This requires that the eggs be gathered at least every day and twice a day in hot weather. They must also be stored properly and shipped promptly. At the time of packing, the over-sized, undersized, dirty and cracked eggs should be discarded for other use and only eggs of reasonably uniform size and quality placed in the packer.

Another important factor in this direct marketing is establishing trade relations between the producer and the city consumer. As a part of the extension service plans are being tried out and matured for a general and satisfactory method of bringing the consumer and producer together.

44 RIGHT AGE TO MARRY.
A certain well known divorcee noted for her beauty and her voice and famous elsewhere for her wide experience in matrimony, advises that no woman marry before she is 44. This is quoted as to girls marrying, not girls. What girl can get a man she has got to eat with the rest of her life? This is very trying. It is an institution. American girls good wives, but New York girls too frivolous and think too much dancing. The tango and fring cannot be friends. You cannot to keep house at a tango. Philosophy, but the philosophy the aged and the faded. It is to some women to preserve their youth as well as bloom even when have entered the roaring forties. Is it ever too late to marry the normal girl, and especially American girl, knows that a waste of time to wait to make one or more men happy. American girl is not so cold-blooded or so hard-hearted as to wait one or a hundred men for a quarter of a century, to breakfast with her husband and terrify her. On a pinch ready to cook it for him. At last she is not only willing, happy to pour out the coffee both and has plenty of strength to grace a tango tea.—Pittsburg Press.

IN WAR TIMES

FIRST ADDITION TO MARSHFIELD

Men willingly risk their property and lives in defense of their homes and hearth-stones; without hesitation they go charging into the jaws of death, into the mouth of hell. If men would show the same devotion to home in times of peace, building and improving fit dwellings for their loved ones, what homes we would have—and how few renters!

A splendid spirit is being shown by the home-builders in First Addition to Marshfield. Emulate their example; buy a home-site first and start the home-building this season.

Some very fine lots at $300 each. Terms to suit your purse. We will arrange for lumber on time also.

MRS. PANAPOPOLOGIS ZENYSPETSEROPOULOS.
She Causes the Arrest of Boys
She Alleges, Stole Calling Card

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—All in gladness, after all, in the life of a printer and the proof reader. In instance, every once in a while get a name like this in a copy: "Mrs. Panapopoulos spetsseropoulos." That sort of them wrinkle their brows and harsh, cynical things about the trade. But as to Mrs. Panapopoulos Zenyspetsseropoulos (she goes again, in full). She appeared before Judge Scully to prosecute Edward Holmes, 18, and Miles Orr, also 18. The boys had her up at the corner of Vermont place and Blue Island avenue and took her handbag, containing a worth of jewelry, a powder puff, nail file, 97 cents and a number of calling cards—presumably in the shape of tape rolls. The boys were reciting her name to the policeman but game court clerk, and confessed when she finished what they believed to be a fiery address of denunciation. The case was continued for a week so the Court inform itself if any one besides Mrs. Zenyspetsseropoulos has been victimized by the youthful hold-up men or whether they are first offenders.

COQUILLE DRY ORATORS.
Somebody must think the people of Coquille would rather hear a temperance lecture than go fishing. At any rate three of these misanthropes are coming in here in as many days. And the last one who was here and were doing very well as it was.—Coquille Sentinel.

BETTER THAN SPANKING.
Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W. Notre Dame, Ind., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.
