THE GREAT TRADITION

PREMIER ASQUITH said in the House of Commons that the British army under Sir John French had shown itself worthy of its great traditions in recent fighting.

He spoke truly. The concise official report of the commander shows that the traditional British coolness, doggedness and courage were fully sustained by the British troops.

The Germans have likewise sustained the great tradition of the time of Frederick the Great in their preparedness and effectiveness. The French have sustained the traditions of an earlier day by their courageous conduct in the field.

All the great war traditions have been fully sustained. All the nations have shown themselves worthy of their warlike past. No nation need blush when it compares the courage and capacity of its ancestors with its own efforts in modern war.

All the warlike traditions! But the one really great tradition, the greatest of them all, the tradition of peace and good will which was handed down from the lips of the Carpenter of Nazareth—what nation can say it has proved itself worthy of that?

All the European nations now at war are heirs and joint heirs of that great tradition of peace. They received it before their national life began, while most of them were primitive peoples beyond the pale of Roman civilization.

For nearly two thousand years that great tradition of peace has been handed down from sire to son, from mother to child, from priest and preacher to his flock. For nearly twenty centuries it has been a part of the professed creed of Christendom—a part of the highest human ideal.

Quick to prove themselves worthy of the traditions of war, the blinded nations saw not that they were proving themselves unworthy of the greatest tradition of all. Eager to follow the head that wore a crown, they lost the vision of that thorn-crowned head of Palestine.

But the great tradition lives. Though Peace now sits in rags and cries aloud in the market place, the time will soon come when the warring nations will bring their costliest robes and gifts. Though the traditions of war are now exalted, the nations must soon see war in all its naked verity and crime.

Not through any virtue of our own, but because of favorable conditions providentially vouchsafed, does this nation today find itself the chief upholder of the Great Tradition. With due humility let it dedicate itself anew to the thought that makes men free.

An opportunity to do this is by an earnest and sincere observance of the national day of prayer for peace which the President has proclaimed for Sunday and which receives excellent local suggestion in the proclamation of Mayor Allen published in The Times today. Let us with humility and earnestness pray that the warring nations make the one Great Tradition of Peace a Great Truth.

TROOPS STAY AT VERA CRUZ CALF STEALING CASE CALLED

American Forces Will Not Be Withdrawn From There Before October 11.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 2.—The American forces at Vera Cruz will not be withdrawn before October 11, it was announced at the War Department. General Funston has given instructions to that effect to allay the fears of the Mexican civilians employed by the American administration who desire for their own protection to leave before the evacuation.

MEET AT AGUAS CALIENTES.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 2.—The council at Aguas Calientes on October 10 will bring together for the first time a full representation of Villa's adherents and those from Carranza and Zapata. It is assumed that nothing will be done of far-reaching consequence before the conference has assembled and indicated what degree of support can be expected for the policies adopted by the Mexico City convention, which is now in session.

District Attorney Liljeqvist Is Said to Have Obtained Strong Evidence

(Special to The Times.)
COQUILLE, Or., Oct. 2.—Mr. and Mrs. Louis Petromouk of Allegany, but formerly located in Marshfield, where they were known as the French Realty Company, were placed on trial here today on an indictment charging them with stealing and slaughtering a yearling heifer belonging to C. A. Rodine of Allegany.

It is reported that District Attorney Liljeqvist has a letter from Petromouk practically admitting the shooting of the heifer but in which they claimed that they shot the animal in self defense as it was overrunning their place and endangering their lives.

It is also stated that the state has gained additional evidence to prove that the meat found salted down in the Petromouk house was from the Rodine critter. Henry Fourier, of Marshfield, a butcher, is said to have taken the parts of the carcass found buried on the Petromouk place and matched them up with bones found in the meat that was in the brine and found them to match perfectly. The head of the animal, found buried, was identified by Miss Rodine, and this makes a strong chain of circumstantial evidence.

Number of Prescriptions.

Attorney John D. Goss, who represented the Myrtle Point men who were sentenced yesterday for prescription liquor traffic, stated that he had investigated the matter more thoroughly and found that some of the claims hitherto made were grossly exaggerated. He stated that the total number of prescriptions calling for liquor that had been filled by the Myrtle Point drug stores the last two years totaled only about 400. In regard to Dr. Stemmer issuing a large number to a few patients, he stated that in one case one man who is suffering from consumption had secured thirty-five prescriptions and another man who is suffering from painter's colic had received a dozen or so. He further claimed that the prescriptions showed that they were not issued promiscuously.

Last Case Now.

It is stated that as soon as the Petromouk case is completed, Judge Coke will dismiss the jury and proceed to Lakeview to hold court.

READY FOR BATTLE.

Gov. Maytorena Advances on Carranza Army Entrenched at Naco.
(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)
NACO, Oct. 2.—Governor Maytorena moved his main force to a point within three miles of Naco today and halted, apparently to prepare for an attack on General Hill's Carranza army of 1800 men entrenched within the town. Hill stood ready for an assault or a siege.

After Offenders.—Deputy Game Warden Thomas has filed charges with District Attorney Liljeqvist against Bud Martindale and Gilbert Coon, of Camas Valley for not properly tagging a deer. He has also filed complaints against Jim Devaul and Jim Rouse for fishing in the North Coquille without licenses.

Close Resemblance.—J. W. Bennett has placed a new cabinet of his son, Tom, alongside one of himself taken a couple of years ago. The poses in the two pictures are about the same and the striking resemblance between father and son is brought out in plain as to cause even their most intimate friends to remark it. Mr. Bennett has written under Tom's photo the inscription: "J. W. Bennett, 1880."

Change Schedule.—The schedule of the local motor car has been changed slightly in the morning to accommodate Bunker Hill people and Marshfield men working at the mill. Henceforth it will make its two first trips from Marshfield to Bunker Hill in the morning, leaving here at 6:30 and 6:45. This will mean the first trip to North Bend will be made at 7:15 in the morning, giving ample time to connect here on the return with the morning train for Coquille.

More Pheasants.—Deputy Game Warden Thomas has received another consignment of pheasants from the state farm. Part of the birds were taken to Dr. Dix's ranch on the upper Coquille. Dr. Dix had six birds that he personally purchased a year ago. Others will be released on the Wm. Bettes ranch at Fairview and the others on the Frank Bowron ranch at Ten Mile. With the co-operation of hunters and ranchers, it is believed that the birds will rapidly multiply.
