RUSSIANS CLAIM REPULSE OF AUSTRIANS WITH HEAVY LOSSES

Military Experts Claim That Decisive Battle Will Soon be Waged on Frontier

CZAR'S TROOPS CLOSE IN ON AUSTRIANS

Claim Latter Lost Tens of Thousands of Men and One Corps Was Annihilated

[By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.] LONDON, Sept. 1.—The Times St. Petersburg dispatch gives the following comment on Russian operations against Austrians:

"Russian operations against the Austrians are considered by recognized military writers to have reached the stage when decisive victories may be within reach. The capture of a railroad center forty miles south of Lemberg involves the rupture of railway communication with the Austrian fortresses on the Silesia and in Bukovina.

"Thus the southern part of Galicia, as well as Bukovina is severed from the remaining portions of Galicia except by the circuitous route across the Carpathians as a result of the iron ring closing around Lemberg."

"According to the Rusko-Slovo, the Austrian losses in their desperate attempt to strike the Russian position in Poland aggregate tens of thousands, including the sixth Austrian corps, which, retreating between the Western Burg and Wierps Rivers, was almost annihilated."
