WORLD'S GREATEST WAR DAY BY DAY

BELGIUM'S STATEMENT

when the inhabitants were unable to pay their taxes, a large number of their houses were set on fire. That is what happened to Wavre, among other cities, whose 8,500 inhabitants were unable to pay a tax of $600,000. Termonde, with 10,000 inhabitants, was utterly destroyed. On the 15th of September, there only remained in that town 232 houses out of 1400. The town of Aerschot, with 8000 inhabitants, is now nothing but a mass of ruins and more than 150 of its inhabitants have been shot. Dirigible balloons have thrown bombs at night into Antwerp. It cannot be maintained by those who were in the balloons that they were trying to hit the forts, as the forts are outside the boundaries of the town, and a good distance outside them as well. Nor could the bombs thrown have had any effect upon the forts, which were even stronger than those of Liege. There was no warning of this bombardment, a fact which constitutes a violation of Article 26 of the Fourth Convention of The Hague, and more than a dozen people were killed, all of them non-combatants and several of them women and children.

"The town of Louvain, with its 42,000 inhabitants, was one of the centers of Belgian culture. It had no mercy shown to it and has been nearly obliterated. Several quarters of the town were set on fire, the Church of St. Pierre, a marvelous example of Gothic art, the buildings of the University, including the Library with more than 70,000 volumes, of which a large number were ancient manuscripts, the collections belonging to the University, nearly all the scientific institutions, and nearly all the houses of the town were deliberately burned. They are now nothing more than heaps of ashes. Their destruction has been a loss to the whole civilized world.

"Numbers of absolutely innocent women and children lost their lives in the fire which was started by the order of the German military officials. Of those who were saved, several thousand, including women enfeebled by age, and children in arms, are today wandering homeless over the roads, without food or clothing. They are not to blame for anything, unless it is because they belong to a nation which has refused to purchase peace at the price of dishonor. That can be the only crime accounted to them and it is for that they have lost all their possessions upon the earth.

"From the declaration made by the Imperial German Chancellor it may be seen that the German Government is conscious of its wrongdoing. As one of the guarantors of Belgium's neutrality, it wanted to force Belgium to relinquish its neutrality for Germany's benefit. Because Belgium would not consent to this perjury, and because Germany could not reproach her with anything else, Germany invaded and covered with blood and ruin a small peaceful country of hardworking and honest people, a country which it had promised to protect.

"This attack upon her neutrality is the first violation for which Belgium asks judgment from the universal conscience.

"The entire Belgo-German question today is dominated by the fact of this violation of the neutrality of Belgium. Therefore, there is not a single shot fired by a German soldier in Belgium which is not manifestly and avowedly belying most sacred things, the keeping of a solemn pledge, and the right for an honest nation that never wanted war, nor showed aggressive disposition, to be allowed to live its peaceful and neutral life.

"Such is the Belgian case. Humanity will judge it!"

MEXICAN FIGHTING

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)

NACO, Arizona, Oct. 8.—After a brief lull, beginning about midnight, Governor Mayforena re-opened the attack today upon the Carranza garrison at Naco, Sonora. His shrapnel fire appeared to be much more effective and General Hill, commanding the town's defenses, began preparation apparently for a retreat to the haven of American territory.

THOSE WAR REPORTS

Are you shouting "Hoch der Kaiser?"
Are you telling all your friends
That the allies will be wiser
When this bloody struggle ends?
Are your neighbors prone to argue?
Do they still show signs of fight?
Read 'em extracts from the war news—
You can prove that you are right.

Or is yours another story
And another tune, perchance,
And you're betting that the glory
Goes to England and to France?
Do your friends line up against you?
You can fix 'em every night!
Let the war reports convince 'em!
You can prove that you are right.

CHANNEL FOGS MAY PROTECT

Cortlandt Bishop Says City Is in Constant Dread of Air Attack

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The German attack on London by air is not probable for some time, in the opinion of Cortlandt Field Bishop former president of the Aero Club of America, who arrived here on the Olympic. The advent of the stormy weather on the English Channel, coupled with heavy fog, is now a natural protection against the dirigibles, said Mr. Bishop, who has been abroad for several months.

"London has been in fear of this attack ever since the war began," he continued, "but it seems now as if Germany has waited too long before sending forth her fleet of Zeppelins. The last few days before I left London the weather was foggy and there were gales on the channel. The expected continuance of this kind of weather will at least greatly hamper any movements by the kaiser's war balloons, and more probably cause a postponement altogether.

"It was said that Brussels had been made into a big aerial base, and that the dirigibles would start from there for London. I don't know why the attack has not been made unless it is because of reverses in France."

