

LIST OF INJURED IN COOS COUNTY

Many Accidents in This Section Reported to State Labor Commissioner

SALEM, Or., Oct. 27.—A total of 92 accidents were reported to Labor Commissioner Hoff during last week and there was one fatality. The fatal accident was reported from near Marshfield, where James Tracy was killed while engaged in logging.

- J. Wilson, near Marshfield, hip bruised, logging. Carl Newman, near Marshfield, side and arm bruised, logging. W. E. Stinson, North Bend, arm bruised, shingle mill. C. McCay, Marshfield, hand poisoned, lath mill. John Erickson, Marshfield, ankle sprained, lumber yard. O. Thornton, Marshfield, arm and side bruised, sawmill. W. E. Conley, Marshfield, finger cut, logging. Roy Conger, near Marshfield, ankle sprained, logging. James Tracy, near Marshfield, fatal, logging. Gust Jeffery, near Marshfield, knee bruised, lath mill. L. L. Cole, near Marshfield, arm sprained, logging.

SMALLER ARMY MEN.

[By Associated Press to Our Bay Times.] LONDON, Oct. 26.—Why England should restrict recruiting to men of the minimum height of five feet six inches in days when battles are fought with long range weapons instead of broadsword and battle axes is puzzling many young patriots of under size who are anxious to go to the front.

One of the medical journals points out that what is needed these days is not brute power to wield heavy weights, but a wiry physique able to stand bad weather, irregular feeding, broken sleep, long marches and brains to take cover and shoot with skill and patience. The short man weighs less, needs less food, is easier of transportation, stands hard marching without his feet giving way, offers a smaller mark to the enemy, keeps himself warm in a smaller space and can shelter in a trench better than a big man.

COQUILLE RIVER BOAT

The steamer Telegraph, owned by the Myrtle Point Transportation Co., was put on the dry docks at the Prosper ship yards the first of the week for rebuilding. She will be made twenty feet longer, which will give her considerably more speed.

INDICTMENTS ARE UPHELD

U. S. Supreme Court Sustains the Charges Against Morgan

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 26.—The United States Supreme Court declined to direct the New York Federal Courts to annul the indictment against Javed Ploger, indicted with Daniel H. Morgan, former treasurer of the United States, and born on trial in New York, charged with alleged misfeasance of the mails in selling stocks.

FISHING AT FLORENCE.

Over 6000 Salmon Delivered There One Night.

FLORENCE, Or., Oct. 26.—The heavy rains a few days ago made such a strong current in the river that the fishermen could not get their nets. Last Friday over 6000 fish were delivered at the cannery, it being the highest number in any one day during the season. Since that time the catch has been comparatively small.

POSITIVELY MASTERS CROUP.

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound cuts the thick choking mucus, and clears away the phlegm. Opens up the air passages and stops the hoarse cough. The gasping, struggling fight for breath gives way to quiet breathing and peaceful sleep. Harold Berg, Mass., Mich., writes: "We give Foley's Honey and Tar to our children for croup and it always acts quickly." No wonder a man in Texas walked 15 miles to the store to get a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Every man is a friend. Sold by Owl Pharmacy.

BUSINESS BETTER IN DRY SALEM

All Lines of Legitimate Industry More Prosperous Since Town Voted Prohibition

Editor Times: As a matter of fairness and in answer to the article by Mr. Turner of Salem claiming that prohibition had hurt business there, I want the following article, which appeared in the Portland Evening Telegram on October 21, printed:

BY E. B. LOCKHART, City Editor Salem Statesman.

SALEM, Or., Oct. 21.—If anyone doubts that Salem has not been benefited by voting dry let him come to Salem. He will find the most convincing arguments. He will find that merchants, as a rule, are strongly in favor of a dry town. He will find that, compared with periods when the town was wet, business conditions are better, and this in spite of a general slackening elsewhere. The first man to feel the advantage of a dry town is the merchant; that means everyone feels it too. In short order, the checks the workers used to cash in saloons are now cashed in stores. It means prompt payment. It is only reasonable after all that when each person in a city is saved $20 per capita, the amount that ordinarily goes to the saloon, someone will benefit.

The National mercantile agencies have reported on the stringency of business conditions as a whole over the entire country. Of course Salem has felt this depression, too. This depression the liquor advocates have taken advantage of and would instance Salem as a dry failure when Salem is really in better condition than other cities of the same size that are handicapped by the liquor traffic.

