Spread Of Scarlet Fever Can Be Stopped

Every mother and father of young children will hear with something more than interest the statement by Dr. J. B. Murphy of Chicago that he brings back from Europe the news that scarlet fever can be freed of contagiousness. So high is Dr. Murphy's rank among physicians that his announcement will be accepted throughout the medical profession as one made after sufficient investigation to warrant confidence little less than certainty that he is not mistaken. Scarlet fever is a somewhat mysterious, as well as a most terrible, malady, for though there is reason to believe that it is of bacterial origin, its germ has never been isolated. Not only are its victims in serious danger of death from its direct consequences, but if they survive these, only too often they suffer through life from grave physical or mental incapacities. It numbers among the most contagious of the fevers, and every case of it is therefore a public danger. The spreading of the disease is what Dr. Murphy says can be stopped, and by the very simple expedient of daily inunctions with oil of Eucalyptus. This is a well known germicide of the milder sort, and would hardly be expected to be efficient for the purpose, but the question is one of fact, not of expectation. If it works, scarlet fever ought soon to be conquered, not by cure, but by prevention, which is vastly better.—New York Times.

TRY TO AID TAHOMA CREW

PLAN TO BUILD TO COOS BAY

Steamer Cordova Will Endeavor to Relieve Men on the Wrecked Govt. Vessel.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 25.—The steamer Cordova, southbound from Nome to Seattle, has been intercepted by wireless and has gone to the rescue of the officers and crew of the revenue cutter Tahoma, which was wrecked on the Aleutian chain a few days ago. The Cordova is expected to reach the scene late tonight. The steamship Senator, which was supposed to have gone to the assistance of the Tahoma, was reported to have been directed to resume her course.

LIQUOR FIGURES RIDICULED. Saloons Take $13,000,000 and Pay Back $900,000, Says Fullerton.

To the Editor: I always admire big things and I stood in admiration before the liquor dealers' billboard and wondered what sort of monstrous gall the fellow had that penned that copy. In what supreme contempt he must hold the intelligence of the voters of the state.

In the first place he says the state will lose $900,000 in revenue and rob the people of $4,800,000 to pay it. In other words they take $19.22 from every one in the county and generously donate $1.34 per capita in revenue, and according to their own quotations that would be about right for the whole state, so they would take nearly $13,000,000 out of legitimate business channels and pay $900,000 for the privilege of doing it. That is just the cash damage to the state but the indirect damage will more than double the $12,000,000 of difference in crime, ruined homes, still-born babes (in Bavaria the rate of still born babes is 300 in 1000 owing to alcohol), insane (68 per cent of the inmates of the asylum are there from liquor), and deformities are directly traceable to the same cause.

This wonderful billboard says Kansas has more in the penitentiary than Oregon, but the cowardly whelp fails to say that Kansas has nearly three times the population of Oregon with less than twice the penitentiary population, only one for every 2324, and more than three-fifths of the inmates are from other states. The total bonded indebtedness of Kansas is $370,000, and $169,000 of that is on hand to pay it off.

Kansas has $132 in the bank for every person in the state and the citizens pay taxes on $1765 each. Certainly the want of liquor makes them poor! That's why they only have 6,000,000,000 head of livestock and an automobile to every forty-five people. There is something wrong with Kansas, and yet with all these paupers riding in autos, having bank accounts and owning great droves of cattle, the fools don't know enough after thirty years to vote the state wet. Just think of the sympathy the liquor men have for the poor fool voters of Oregon who are surely going to vote this state into the same condition of poverty, that they are spending many thousands of dollars to show them what fools the Kansas are.

They say there will be no work if you vote the state dry. Strange, isn't it? Yet all the big business men won't employ a man who drinks, and capital everywhere is hunting dry towns to build factories. As soon as Springfield went dry the Booth-Kelly company built a new mill to employ 150 men. How a dry town hurts business. Even the new box factory came to Eugene.

Liquor men say prohibition does not prohibit. It that is true, what's hurting them and causing them to Roseburg Parties Claim That Two Companies Want to Construct Proposed Road.

ROSEBURG, Ore. Sept. 25.—Another very encouraging feature has developed in the movement for a railroad from Roseburg to Coos Bay. This is that at least two parties of the highest financial standing will be in the field with a view to building the road in case the bonds are voted here on Oct. 5. While the names of these parties are obviously not given out for publication at this time, it is announced that they propose not only building a local road from here to the bay, but each expects to extend the line east either to Boise, Idaho, or Salt Lake City. That either company is amply able to build such lines is beyond question. It is also well known that they must give to the city a bond for $500,000 to guarantee the completion and operation of a railroad between here and the coast before a contract will be given them on the bonds sold, after they are voted. A through line east, as well as the coast, would be of inestimable benefit to Roseburg and Douglas County.

spend thousands of dollars placarding the country with lies? The worst drunkard in the land knows he is a fool, and over twenty men standing on a street corner in Portland told the writer they would vote the state dry because they spent all their wages in the saloons. Two billions of dollars goes for liquor annually in this country. At $20,000 a mile it would build twenty boulevards from New York to this coast and have enough left to buy 800,000 autos at $1000 per car to run on them.

Liquor demands more courts, police, sheriffs, more jails, penitentiaries, asylums, and the taxpayers foot the bills besides paying for the liquor and you get $1.34 each for allowing yourselves to be robbed. It may be possible that the liquor interests will spend enough money to debase the state and beat the amendment, but it seems impossible now. If they do, let us initiate a bill that will compel every saloon keeper who has sold liquor to a man who has become a drunkard to pay heavy damages to those dependent upon his earnings; further make the saloon keeper responsible for all crime committed under the influence of liquor, and the trade will soon be unprofitable.

The United States Supreme Court has ruled that such a law is constitutional, so let us have it on our statute books at once. Von Molke said: "Beer is more dangerous to Germany than all the armies of France." French generals say liquor is ruining their army. If Oregon goes dry there'll be just as many hops sold and grown, for this state only uses two per cent of what are raised. It would be a good thing if all the hop land was in loganberries.

The poor liquor dealers are "in extremis" and like any other dying man who can, are paying fabulous prices to be saved, but the people of Oregon have too much sense to continue paying heavy taxes for crime in order that a few may get rich selling poison.

QUARANTINE TO BE STRICT

Prominent Marshfield Women Want Strict Enforcement to Prevent Disease.

At a meeting of the Episcopal Guild the matter of enforcing a strict quarantine on contagious diseases was discussed and the guild decided to use their efforts to try to stop the spread of scarlet fever and diphtheria now prevalent in Marshfield.

A committee composed of Mrs. E. P. Lewis, Mrs. Harry Nasburg and Mrs. W. A. Toye was formed to interview the several physicians in the city and to co-operate with them in every way possible in order that the children of the city might be protected from these terrible pestilences. The mothers of the town are justly alarmed at the ravages of these diseases and feel that it is their duty to suppress them wherever possible.

A committee composed of Mrs. F. A. Hazard and Mrs. Herbert Lockhart and Mrs. Otto Schetter was named to talk with the city health officer concerning any measure he may see fit to enforce. This committee also plans to talk with the managers of the moving picture theaters, urging them to forbid the attendance of children at any performances until the contagion is stamped out.
