Brings Back Deer.—Living the carefree life in the open, even as the hermits of old, J. D. Welch returned Saturday from a weeks trip into the wilds of Curry county. He brought back a large buck deer the choice of the hunting season. With a pack on his back Welch left here and went to Myrtle Point from where he branched off into the hills.

plumbing and heating. The contract calls for the completion of the work within the next 90 days.

Play New Pranks.—But few pranks of a serious nature were reported by the police for Halloween night.
At the corner of Seventh and Flanagan and again at the corner of Hall and Fifth streets miscreants took the tops of the sewer manholes and threw them to one side of the road leav-

The police were vigilant until midnight but no arrests were made. Several fence rattlings were torn down on Second street but the damage was slight.

LIQUOR VIEWS OF JUDGE COKE

Editor Times:
The truth about intoxicating liquor and the proposed prohibition bill is:
That intoxicating liquor makes drunkards of men. It makes brutes of husbands and fathers. It makes inmates of insane asylums. It makes paupers of men and women and causes them to become public charges. It commits all kinds of crime, from petit larceny to murder, and the murderers very frequently plead the very fact of their voluntary intoxication as a defense or excuse.
It makes moral, physical and mental degenerates of men, and this degeneracy is handed down to the offspring, thus spreading through humanity. It promotes gambling and fosters and sustains gambling dens and houses of prostitution. It promotes diseases of women. It promotes disease, including venereal diseases, twenty per cent of the blindness of the world being charged by physicians to this cause.
In Oregon it is responsible for seventy-five per cent of the crimes, fifty per cent of insanity and fifty per cent of destitution and indigency. If these figures are correct, judge for yourself the percentage of general degeneracy caused by it.
It is costing Oregon approximately $16,800,000 annually, i. e., this is the average yearly consumption of liquor in Oregon.
In towns where the sale of intoxicating liquor is licensed it causes laboring men to "blow in" (sometimes in a single night) all their hard-earned wages for a month and sometimes their entire summer's savings, wives and children frequently being the sufferers. In this way it causes the wages and earnings of men to be "circulated" through the saloons, gambling dens and bawdy houses, but does it not seem to you that this money could be better started in circulation if it were spent for clothing, food and supplies for families, or for a tract of land upon which to build a home for the family, and thus save men from becoming criminals, paupers or I. W. W.'s?
It is argued by the saloon men that prohibition does not prohibit, (think, if you will, what mental perturbance must exist in the mind of the saloon keeper about the lack of the enforcement of any law!), but whether prohibition is or is not enforced depends wholly upon your citizenship and your public officers.
It is true that without a citizenship willing to aid and to do its part, or without officers who are ready to enforce the law, there will be no good effect come from the enactment of the law. But is not citizenship in Oregon waking up a bit and 's it not true that some of your officers at least have been causing bootlegging to become a somewhat hazardous business?
Is there any reason why a liquor prohibition cannot be enforced as a law prohibiting the use of other poisonous drugs? In any event, the state of Kansas has, through a law similar to the one now before the people at this election, reduced the annual per capita consumption of intoxicating liquors from $21.09 to $1.25. This ought to be a sufficient argument to the answer put forth by those who claim that prohibition does not prohibit.
Of course it is not expected that a saloon keeper could be convinced by any argument or reason that could be produced. He will continue in any event to argue that his saloon "promotes business," but it also promotes various other situations and conditions that ought to be promptly terminated.
What good purpose, may it be asked, are the saloon-keepers serving humanity? Are they producing any thing or are they serving any useful or beneficial purpose? If not, why license or sustain them, and why permit them to debauch and rob men and to prostitute women? Why license and foster a business that means nothing but injury, debauchery, prostitution and crime? Why?
Have you cohabited with booze so long that you have become blind to its effects?
It is claimed that prohibition will injure the hop business of the Willamette valley, but this is not so because these hops are sold and shipped out of Oregon. The liquor business does not bring money into the state, but on the contrary it is sending the bulk of the $16,800,000 spent annually in this state for intoxicating liquor to eastern states and foreign countries for the liquors sold to the consumers in Oregon. Wherein is it a benefit to Oregon? In what way can the proposed law injure Oregon? Grant that there may be some bootlegging carried on after the proposed law becomes effective, and grant that some men will continue to have liquor shipped to them from foreign states and countries for their own use. These conditions can never