On the other hand a steady advance is reported here in many lines, and in lines one would hardly expect so to report. More cash business is reported by merchants. Better collections all round seem to be the order of the day.

The Barnes Cash Store, one of the big department stores, reports the best business this year in its long history. The establishment had to remodel and enlarge to cope with the growth. Mr. Barnes tells me that the cost of the changes was $4500. The Myers Department Store expended $5000 in bettering its facilities. The senior partner has informed me that his business is 10 per cent better than last year.

The Chicago Store, another large house, reports increased business and plans for a $12,000 addition to cope with heavier trade.

Of the 15 saloon buildings, but four are now vacant. All the other liquor houses have been absorbed by growing business.

New business houses are coming to Salem. Other houses than those I have mentioned are enlarging.

But this is not all. Building permits for the first nine months of this year amounted to $219,000. The full total for the year will be over $250,000. Numbers of new houses are going up, just as many as any other year, an old-timer tells me.

There has been erected during the year a cannery costing $40,000. The Redgers brick building also cost $40,000.

The Spaulding Lumber Company is prepared for a steady run all winter. There are 170 men employed at the mill. Instead of letting out their men they have taken on more. E. G. Hill, manager of the logging department, says he has had a 10 per cent heavier local demand for building material this year than last. In other words, the "city sale" increase has been most encouraging.

The owner of a large brick building tells me that when the town was wet he had to rent his building from month to month. As soon as the town went dry he rented it for a long term at increased rental.

I was told that the Stolz manufacturing of soft drinks had suffered a decrease. The proprietor told me he had done a big business without saloons, that when they went out he had felt it, yet he found that a heavier demand was now coming from drug stores, and fountain and confectionaries, with the result he finds his business equal to that of last year.

Five out of seven traveling men visiting Salem tell me business here is about that in Portland, the respective sizes of the cities being considered. Postal receipts of the Salem post-office for the first three-quarters of the present year exceed the receipts for the same time last year by over $10,000, says the assistant postmaster.

In every line of city life there has been an improvement, says Mayor Seawick. (Paid Adv., E. H. Campbell, Marshfield, Oregon.) Don't miss Mrs. Aiken's clearance sale this week.

TIMBER BOUGHT ON SMITH RIVER

J. O. Elrod, of Portland, Gets 8000 Acre Tract North of Gardiner for $500,000

The Oregonian says: Timber sale records for several months past were broken when J. O. Elrod, a Portland capitalist, announced that he had paid A. H. Hinkson, of Eugene, between $400,000 and $500,000 for nearly 8000 acres of yellow and red fir timber in the Smith River District of Douglas county.

A large part of the consideration was cash, to be paid in substantial installments and securities. Mr. Hinkson accepted income-bearing Portland property as part payment. Mr. Elrod also is heavily interested in timber in Tillamook county.

"I shall develop the Douglas County timber probably next year," said Mr. Elrod last night. "Smith River is a good logging stream and is not far removed from Coos Bay. That country is destined to be a lumber market in the near future and it is therefore bound to be a good log market.

"My present plan is to log it down to the mills on Winchester Bay, where the Porter Brothers are building a new mill. The new railroad being built from Eugene will pierce that section. My judgment is that the lumber market is now at its lowest ebb and that it will improve steadily from this time forward."

SHERIDAN CASE IS BEGUN

Mrs. Laura M. Verrell Sues Roseburg Bank to Recover $5000.

The Roseburg Review says: Mrs. Laura M. Verrell, of Edenbowser, has filed suit in the circuit court against the First National Bank. In her suit she asks to recover the sum of $5,000, together with interest at the rate of eight per cent since April 4, 1911. Mrs. Verrell alleges that on April 4, 1911, she deposited in the First National Bank the sum of $6,592.89, which was placed to her credit. When the First National Bank retired from business in Roseburg and transferred its accounts to the Douglas National Bank, Mrs. Verrell claims she was credited with but $1,592.89. The remainder of the original deposit, amounting to $5,000, Mrs. Verrell alleges was appropriated by T. R. Sheridan without her authority. Mrs. Verrell now asks that the officers and stockholders of the First National Bank be compelled to make good her loss.

