Accompanying Mr. Long was Mark H. Savage, former chief of the Salem Fire Department, and the salesman who sold the new engine to the city. Harold Stutsman. engineer of the fire department, will have charge of the new engine.

Officially there has been no acceptance of the new engine and according to Mr. Plympton this will not be until after the new engine has been tested on the streets. During the day he was busy adjusting the engine and getting all parts in working order, for the auto truck is just new from the factory.

Delivered here, the price of the machine was $9,500. It has 100 horsepower and is known as a triple combination pumping, hose and Arrangements are made for the carwing of 1200 feet of two and onecontains forty gailons of chemicals.
