New York's Latest Styles

We have received this week our first shipment of Ladies' Suits. These were purchased by us direct from the maker less than three weeks ago. We do not buy our suits in April or May, from a travelling man, long before the styles for the season are even known, as most merchants do. We go where they are made and get the new things while they are new and at prices that are right.

You can save 25 per cent by buying your Suit or Coat here.

We will have the very latest things in Coats in a few days.

WILL BUILD NEW SCHOOL

The election of the Coos River consolidated school district resulted in a favorable vote for the issuance of bonds to the extent of $10,000 for erecting a new building in that district. The vote was 46 to 15. A vote of 22 to 38 was cast in favor of the selection of the M. R. Smith site as the location for the new building. H. D. Bessey acted as chairman of the meeting, during which several hot debates were pulled off. About twenty women took part in the session.

Anson Rogers, who opposed the Smith site, offered to donate two additional acres of land free if the school should be located at Elk Rock, where the election today was held.

Change Work.—The fifty or more Spaniards who have been ballasting the railroad tracks in the yard were taken up the line yesterday to finish the work above Beaver Hill.

Opens Offices.—James T. Brand, a recent graduate of the Harvard Law School, has located in Marshfield and opened an office in the Coke building.

Building New House.—Harry Allen is making good progress with his new six-room cottage on North Ninth street.

New Attorney.—Warner A. Ackerman, an attorney recently arrived from Portland, has decided to locate in Marshfield and has secured offices in the Lockhart building.

Visitors in Town.—Catching Inlet people who are in town today are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Collier, Mrs. J. S. Thomas, A. E. Tower, Zella Wallace and J. A. Ward.

No Fire.—The fire which was seen east of town yesterday and looked serious is said to have been a slashing on the Noah ranch on Coos River and was under control. About forty acres were burned over.

Picnic Tomorrow.—The Presbyterian Sunday school will picnic at Piper's Grove tomorrow. Children and grown folks of any denomination will be welcome to join the picnic. Bring your baskets. The Alice H. leaves at 8 a. m.

Bicycle Stolen.—A bicycle belonging to F. H. Storey was stolen some time yesterday afternoon from the streets down town. He has a lost notice in today's Times and through this medium has hopes of regaining his vehicle.

To Get Funds.—Capt. Macgenn stated yesterday that he was informed while in Portland that if the Rivers and Harbor bill did not pass shortly, an emergency appropriation would be made for the harbor work. This will take care of the Coos Bay dredging, etc.

Workman Injured.—George Harding, foreman for Perham & Gidley on their street work in Ferndale, was seriously injured about one o'clock yesterday afternoon by a boulder falling on his shoulder. A physician was immediately called to care for the injured man. He was removed to his home in Ferndale.

Must Have Permits.—According to the recent ruling of the Oregon Game Commission, all persons having live deer or fawns in their possession after September 1 will be required to secure permits from the state or will be prosecuted. Deputy Game Warden Thomas says a number of Coos county people have tame deer in their possession.

A Nature Fake?—W. F. Hodson of Coos River has an exhibit at the rooms of the Marshfield Chamber of Commerce, a twig from a plum tree on which are thirty-seven plums, averaging in circumference slightly more than three and one-half inches. They are clustered on a single branch thirteen inches long. They are uniformly colored and without exception are well developed. They are of some Japanese variety, the exact species being unknown to Mr. Hodson.

Makes Good Record.—Guy Lattin who is now working on the Dredge Oregon says it is doing fine work. It is averaging between 3,200 and 4,000 yards in an eight hour shift, pumping the sand up on the island near the mouth of Pony Slough. He says that the sand is not washing a bit. He says that the Oregon is averaging much better than the Seattle as the latter has been pumping only about 7,000 yards in three eight-hour shifts and besides the Seattle is much larger and has more power than the Oregon.

In Justice Court.—A law suit was averted in Justice Pennock's court yesterday when Jennie Stuart and P. N. Thurston clashed over some of the furnishings of the rooming house in the Johnson building over the Marshfield Bakery, which Mrs. Stuart formerly ran and which has recently been purchased by Thurston. Each charged the other party. It is said, of taking property belonging to the other. After an exchange of search warrants and a threat of law suits, the difficulty was adjusted by Mrs. Stuart turning over a table to Mr. Thurston.

INJUNCTION TRIED TODAY

Peculiar Case Before Judge Coke—Street Improvement Issue to Be Decided.

The decision of Judge Coke was that the injunction against the city as to the assessment should be continued, but that against the contractors should be discontinued, and they can go ahead with the work.

A hearing before Circuit Judge Coke is in progress this afternoon to a motion to quash an injunction issued against the city in the matter pertaining to the improvement of Eighth street. The injunction was granted at the request of the attorneys for Mrs. Barry, who contends that her lots front on Seventh street, and not on Eighth street as charged by the city, and that assessments against her property should be charged to the improvement on Seventh street.

When the streets were renamed a few years ago, they were altered to read as they now stand by ordinance. The Barry lots, four in number, front on a street which branches in the shape of a letter "Y," the lots being on the stem. In the old plats of the city what is now Seventh was then First street, and embraced, according to counsel for Mrs. Barry, the street running the entire length of the addition, and was roughly curved in shape. The city contends that the old Second street, or present Eighth street, is the long street, and that Seventh is but a branch.

The city recently ordered the improvement of Eighth street by making a twenty-foot fill along Mrs. Barry's lots. She was not willing to pay the assessments under this ordinance but desired to come under the terms of the Seventh street ordinance, under which the assessments would be very much lighter, because of Seventh street being filled by the dredge in the Ferndale area.

The matter is a complicated one and testimony of those familiar with the engineering department of the city previous to the time of changing the streets may possibly be necessary.
