Let them answer first about

following facts about that city: the cause of excitement. Salem went "dry" December I last, your wages good? Is your business closing 15 saloens, three restaurants and two wholesale houses and withdrew liquor permits from eight drug stores andicions, well and good; if you and cut off an annual liceuse revenue mission. Most of the men have left the city. All buildings vacated by The way to bring back prosperity these concerns are still empty, except is to help elect a Republican Senate six, which have been occupied by ten-The Republican candidate in Oregon ants who have vacated other buildings, several of the best buildings being This is a Rep blican year. Vote boarded over and used as billboards, More than five hundred modern dwellings are "for rent," Store property rentals on State street have dropped from $185 to $110 a month, but "busi> ness is fine," Fourteen other business places have desed since December 1 last, aside from the saloons and restaurants. Included are three shoe stores two by sheriff and one voluntarily; one of the largest drygoods stores has been sued Maio street, but "business is fine." Scores of clerks have left the city, eausing the loss of more payrolls to the city, but "business is fine,"

A leading prohibitionist promised to build 16 new dwellings if the city went 'dry.' Nine houses were begun, two have the windows and doors in, but have never been finished; no work has heen done on the others, besides their hare frames.

Building permits from January to August, the last nine wet months of 1915, were $358,925; from November, 1913, to September, 1914, the next eleven "dry" months, they were $120,-

The grammar school opening day enrollment in 1913 was 1510; on the same If elected, a square deal guarant day 1914, 1469, but "business is fine." Bunk deposits show a decrease of $200,042 since the town went "dry," even after allowing for the $485,000 deposited this year from sale of bonds in Boston. The decrease, therefore, really should be $794,940, but "business is fine." The attendance at the "Cherry! Fair's this year was about one-half what it was the last "wet" year. The Ministerial Association before the electien which made Salem "dry," told the Cherry Fair promoters that they would make up for the donations usually made by the saloons, but utterly failed to do so this year and the promoters refused to hold that carnival. real boosters, but of no prohibitionists, then pledged their personal membership for the necessary funds, requiring the payment on their part of $500. To rub it in, the Methodists then turned their church into a restaurant, put the kitches in the pulpit and competed with the legitimate restaurants for the little business that their proprietors had hungrily looked for as a possible namual godsoud.

Business must be "fine" in any city when building permits, payrolls, bank deposits, bankrupteles, closed stores, depopulated dwellings, depressed realty values, school enrollments and carnival statistics all tell so dreary a story of, literal fact. Maybe the prohibitionists mean that the "agitating business" is

Not a foot of permanent street imrovement work has been done, except the construction of a small bridge over a creek, and that was paid for by bond issue. Streets and sidewalks are in a deplorable condition, and the prohibitionists are now petitioning the council to "double" the expense levy. The "Cherrians," consisting of 100 If the local taxpayers, but a few of whom are "drys," vote down this petition, the city controls the same possibility as Oregon City, viz., the appointment of a receiver, but "business s fine in dry towns."