Be Fair To All OREGON

NOT ONE OF SOUTHERN OREGON'S COUNTIES HAS AN EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTION TO WHICH THE STATE CONTRIBUTES A DOLLAR OF SUPPORT

The heavy lines divide the state into three natural, geographic subdivisions. Our one normal school is indicated by dot. It is doing excellent work, but—its sphere of service is LIMITED TO ITS OWN SECTION; a fact that is equally true in every other state. Every school in Oregon above a high school is indicated on this map. Does not simple fairness dictate that the normal school in Southern Oregon should be maintained that the common schools may have efficient teachers?

A COMPARISON

California has eight Normal Schools and eighty five percent of the teachers now employed in that state have had normal school training. Oregon has one Normal School. Eighty percent of last year's applicants for teachers' certificates had no training above the eighth grade.

ARE YOU RAISING CHILDREN FOR EXPERIMENTAL PURPOSES?

A noted oculist was once complimented on his wonderful skill. "Yes," he answered, "but I spoiled a half of eyes learning." Rather hard on the people who furnished the eyes! Yes, but how about the children all over Oregon that we furnish for untrained teachers to practice on?

HOW ABOUT THE NEWCOMERS?

Oregon wants more settlers. Will the man who says, "Give me the state that is alive and abreast with other states, especially along lines of public school advantages," choose Oregon with one normal or California with eight or Washington with three, all better equipped than our one? ECONOMY. Oregon spends over $5,000,000 annually on its common schools. Why should this vast sum of taxpayers' money be uneconomically spent through teachers who have not been trained for their all-important work?

The Southern Oregon Normal School has a plant, owned by the state, sufficient to meet all requirements for many years.

"It is a fact well supported by experience that the majority of the students in any educational institution come from a territory included within a circle with a radius of fifty miles. It is therefore imperative that each important division of the state should have a strong normal school."—William M. Proctor, Department of Education, Pacific University, Forest Grove, Ore. "There could be no greater extravagance than that of spending large sums of money on public schools which are kept by incompetent teachers. Not only is money wasted, but the injury done to the raw material is incurable."—P. L. Campbell, Pres. U. of O.

"No school comes so near to the people and confers the immediate benefits that the normal schools do, for they train the teachers who train our children, during their impressionable years. Good schools are only possible by having trained teachers, and we can only have trained teachers by training them."—C. E. Spence, Master State Grange. "No more meritorious measure will be on the ballot than the one for the support of the Southern Oregon Normal School at Ashland. It is the height of business folly to allow it to lie idle when there is so much urgent need for trained teachers."—Dean A. B. Cordley, O. A. C.

To the man with property assessed at $4,000 this school means the price of one cigar a year. VOTE FOR THE SOUTHERN OREGON STATE NORMAL SCHOOL. 312 X YES. Paid Adv., Alumni Assn. S. O. S. N. S.

"A Political Party, a Person or a Candidate Who Will Misrepresent an Opponent Will Misrepresent a People."

Above is all that Mr. Hawley will have to say to this community regarding the statements of his opposition. The egotism, bombast and small attempt to belittle his opponent's work in Congress by paid advertisement should in itself be answer enough to the people of this district to show the calibre of the man who is seeking their suffrage; Coos county should know that Mr. Hawley has secured every appropriation for its harbors and rivers that was recommended by the Board of Army Engineers, and appeared before them many times to get favorable action. No other Congressman in the United States has done more, no matter what state or district they represented or to what political party they may belong. WHY YOU SHOULD VOTE FOR BOOTH REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR UNITED STATES SENATOR Are you better off now than you were under a Republican administration? Are you satisfied? If you believe in the principles of the Republican party, if you are convinced that these principles are best for the country, then prove it.

Remember the property under McKimley, Roosevelt and Taft. Remember conditions under Cleveland and Wilson. The issue in this campaign is not one of personality. It is not one of non-partisanship. It is a question of whether you prefer property under Republican administration.

Do you have enough work. Are your wages good? Is your business what you want it to be? If you are satisfied with present conditions, well and good; if you believe that the present situation is better than under McKimley, Roosevelt and Taft, you know what to do.

This is a Republican year. Vote the ticket straight. (Paid advertisement, Republican State Central Committee, Imperial Hotel, Portland, Or.)
