(By Associated Press to The Coos Bay Times.) WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 29.—Following is the official report of the naval battle off Cuxhaven, received at the British Embassy. It was dated last night:

A strong force of destroyers, followed by light cruisers and battle cruisers with submarines, were intercepted in the attack by the German destroyers and cruisers guarding the approaches to the German coast. All the British destroyers are reported afloat and returning in good order. Two German destroyers were sunk and many damaged. The enemy's cruisers engaged the British cruisers. The battle cruisers of the First Light Cruiser Squadron sunk the Mainz. The first battle squadron sank one cruiser of the Koin class and another disappeared in the mist on fire and in a sinking condition. The battle cruiser squadron, although attacked by submarines and floating mines, successfully evaded them. The light cruiser squadron suffered no casualties. FIELD MARSHAL LORD ROBERTS WANTS HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF MEN

Says Immense Army Needed for Present Conflict—German Army Advances 23 Miles Further Into France Following Victories Over Allied Forces.

(By Associated Press to The Coos Bay Times.) What little news escaped the censors today reflected chiefly on the situation in East Prussia, where the operations are assuming daily greater importance. The reports are conflicting.

Berlin officially reports that five Russian army corps were defeated by the Germans and Austrians south of Allenstein, while newspaper dispatches from St. Petersburg, on the other hand, claim Allenstein has been occupied by the Russians, who are investing Koenigsberg. From the same source comes a statement that the Russians are drawing a net around Lemberg, the capital of Galicia.

ENGLAND NEEDS HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF MEN

(By Associated Press to The Coos Bay Times.) Field Marshal Lord Roberts declared today that Great Britain would require hundreds of thousands of men for the present conflict. A Berlin report of the defeat of the British at St. Quentin, France, indicates that the Germans have advanced 23 miles south of Camrai, the scene of the recent German successes.

THINK BIG LAND BATTLE NOW ON BETWEEN ALLIES AND GERMANS

(By Associated Press to The Coos Bay Times.)

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Exhaustion on the part of the German troops and the consequent necessity of momentarily slackening their forward movement is offered in some quarters for the absolute silence which has veiled all operations in Northern France since the desperate struggle Wednesday, when a quarter million German soldiers tried to hack their way through the British lines. Just as many people, however, are convinced that the battle which Field Marshal French said on Wednesday was impending, is now in progress and that the commanders are awaiting a decisive outcome before permitting anything to become public.

ONLY 30 ENGLISH OF 2000 IN BATTLE SURVIVE GERMAN ATTACK

(By Associated Press to The Coos Bay Times.)

LONDON, Aug. 29.—The Boulogne correspondent of a London paper sent the personal story of a wounded soldier who arrived there and who declared he was one of thirty survivors of a British detachment of 2000 troops, who were practically wiped out by German artillery. The censor struck out the name of where the battle was fought.

"We were five days in the trenches," said the soldier. "It was about 2 a. m. when the end came. Things got quieter and our officers told us to get some sleep. We were preparing to obey when a light, or something, gave us away, and we found ourselves in an inferno of bullets. We could do nothing. We fell by the score. We were ordered to leave everything and retire, and we did what we could to obey."

SMALL ENGLISH FORCE HOLDS GERMANS UNTIL ATTACK

(By Associated Press to The Coos Bay Times.) LONDON, Aug. 29.—A Boulogne correspondent, writing of the battle of Tournai says: "A German cavalry force of 5000 men overwhelmed a British force of 700, who hourly expected relief, which never came. The Germans were victors at a terrible price. The British stood their ground until all hope was lost and only 300 remained. Then they retired, calmly carrying the wounded. It is charged that the Germans turned the tide by mounting quick firing guns in Red Cross Wagons. Even at the terrible disadvantage of ten to one, the English were holding their own when the hordes of Uhlans seemed suddenly to swoop down from everywhere. Throughout the town they galloped with amazing disregard for themselves and up to the very muzzles of our field guns."

The Austrian troops are pursuing the Russians from Krasnik, about 20 miles north of the Galician frontier in the direction of Lublin.

Austria, according to the same authority, has invaded Russia and occupied the region in front of Zamosse, a strongly fortified town in Russian Poland, 45 miles southeast of Lublin. The Austrians hold the region to the west, north and southeast of Lemberg, Galicia, and have advanced toward the Dneister River against strong invading forces of the enemy.

A special dispatch today to the Tages Zeitung says the British defeat at St. Quentin was complete. The British losses were heavy and the routed British forces were forced to accept battle by the German cavalry who were in masses on their line of retreat.
