Council Meets Tonight.—The City Council will meet in regular session this evening, street matters and regular routine business coming before the body.

On Deer Hunt.—Dr. Houseworth and Fred Barnard left in the forenoon for this morning for Curry county, where they will enjoy a week's deer hunt.

Give Dance.—Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Chandler entertained about fifty of their friends from the South Coos River summer colony at a dance Saturday evening at their summer home.

Fine Potatoes.—Roy Landrith, of North Coos River, has a number of large potatoes such he grew, on exhibition at the Commercial Club, Secretary Wiley of the club desires to encourage the farmers to bring in their products in order that visitors may see what Coos county produces.

More Missing Men.—The Times is in receipt of an inquiry from W. M. Stephenson, Scrivener of the Order of Hoo Hoo, asking as to the whereabouts of G. H. Mews and W. J. Beasley, both members of Hoo Hoo, last heard from in this section.

Live Bunch.—Clark Bargar returned here last evening, after a few days spent at Marshfield, where he attended a meeting of the Shriners. He reports a fine time and says the Marshfield lodgesmen are certainly a live bunch of entertainers.—Roseburg Review.

Injures Foot.—W. H. Buckbee, employed on the Conway Apartments, suffered a severe injury to his foot late Saturday afternoon. He accidentally stepped on a nail, which penetrated the flesh to the bone. Mr. Buckbee will be unable to work for several days.

Cranberries Fine.—E. L. Robinson has returned from his North Inlet camp. He states that the cranberries are unusually good this year and the yield promises to be much greater than in previous seasons. He brought in some fine ones. The crop will be late and it will be month or so before they start pick them.

Warehouse Opens.—The warehouse of the Farmers' Union at the foot of Central avenue opened today with V. O. Pratt in charge. Facilities have been provided for handling the produce, which will be kept from the sun and in good condition. The farmers expect to use the warehouse as a distributing center.

False Fire Alarm.—The fire department was called out about noon yesterday to subdue a conflagration in the old Hospital building on Second street. A burning flue was the cause of the alarm being turned in, but on the arrival of the department the fire was found to have burned itself out.

Have Fine Camp.—Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ollivant yesterday visited the camp of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weaver near Sitkum. They report the campers having a beautiful place to camp and a fine time. Mr. and Mrs. Weaver expect to return Thursday, when Mr. and Mrs. Ollivant will move in for an outing. Fred Weaver has two deer now being cured.

Prepares Interesting Article.—G. A. Williamson, wireless operator at the Coos Bay station, has written an interesting account concerning conditions in the warring nations of Europe which will be published in an early issue of The Times. Mr. Williamson was for a long time connected with wireless stations in different parts of Europe and writes interestingly and with authority of life there.

University Man to Come.—Mrs. Herbert Armstrong, who has recently returned from Eugene, has received word from Prof. Lyman, head of the Music Department of the University, that he will come to Coos Bay and give two recitals, one in Marshfield and one in North Bend, providing his travelling expenses be paid by some club or organization whose members are willing to go to this expense. No entrance charge is made for the recitals, as they come under the University extension course. Mrs. Armstrong will try to interest some Marshfield organization to co-operate with the North Bend Library Board in order to secure this excellent educational feature.

FOREST FIRES NOW SUBDUED. Double Force of Men Get Conflagrations Throughout the County Under Control.

RECEPTION AT FINE NEW HOME. Over 100 Participate in Old-Fashioned "House-Warming" at John T. Culver Ranch on Catching Inlet

The forest fires throughout the county, which gained much headway lately because of the unusually dry weather, are now stated by W. J. Conrad to be under control. The force of firefighters has been doubled, about fifty men being engaged in the work, besides many volunteers in the southern portion of the county. The fires near Allegany were principally in green brush and resulted in no damage. Those on Lampa Creek, near Bandon, have been brought under control, as have also those on Sixes River, and the brush fires near Coaledo. Mr. Conrad calls the attention of the people to the fact that no permits are being issued for the burning of slashings, and anyone burning slashings before a rain falls will be subject to arrest and a heavy fine. Mr. Conrad doubts the report current that the Governor has issued orders that no more hunting licenses be issued. Mr. Tower of The Gunner, who is acting under the County Clerk, says that no information has reached him of the order, and knows nothing of it other than that the deer season has been closed.

The people of Catching Inlet were delightfully entertained Friday evening by Mr. and Mrs. John Culver, the occasion being the dedication of their new home. The house was artistically and beautifully decorated with cut flowers and greens, and even the yard manifested the prevalent air of hospitality by the numerous gleams from the Chinese lanterns which were suspended from the trees. The early part of the evening was a dedication service and was taken charge of by the Rev. G. Leroy Hall, who opened the program with a song service, and everyone joined heartily in the old familiar songs which everyone loves. Then followed a short address by Rev. Parker, who expressed in a few well chosen words the feeling of gratitude and thanksgiving felt by those present in being able to meet neighbors and friends on such an occasion. Then Mr. Hall gave an address very appropriate for such a gathering, his topic being, "The Enemies of the Home." He spoke of the blessings of the home and particularly aimed to point out reasons why they were not enjoyed, among which he mentioned the saloon, conventionality, modern methods in city life, and also lack of hospitality. He closed his talk with a reading from James Whitcomb Riley, after which the Rev. August Olson of Portland closed the meeting with prayer. Then followed a social time. The young people enjoyed a bonfire and joined in some lively games outside, while inside the older ones visited and talked over old times, not to mention the inspection of the fine, modern, new home which was unanimously admired. It extends out from a grove of maples, bespeaking the charm and hospitality which reigns within. After enjoying the delicious refreshments dispensed by Mrs. Culver, assisted by a number of young ladies present, the guests departed for their respective homes at a late hour, feeling better for having enjoyed the memorable occasion. Following is a list of guests: Mrs. L. L. Hazleton, Vernon Collier, Hubert, Cavanagh, Walter Kaino, Olive Richards, Zoe Dolan, Arthur Holms, Miss Gladys Mattson, Miss Ruth Hill, Oren Parker, Ralph Blake, Lucy Ross, Mrs. Rosa Preuss, Miss Maud Thurber, Elizabeth Ross, Robert Ross, Alice Black, Lois Black, Mrs. Henry Black, Mrs. George Black, Ellis Selander, Arthur Nelson, Miss Nell Nicholson, Charles Cavanagh, Harry Russell, Mrs. Harry Russell, Leonard Russell, Nora Russell, Laura A.
