PERSONAL MENTION

EUGENE CROSTHWAITE says he wouldn't be in Europe for anything.

CLAY CHURCH, "The Owl's" right-hand man, is rapidly becoming an enthusiastic automobilist.

HARRY M'KEOWN requested that we mention his name occasionally in The Booster. Here goes Harry.

FRANK PUGSLEY was going to build a house, but he says now he is saving his money for a flying machine and will live in his castles in the air.

P. N. FLAGG and family left this week for the Carlson ranch on Coos River where Phil will try to flag fortune by becoming a full-fledged rancher.

A. E. NEPPE, our popular hardware merchant, says the Germans could make it hotter for the French if they had one of his heaters. Some little Joker, Al.

FRANK COHAN, our managing editor, says he would rather be in "The Owl" on Central Avenue than be in the King's palace in Belgium.

GUY CHAMBERS gave ye scribe a five-cent cigar the other day and we smoked it to the bitter end. It may have been a bribe, and we have been trying to think what we have on Guy.

DAVE STAFFORD says some Central Avenue men who can't raise a hair on their head can raise a lot of dough simply by signing a check. Hair isn't everything in this world.

Seattle Man Here.—S. G. Ruth, the amusement arbiter of fun and foolishness in Seattle has been a Central Avenue visitor this week and was shown around the corners by our beauty editor, J. I. Terrell. Jesse is some little entertainer himself and as a booster he is Al. Mr. Ruth may decide to locate here and invest in an amusement park or a theatre. He is welcome to our city—and that's no joke.

Burglar Scare.—Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ollivant returned from their outing trip early last Saturday morning and repaired at once to their apartments over the Ollivant & Weaver Store. Having traveled all night they retired and slept soundly until about 12 o'clock when Ray began preparations for a venison dinner. Fred Weaver and Phil Flagg hearing the noise in the Ollivant apartment and thinking that Ray was miles away chasing deer, mobilizing a posse started at once to investigate. Phil Flagg brought out his pocket knife and opening it, fed the way. Fred Weaver followed with a cheese knife. The door being locked Phil promptly battered it down and called on the bold burglars to surrender and save their lives. Ray Ollivant surrendered promptly, but Fred and Phil say there's nothing much to this detective business, anyway.

Does Service Means Anything to You?

Think it over! Is it better to trade at a drug store where every courteous attention is given to send you away completely satisfied?

Or that you trade in some store of indifferent methods, where the only object is to get your money?

Satisfactory service adds value to the goods you buy.

Our service IS satisfactory. We make it so. For years we have been following this fine principle till it has built up our present splendid business.

The satisfaction of our customers therefore, has proved our greatest asset.

We want your trade, and in return we promise to give you the best of drug store goods at the lowest prices and, in addition, to give you service that will ensure your friendliness and continued patronage.

CENTRAL AVENUE JOTTINGS.

Open Season.—The open season for umbrellas is here.

No Burglars.—No burglars on Central Avenue—yet. Here's our sympathies, Davy Jones.

Auto Accident.—There was a peculiar auto accident between the Chandler hotel and North Bend the other day. The driver forgot to collect my fare.

School Opens.—School opened Monday and there was a prompt mobilization of the Central Avenue bachelor squad to prepare for the coming campaign.

Too Dangerous.—A man dropped dead the other day while buying a birthday present. Ye Editor's wife's birthday is tomorrow, but I told her we couldn't afford to take chances.

Flood Damage.—Old Jupiter Pluvius broke into the Hub Dry Goods Store the other night and put things in soak. When Jack Carter heard it he said he has had his eye on old Jupiter for several weeks now.

Crab Club Will Act.—J. T. Harrigan expects to call a special meeting of the Crab Club soon to take action on the European War. J. T. is in favor of the allies, but Emperor William also has some friends and result may be a resolution of neutrality.

"Lady Bountiful" Goodrum.—When little fellows who "daddy's" work in "obile," possibly Fords, can't find either "their candy" or their home, Geo. Goodrum believes in repairing half their injury at least, and if one can't provide a new home, one should at least provide new "candy."

Central Avenue Carnage.—The war on Central Avenue was short, sharp and decisive. The colors from the Coke building with streamers and bunting flying, met the Myrtle Arms on the right wing and retired. It was no con the way the first regiment went down. The war censors refused to permit the details to be given out.