Telling of the preparations of the British capital to combat the long anticipated dirigible attack, Mr. Bishop said that guns are mounted on all vantage points and that manufacture of steel arrows is going on rapidly. These arrows are intended to be dropped from aeroplanes into the gas bags of the Zeppelins.

"The work of the aeroplanes and dirigibles has been more or less of a disappointment," was Mr. Bishop's comment. "Thus far they have not proved as valuable as a war machine as was expected. The planes, flying usually at an elevation of 6000 feet, to insure safety from guns, certainly can't get minute observations of the enemy."

ENGLISH STATESMAN'S PREDICTION

Now that all Europe is plunged into the greatest war of all history the interview given less than three years ago in New York by a distinguished member of the British parliament becomes of much interest. Here it is as it appeared in the press of that date.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16, 1911.—John Griffiths, conservative member of Parliament for Wednesbury, says that within the next six years England and Germany will be at war and all of Europe will feel the effects of the conflict. He made this prophecy without qualification, following his arrival in New York from the Canadian Northwest. In saying it, he gave what he believed to be the reason for Canada's refusal to accept reciprocity at the recent election.

"The people of Canada," said Mr. Griffiths, "realized in their election that a far graver problem than trade comity with the United States confronted them and that problem was the bringing together of the English empire in unity to confront the menace of war which would soon threaten the existence of the mother nation."

"I believe there is no doubt," he continued, "but that within six years—maybe much sooner—England and Germany will be at war and all Europe will be shaken by the conflict. Yes, and America, too, for America could not help feel keenly the existence of so great a conflict that that will assuredly be. Why do I think this? Because the whole German nation is seeking war with us at every turn of the road, and when a whole nation is behind a thing like this there is no stopping it. The bankers stopped war at the time of the recent crisis but war was very near, and the bankers cannot always stand in the way of a whole people."

ORIGIN OF DUM DUM BULLETS

Expanding Horrors First Made in Indian Town of Same Name.

The French accuse the Germans of using dum dum bullets in Alsace. They have made a collection of these missiles and promise to enter formal complaint about them before The Hague Tribunal, or before the representatives of the powers of all the world.

Dumdum bullets have their name from a little town in India, near Calcutta, where the ammunition factory for the British government of India is situated. For the benefit of Afghans, possible Indian mutineers, negroes and other barbarians, the British had a bullet manufactured here which is half covered with steel, but with a soft leaden nose. When discharged from a modern rifle of high power this soft nose expands, or "mushrooms," turning the bullet in the air into a horrible bulging object which tears through the flesh of a man, surely bleeding him to death.

The purpose of this bullet is to kill the man every time. The purpose of the ordinary humane bullet of modern warfare, which is wholly encased in steel or nickel, is merely to put the man out of the fight. It makes a small, clean wound. If it does not strike a vital part the bullet may go entirely through the man without wounding him seriously. But it shuts him out of the fight for the time being.

Our British friends in India considered that a humane bullet like that would be of little use to fight savages with and therefore, at Dum-dum, they manufactured the soft nosed, expanding horror. But the international conference at The Hague in 1899 decided against the use of this bullet in war, and adopted a rule forbidding it.

FOR ALL THAT WE BELIEVE
To America
A Call to Peace in Answer to the Call to War of England by Rudyard
Kipling: "For All We Have and Are."

I.
For all we have believed,
For all that we have learned,
Must we, like Nero, wretched,
Watch, while a world is burned?
Yes! for a greater task
Is left to our accord:
To hold, for those who ask,
The scales and not the sword.

II.
Ours is the true Crusade,
The Cross and not the Blade,
For all that we believe
Silent, the while we grieve.

III.
Can the great Clock turn back
And strike the midnight hour?
Vain Progress loop her track,
The Loom itself devour?
Can all we know depart
And Christ again be slain?
Not while there throbs one heart
Or one controlling brain!

IV.
Can we who have with blood
Our deep ideals bought
Be swept along the flood
And bring them all to naught?
No! while the Poster-Mother
Of every warring race
Makes of the foe a brother
Within her dwelling place.

V.
In the great woof she spins
Mixed in the various thread,
Thrills she for him who wins,
Weeps for the other's dead,
Then let her sit supreme
On the red earth, her throne,
That all itloved to dream
May not at last be flown!

VI.
There's but one task for all
Now while the war-dogs strain
Stand firm against the call
Till Earth be sane!
Toll for heroic men
Where the brink shelves
That Peace may live again
To curb themselves!

Our is the real crusade,
The Cross and not the Blade!
Silent though we may grieve
We live what we believe!
